

VOL. 86. NO. 295.

DEFENSE BEGINS
IN VERNE LACY
TRIAL ON CHARGE OF 'FIXING' JURY

Woman Is Called in Effort to Impeach Story Told by Juror Anna but Her Testimony Is Barred by Judge.

DEFENDANT TO BE FINAL WITNESS

Motion to Strike Out Evidence of Keeton Fails—Deposition of Mrs. Lacy
Who Is Ill to Be Taken at Home.

Defense testimony began today
the trial of Verne R. C. Lacy, charged with kidnapping a juror in the seventh day of the trial in Judge Hoffmeister's court, and it began the second week of the jury trial, the case having been recessed last Friday and Saturday because of the death of a juror's brother.

Sigmund M. Bass, defense counsel, said he expected to complete presentation of testimony by tomorrow afternoon. Lacy, testifying in his own behalf, probably will be the final witness.

When Mrs. Daly, who conducts confectionery store at 8133 Minnesota avenue, was the first person called as a defense witness,
she yesterday asked Edward L.
Anna, chief state's witness, to be called as a defense witness, and Mrs. Daly held a mortgage, at the time when Anna and his family were living at Minnesota avenue and Davis street, in 1932. Anna declared having sold anything, saying he might have gone away and left the articles.

When Mrs. Daly was presented as a witness, to impeach Anna's testimony, Thomas C. Hennings assistant circuit attorney, objected, on the ground that the mortgage matter was a collateral transaction, having no relation to the matter on which Anna testified. This point was argued by the counsel before Judge Hoffmeister, out of the jury's hearing.

Testimony Is Excluded.
The court excluded Mrs. Daly's testimony, and Bass called as his second witness Almon Ing, court reporter for Judge Hoffmeister's court. He called on Ing, by referring to his notes, to show that Anna was regularly chosen as a juror in the first Richards' trial.

Attorney Hennings then attempted to question Ing about the loss of his book of notes on the choice of jurors in the second Richards trial. Herbert Keeton, former investigator for Lacy, now state's witness, testified that Lacy "stole or took" a book of Ing's notes, containing matter which might affect the second trial record. Every question put by Hennings brought an objection from Bass, but Hennings continued putting the questions until he had covered the matters asserted by Keeton.

Not Permitted to Answer.
"Have you the record of your notes on the second trial?" Hennings asked the court reporter, but Bass was not permitted to answer the question. The other questions which answers were not permitted, were:

"Do you know where the book is?"
"Have you looked for it?"
"Is it a fact that you put the book in your locker and that it was taken from the locker?"

"Was a juror named Chaudet on the second panel?" (Keeton mentioned this name in connection with a statement that the second Richards trial was "fixed." Robert S.
Chaudet was one of the jurors.)

Motion for Mistrial.
Bass made a heated protest against these questions, designed,
he asserted, to prejudice the jury.
He asked that the prosecutor be reprimanded and a mistrial declared. Hennings, apparently disregarding his motion, said to the witness:

"No further question."
"Don't tell him to stand down," Bass said angrily. "I may have some questions for him." He repeated his motion for a mistrial, which was overruled by the court,
and Hennings excused the witness.

Attacks Anna's Verdict.
Charles J. Heman of 2809 North sloughway, formerly a fellow-employee of Anna at the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., was called as a witness, and was asked about

CONGREGATIONAL-CHRISTIAN CHURCH SEMINAR FAVORS ABOLISHING PROFIT SYSTEM

Resolution Submitted to General Council Which Elects the Rev. J. T. Stocking as Moderator.

By the Associated Press.

OBERLIN, O., June 27.—A resolution which would pledge Congregational and Christian churches to work for abolition of the profit system and inauguration of a planned social economy was approved yesterday by a seminar on the social gospel for submission to the general council of the churches.

The general council, now in session here, comprises delegates from each state association of the United Congregational and Christian churches, the number of delegates being determined by state membership. The churches in the United States have a membership of 1,040,000, and a total of 6379 churches.

The council selected the Rev.
Jay T. Stocking of St. Louis for its national moderator, and made Dr.
S. Parkes Cadman of Brooklyn,
N. Y., honorary moderator, a post filled by the late President Calvin Coolidge from 1923 to 1929. The Rev. Dr. Stanley C. Harrell of Durham, N. C., was chosen assistant moderator.

One resolution adopted condemns fund-raising for charity through "lotteries, pari-mutuels or similar methods."

Profit System "Predatory."
The resolution denouncing the profit system follows:

"Whereas, our present profit system has shown itself to be increasingly predatory and in growing opposition to accepted Christian principles because

"1. It denies brotherhood by making exploitation of one group by another necessary to its continued existence.

"2. It destroys human values, moral and spiritual, through its inevitable conflicts issuing in international war and industrial and civil strife, and through unemployment, insecurity, starvation and misery.

"3. It increasingly curtails the cultural and educational opportunities of our people, and

"Whereas, these flagrant social evils exist side by side with potential natural abundance, which cannot be utilized under our present system, and

"Whereas, our traditional profit economy is no longer able to sus-tain itself, but now must use the credit of the state to subsidize its financial structure, and must limit production in order to guarantee profits, which is the economic essence of Fascism. Therefore, Be it

Resolved, That we set ourselves to work toward:

"1. The abolition of the profit system, the elimination of its incentives and habits, the legal forms by which it supports, and the moral ideas by which it justifies itself.

"2. The inauguration of a thoroughly planned and organized social economy, which will apply all our natural and human resources directly to the meeting of human needs, in pursuit of values democratically chosen, which will

"(a) Adjust production to measured consumption requirements and maintain and extend social services, health, education, recreation and insurance for all.

"(b) Eliminate private ownership in the means of production and distribution wherever such private ownership interferes with the success of a planned social economy, making profit unnecessary and impossible.

"(c) End unemployment, abolish poverty, enable maximum prevention of disease and crime, and stimulate the fullest development of the arts and sciences. Be it further

Resolved, That this council urges that the members of our fellowship increasingly seek to understand and co-operate with the forces and groups making for the above changes in our society."

Other resolutions favor sponsorship by the churches of programs of adult education "in the fields of economic and social relations" and urge the "personal application of the principles of social justice and self-examination by every Christian, lay and clerical, of his own individual relationship to the economic process."

dent Roosevelt today appointed August H. Giegengack of New York City to be public printer. He will succeed George H. Carter.
Giegengack has long been affiliated with unionism. During the ical staff of the Stars and Stripes,

J. W. HARRIMAN
FORMER BANKER,
GETS 4-12 YEARS

Sentenced to Prison on Conviction in New York of Causing False Entries in Bank Books.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 27.—Joseph W. Harriman, former president of the Harriman National Bank and Trust Company, was sentenced to four and one-half years in prison today, on a conviction of causing false entries in the books of the bank.

Federal Judge John C. Knox directed that Harriman be turned over "to the custody of the Attorney General of the United States for confinement in the penitentiary for a period of four and one-half years on each count on which he stands convicted."

The court inadvertently neglected to state that the sentences be concurrent, but said later that was what he meant, and he had that phrase inserted in the record.

Harriman was convicted by a Federal Court jury last Tuesday on 16 counts of an indictment charging falsification of the bank's records and misapplication of funds of the bank.

Execution of his sentence was stayed until next Tuesday morning to permit him to apply to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for a further stay.

"Must Stand Steadfast."
Before pronouncing sentence Judge Knox ended a long explanation with these words:

"Each of us in the face of adversity must stand steadfast, and this message must go to everyone in a position of public trust."

The former banker and his family took the sentence calmly and apparently resigned to it.

Before sentence was pronounced,
two physicians testified briefly regarding the condition of Harriman, who is 67 years old. One said he would not be able to stand exercise and that the ordinary rigors of prison life might result in a serious heart attack. The other testified the banker was suffering from deterioration of the central nervous system.

GOVERNMENT SETS
ASIDE $8,500,000 FOR WILD LIFE REFUGES

179,000 'Sub-Marginal' Acres
Now Being Bought, Chief of Biological Survey Reports.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Urged on by the devastating effects of drouth, the Government has begun retiring farmers from what it considers "sub-marginal" acres and devoting those acres to the use of birds and other wild game.

Secretary Wallace announced yesterday that $8,500,000 had been set aside from drouth relief and forest purchase funds to begin the retirement program which has been in prospect for two years.

J. N. Darling, chief of the Bureau of Biological Survey, said simultaneously that 179,000 acres were in the process of being purchased and others would be added to the list as rapidly as possible.

Approximately 33-1/3 per cent of the acreage so acquired will be used for wild game refuges and sanctuaries, Darling estimated.

"Farmers, in addition to receiving cash for the sale of their land, will be provided with work in restoring areas to a natural state as part of the wild life restoration program," he said.

HUGH S. JOHNSON'S MOTHER IS DEFENDANT IN LAND SUIT

Trustee of Bankrupt Oklahoma Firm Seeks to Recover Property From Her.

By the Associated Press.

MUSKOGEE, Ok., June 27.—Elizabeth M. Johnson, mother of Hugh S. Johnson, NRA administrator, is a defendant in a suit filed by Henry R. Duncan of Tulsa, trustee for the bankrupt Major Oil Co. of Muskogee. Duncan seeks to recover lands which once were the property of the oil company.

Officers of the oil company say the land in question was deeded to Mrs. Johnson by her son, Alex Johnson, president of the firm,
when he allegedly knew the Major Oil Co. was insolvent. The oil company became bankrupt Dec. 28, 1933, and the property transfer was effected nearly four months earlier, Duncan alleges.

The petition charges that the "conveyance was made to enable Mrs. Johnson to obtain a greater percentage of her debt than the other creditors." Duncan explained today that the suit was merely to set aside an alleged "preference in bankruptcy and fraud in law and not in fact."

39 NEW INFANTILE PARALYSIS CASES IN CALIFORNIA CITIES

Los Angeles Reports 26, San Francisco Four and East Bay Area Nine.

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 27.—Thirty-nine names were added yesterday to the lists of infantile paralysis cases in the San Francisco and Los Angeles metropolitan areas.
San Francisco reported four new cases and the East Bay area, Los Angeles city and County 26.

These figures brought the total in San Francisco to 69, with six deaths; in Alameda County (East Bay district) to 113 and in Los Angeles city and County to 718, with eight deaths, since May 1. New cases in the State reported last week numbered 340, bringing the total to 1222 since May 1.

Medical authorities continued to test serum sources as a result of the death in Heidelberg of an infant son of Dr. Bryan Baldwin after an injection of the serum by his father. State medical authorities said the serum had been contaminated.

BOMBING AT HOME OF WITNESS

Explosion Slightly Damages Residence of Macon, Mo., Man.

By the Associated Press.

MACON, Mo., June 27.—Shortly after 1 a. m. today there was an explosion near the front porch of Paul E. Campbell's residence. Investigation revealed a hole in the ground, pieces of rag and fuse scattered over the front porch and a broken window upstairs. The explosion is thought to have been caused by a bomb.

Campbell, manager of the Mattingly Brothers Store here, was the prosecuting witness in a robbery case last Friday.

Flings Down Gun; It Shoots Him.

ASHLAND, Mo., June 27.—Russell Burwell, 18 years old, was going to shoot a dog last night but his wife stopped him. Enraged, he flung oner E. G. Davis said no inquest

SUIT TO DISBAR FORISTEL FROM FEDERAL DISTRICT COURT TO BE FILED

Petition to Be Based on What Judge Faris Termed 'Constructive Fraud on Court' in Client's Change of Residence.

SIMILAR COMPLAINT AGAINST H. B. COX

Plaintiff Says Two Lawyers Advised Him to Move to New Jersey to Defeat Jurisdiction in $200,000 Action.

Petitions asking for the disbarment of Edward W. Foristel, one of the city's most widely known lawyers and a power in Republican politics, and of one of his law partners, Harvey B. Cox, from practice in the Federal Court for the Eastern District of Missouri, will be filed soon by District Attorney Blanton, the Post-Dispatch learned today.

After considering a complaint against Foristel and Cox by a client, John C. Scrivner, Federal Judge Faris referred the file to the District Attorney yesterday with a recommendation for action. The complaint was made to the Grievance Committee of the St. Louis Bar Association and presented to Judge Faris by the committee, as reported in the Post-Dispatch on May 25, last.

Charge Against Lawyers.
Briefly, the charge is that Scrivner removed from St. Louis to New Jersey in order to be able to bring his $200,000 damage suit against the American Car & Foundry Co. in the Circuit Court of St. Louis where he expected to have a much better chance of winning than in the Federal Court, to which jurisdiction the defendant corporation would be able to have it transferred if he remained a resident of St.
Louis, and that he did this on the advice of Foristel and Cox. This action of Scrivner's was characterized by Judge Faris himself, in one of the numerous proceedings coming before him, as a "constructive fraud on the court."

The suit, filed in 1928, was for alleged breach of contract for use of Scrivner's patented furnace.
Judge Faris is expected to disqualify himself if the disbarment petitions are brought before him.
In that event the two lawyers likely would receive a hearing before a judge outside this district, who will come here to preside. The hearing probably will not be held before autumn.

Contents of File in Case.
The file contains the Grievance Committee's report of the complaint, together with photographic copies of about 20 letters purporting to have been written by Foris-tel and Cox to Scrivner, and also briefs by the committee and attorneys representing the two law partners.

Foristel and Cox are represented by Thomas M. Force, Rhodes E.
Cave, Fred I. Williams and James T. Blair, another of Foristel's partners. Their attorneys appeared before Judge Faris in his chambers after the complaint was presented by Foristel.

Foristel, Mudd, Blair & Hapenicht, is ill in St. John's Hospital.
Cox, asked for a statement on behalf of himself and Foristel, declined to comment.

Plaintiff's Evidence.
Scrivner asserted it was Foristel who devised the scheme of sending him to New Jersey to assure trial in State Circuit Court here, where
"the opportunities were so much greater." It was this statement by Scrivner to the Grievance Committee of the St. Louis Bar Association last winter, which led to the investigation by the committee resulting in Judge Faris' action.

Apparently Foristel misjudged his client, a farmer and laborer, whose customary attire is a pair of overalls, in dividing the $200,000 he obtained from the car company in settlement of a $200,000 State Court judgment which the Missouri Supreme Court reversed. For had Foristel given his client a larger percentage of the settlement, Scrivner says he would not have brooded over his "small end of the deal," would not have sought out the Grievance Committee, and what the company's lawyers called the "most extraordinary" Scrivner case would have rested forgotten in dusty court files.

However, Scrivner, who says

IN response to an inquiry

"purely a business proposition."

"We never recognized any justification for the claim, either in law or morals," he said. "Our settlement was based purely on consideration of the expense of further trials and

FRENCH COMMUNISTS ATTACK
NATIONALIST MEETING; 20 HURT

Beach Chairs and Tables Used as Weapons in Fight at Menton.

By the Associated Press.

MENTON, France, June 27.—Twenty persons were injured last night in a Communist attack on a meeting of a Nationalist youth organization. Hundreds of beach chairs and tables were used as weapons.

The Communists waited in the streets with piles of equipment left by swimmers and when the Nationalists came out of the meeting started a barrage. A professor of a Nice high school was hit by a chair. He drew a pistol and fired several shots, wounding two of the attackers. Later the Communists attacked buses in which the Nationalists were returning to Nice, injuring several with rocks. Twelve persons were arrested.

prisoners at Clayton jail—last set for July 9.

Judge Ernest M. Tipton, brother of Mrs. Muench, does not sit in consideration of the application. His six colleagues were unanimous in their opinion.

No written opinion was handed down, the finding of the Court merely being entered on its minutes.

The formal entry on the minutes stated: "Writ denied, all concurring except Judge Tipton, not sitting."

The concurring Judges were:
Chief Justice William F. Frank,
Ernest S. Gantt, Frank E. Atwood,
George Robb Ellison, C. A. Leedy
Jr. and Charles Thomas Hays.

The action of the Court was swift,
for defense counter suggestions,
completing presentation of the case, were filed only late yesterday afternoon.

Writ Sought by Verne Lacy.
The application for the writ was filed June 14 by Verne R. C. Lacy, attorney for three defendants, who himself is now on trial in St. Louis on a charge of kidnap-ing a juror, in another kidnap-ing case, and other defense attorneys. The Court granted the lawyers 15 days to file supporting pleadings. Prosecuting Attorney
Anderson and Attorney-General McKittick required only two of the five days allowed them to file suggestions in the case.

Lacy had until yesterday to present counter suggestions, completing presentation and placing the case before the Court.

The application was based on the action June 21 of Circuit Judge Mc-Elhinney at Clayton. The defense asked Judge McElhinney to disqualify himself as prejudiced—a manuever designed to preserve the right of later asking for a change of venue, since, under Missouri law, only one change of venue is allowed the defense.

However, Judge McElhinney changed the title of the motion to a motion for a change of venue, which it is in form, except for the caption,"

TROLLEYS STONED, HALTED IN STRIKE AT MILWAUKEE

Crowd of 5000 Defies Police, Blocks Five Lines—Windows Broken, Fare Boxes Smashed.

RIOTING AT BARN AND GARAGES

47 Cars Damaged—Company Union Threatens to Ask Militia to Stop Violence.

By the Associated Press. MILWAUKEE, June 27.—Forty-seven street cars were undergoing repairs for shattered windows, damaged airbrakes and severed trolley ropes in shops of the Milwaukee Electric Railway & Light Co. today as the Employees' Mutual Benefit Association, the company union which was not involved in the utility strike, announced it would ask for protection by the militia if the riots of last night recurred.

Street cars were running on normal schedules after the disorders which last night sent 12 persons to hospitals and 15 to jail, but bus service was more irregular. Heaviest rioting occurred at the car barns and garage of the utility, key point to trolley transportation to the Bayview District, and a large part of the South Side, where some 5000 persons gathered. A group in their midst threw bricks through car windows, smashed fare boxes, ruined brakes and trolley rod equipment and pelted street car crews with eggs and tomatoes.

Five street car lines were blocked by the crowd. Defying 100 officers, the demonstrators ripped protective screens from the cars, smashed windows and held up motor traffic as well. Several persons were hurt by flying stones and a girl was trampled.

The demonstration followed a quiet parade of about 500 pickets. As the crowd and the violence grew, motorists on the cars were forced to abandon the trolleys, which were moved into nearby barns for the night. None of the persons arrested was identified as a striker.

Lays Disorder to Communists. Blaming Communists for the vandalism, Samuel Berrone, business agent of one of the three striking unions, said "union organizations had nothing whatsoever to do with that demonstration."

Police, their weekly days off canceled because of the strike, stood by helplessly as the demonstrators threw stones at the trolleys, but there was no attempt to attack the motorists as they deserted their cars. Instead the crowd shouted its approval.

Earlier, however, the police reported Nathan Buckspan, a motorist, was beaten severely when rushed by about 40 men. He was about to board a street car after finishing his day's work.

Company Lost Blue Eagle. Union representatives predicted yesterday's small striking force would be augmented. Three American Federation of Labor unions called the walkout in demand that the company conduct a vote of employees to determine whether Federation Union should represent them. Another demand was that 13 discharged employees be reinstated.

The National Labor Board ordered the reinstatement and when the utility refused to comply with the mandate, Gen. Hugh S. Johnson removed the company's Blue Eagle.

Union officials said "about 600" employees walked out in the strike, but S. B. Way, president of the company, said that only 354 of the 4700 workers did not report for work.

ST. LOUIS PASTOR DEPLORES 'CLOISTERED INTELLECTUALISM'

By the Associated Press. ALBANY, N. Y., June 27.—Dr. Theodore Graebner of St. Louis spoke today at the convention of the Atlantic District of the Evangelical Lutheran Synod of Missouri, Ohio and other States on "The Church's Responsibility in the Training of the Pastor." He said: "A clergyman may lose himself in his study that he falls in his calling. Cloistered intellectualism obstructs ministerial service. Furthermore, some men lower the pulpit by using it as a rostrum for discussing problems and airing speculations but this is due to the lack of sense of perspective rather than to the possession of learning."

DEFENSE OF LACY BEGINS IN TRIAL ON JURY 'FIXING' CHARGE

Anna's reputation for truth and veracity.

"Very unreliable—bad, I should say," was the witness' reply. On an objection by the State, the first two words were struck out.

Hennings then brought out, by questioning the witness, that Heman had known Lacy three years, and was in Lacy's office last Friday.

That visit, Heman said, was after Lacy had telephoned requesting him to call. He said that at the time he went there, Paul Richards was in the office. Richards was defended by Lacy in February and again in May, 1932, on the charge of kidnapping for ransom in the Alexander Berg case—the present charge against Lacy relates to the first trial.

"Lacy asked me," the witness said, "what I thought of Ed Anna's truthfulness, and I said I didn't think much of it."

"You knew he (Anna) had been in the army?" Hennings demanded. "You knew he was honorably discharged?"

Attorneys in Clash. Bass objected to the question, and charged Hennings with "trying to sneak prejudicial matter into the record." An angry exchange between the lawyers followed, and the Court ordered the jury to disregard the invective of counsel.

Hennings continued questioning the witness as to the jobs he had held, and asked him whether he left the insurance company and other employers "because your superiors didn't appreciate your services," or because he was dissatisfied. He said he was dissatisfied with the insurance job. He named "John Wendell and his brother Frank" as two to whom he had talked about Anna.

Former Lacy Client Witness. Mrs. Mary Huegel, proprietor of the Central Hotel in Jefferson City, testified that Lacy had represented her in legal matters, and that she had been introduced to Keeton during her visits to Lacy's office.

"One day when I was on my way to Mr. Lacy's office I met Mr. Keeton on the street," Mrs. Huegel related. "He told me he was not with Mr. Lacy any more. He said various things about Mr. Lacy and let out a tirade against him. He remarked, 'You'll find out some time.'"

TUGWELL CHARGES PROCESSORS PLOT TO WRECK THE AAA

Cites Opposition That Defeated Amendments in Congress and Says Tax Will Be Attacked Next.

By the Associated Press. DES MOINES, Ia., June 27.—Rexford G. Tugwell accused certain big business today of trying to wreck the administration's program for "social management" of agriculture. The Undersecretary of Agriculture addressed the Iowa State Bankers' Association.

Emphasizing anew that he is a "conservative," the reputed head of the "brain trust," said: "I am willing to work for the conserving of all those things in America which I grew up to love and respect. This, I take it, does not preclude a willingness to treat radically those forces which are enemies of the common good."

Some firms dealing in farm products are inimical to the AAA, he said. He criticized opposition of big canners, packers, millers and milk distributors to the "loose goose" bill.

The Agriculture Administration asked the last Congress to adopt amendments described as clarifying the licensing power of the AAA. Opponents denounced the move as an attempt to give a Car's power to Secretary of Agriculture Wallace. The amendments were not made.

Attacks Big Processors. Tugwell said big processors fought the legislation, although previously some of them had urged the AAA to clamp down on small processors with the same licensing powers "clarified" in the amendments. Some processors he accused of "sweating" farmers, wage-earners and consumers.

The opposition to the proposed amendments by the processors goes deeper than appears on the surface," Tugwell said. "It is a preliminary to an attempt to overthrow the agricultural adjustment program at its foundation."

"The next step will be concerted drive at the processing tax (a tax levied on processors to reimburse farmers for curtailing production). Already it is manifested in the subtle propaganda which farmers are expected to swallow about the hog processing tax."

"Farmers are told that the tax is too high; that if there were no tax on all the products of the hog, that the processing tax on hogs is being paid by the farmers themselves."

"Attack on All Fronts." "At the same time many of the packers complain to me that they are compelled to pay the tax, that they can neither pass it on to the consumer nor back to the farmer."

"Social management, democratically conceived, would involve the social organization of the processes of production and distribution, taking advantage of ordinary and useful motives (with reduced stress on the monetary ones, which seem to me to have been overemphasized) and existing machinery and methods, to achieve first a wider distribution and use of goods, and later (for this is likely to occupy our generation) whatever further aims seem desirable."

Cites AAA and NRA. The AAA and the NRA are instances of social management, he said, both being democratic yet compulsory on recalcitrant minorities.

"For the first time," he said, "we have undertaken, with the earnestness we use in other affairs, to approach reform in our social relationships which may provide equalization of opportunity and higher levels of living."

In his attack on some processing concerns, Tugwell said: "It is important to have in mind that these big processing and distributing businesses are not in fact always controlled by the people who are really their owners. The large meat packers and the big tobacco companies nicely illustrate this point."

MAYOR LAGUARDIA HECKLED AT PHILHARMONIC CONCERT

Greeted With Shouts, "Down With the Yellow Dog," as He Arrives to Speak.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, June 27.—Mayor LaGuardia was heckled last night as he arose to speak at the opening of the summer concert of the Philharmonic-Symphony orchestra at the Lewisohn stadium at City College.

"Down with the yellow dog," a section of spectators in the 25-000 seats cried as LaGuardia started to address the audience. Immediately others in the vast throng turned and shouted: "Throw them out." A policeman removed one man and LaGuardia resumed his speech.

Police evicted the hecklers were Communists. Several weeks ago LaGuardia rebuked Communists for their attitude toward policemen and made reference to "yellow dogs."

Adolph Lewisohn introduced the Mayor as the orchestra opened its seventeenth season. There will be concerts and opera nightly for eight weeks.

The Court said: "I ask you to bear in mind this man was a respectable citizen for 50 years, until adversity came upon him, his health failed and the depression set in. I ask you as an ill man that he carried on while these events occurred. He denied under oath and still denies he made or caused to be made any of these false entries."

"I ask the Court to bear in mind he lost his position, his bank and everything that he had. Others lost, it is true, but he is the greatest loser of them all."

Assistant United States Attorney Jacob J. Rosenblum said he felt it his duty to bring to the attention of the court "that the use of depositions was a real benefit to Harriman."

"I am informed," he said, "by the receiver of the bank that the misuse of money may total between $50,000 and $70,000. He was found guilty of violating a trust for his selfish greed. I ask that the sentence be of a type to serve as a warning to other bankers."

"Custodian of a Trust." After listening to the attorneys and doctors, Judge Knox said: "Unfortunately for Harriman and myself, I am custodian of the trust of the public. A law has been flagrantly violated and the defendant has received a trial as fair as I know how to make it."

"I must think not only of his age and his undoubted illness, but of his house of cards that fell about him. I must think not only of his depositions, but of the depositions of Anna Sten and Gary Cooper, and canceling production plans for the present, he said."

JOHNSON PLACES ALUMINUM CODE ON 90-DAY TRIAL

Seeks to Learn If It Will Operate Free 'From Any Alleged Oppression or Discrimination.'

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, June 27.—Hugh S. Johnson today approved an NRA code for the aluminum industry for a 90-day trial period to determine the extent it operates free "from any alleged oppression or discrimination."

The Aluminum Co. of America, a Mellon concern, is a major factor in the industry.

Johnson explained the approval was made for 90 days only in view of objections which had been raised to the code. These included assertions of a monopoly by Mellon aluminum interests.

During the 90-day period, Johnson said he would receive and investigate "complaints of unfair competition in the sale of products at prices constituting unfair competition, or opposing small enterprises or tending toward monopoly."

One section of the code states: "No provision of this code shall be so applied as to permit monopoly or monopolistic practices or to eliminate, oppress or discriminate against small enterprises."

The code provides a 46-hour maximum work week of not more than six days a week with seasonal allowances. Child labor is prohibited, with 16 years as the minimum for office work and 18 years in production.

An 11-member code authority is created. Each board member must represent a commodity division of the industry, and no member of the industry may have more than four representatives on the board.

Producers are prohibited from discriminating in price between their own subsidiaries and independent fabricators, but there is no bar against domestic producers meeting prices quoted on imported aluminum.

MORGENTHAU WANTS 'LONG TERM PLANNING' FROM SURVEY

Group to Examine Government Finances and Effect of Fiscal Policies.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, June 27.—Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau hopes some "long term planning" will result from a broad survey of Government finances which a group of economists will make this summer. He announced yesterday the group, under the leadership of Dr. Jacob Viner, special assistant, will study the nation's banking, currency and taxation systems for information for next year's fiscal program.

One topic for study by economists looking into taxation and revenue will be "the possibility of making use of revenue provisions as a business stabilizing device." The gold and silver programs will be examined.

"We will review our policies and satisfy ourselves that what we are doing is for the best interests of everybody," Morgenthau said. "If it isn't, we'll say so."

FEDERAL COURTS TO RETAIN ONLY 'NECESSARY BAILIFFS'

Provisions in Appropriations Act Leaves Decision on Employment Up to Marshals.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, June 27.—Bailiffs in Federal courts during the coming fiscal year will hold their jobs only if their duties are necessary. A little noticed provision in the appropriations act passed by the last Congress authorized the money for the offices—but said bailiffs should be employed only if the Marshal of the court certified he and his deputy were unable to get along without extra help. Inserted at the instance of the House Appropriations Committee, it becomes effective July 1.

Bailiffs are appointed by the Marshal on a per diem basis, and draw $4.50 each day they work. There are 150 district courts, some with as many as three bailiffs, in addition to 10 circuit courts.

Figures on how many are dropped will be available when warrants drawn by the Marshals are submitted for approval.

"Barbary Coast" Movie Postponed. By the Associated Press. HOLLYWOOD, Cal., June 27.—Samuel Goldwyn, film producer, announces his production of "Barbary Coast" has been postponed indefinitely. Herbert Asbury's informal history of San Francisco's "rough" colony of yore is "not a child's story," Goldwyn said, and he has decided not to alter it to fit present demands. Accordingly, he is abandoning the cast, including Anna Sten and Gary Cooper, and canceling production plans for the present, he said.

PECORA WOULD HEAD SECURITIES BOARD

President is Told Attorney Would Serve for Year if Post Is Offered.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, June 27.—President Roosevelt received word today that Ferdinand Pecora, counsel for the Senate Banking Committee, would serve for a year as chairman of the new Securities Exchange Commission.

While the President has indicated he has not decided definitely on membership of the commission, it is now generally taken for granted that Pecora will get the chairmanship.

James M. Landis, a member of the Federal Trade Commission, has been mentioned as the possible chairman. It was considered likely he would be a member of the commission and become chairman later.

George C. Matthews, another commissioner, has been talked up as a member.

Pecora, who as counsel for the Senate committee played a big part in drafting the stock market legislation, has been reluctant to accept a place on the commission created by that law, feeling he should turn to private practice.

The White House was informed, however, that he had been persuaded to serve for a year as chairman if that post were tendered to him.

CUMMINGS MAY PROSECUTE FIRM CLOSED BY NRA

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, June 27.—Attorney-General Cummings was studying evidence in the Harriman bribery case today to determine whether the Government will prosecute the closed Tennessee plant alleged violation of the NRA law.

All of the testimony and facts of the case of the mills which closed for lack of business after its single had been removed, were inspected by Justice Department attorneys.

Administrator Johnson maintained his position that the firm must meet NRA's requirements before a new plant could be built. The re-employment of at least 1000 of the workers who went on last October when other employees were discharged, allegedly because of union activities, was one of the conditions which Johnson demanded should be met.

GIRL TESTIFIES PREMIER HELD HER IN 'SPEL'

Vivian MacMillan Says She Resisted Alberta Official Each Time for Six Months.

By the Associated Press. EDMONTON, Alta., June 27.—Miss Vivian MacMillan, young stenographer, faced further cross-examination today in her lawsuit against John E. Brownlee, Premier of Alberta.

Miss MacMillan broke down yesterday under defense questioning. She has been on the stand almost continuously since the trial opened Monday.

Brownlee charges he is the victim of a political conspiracy. MacMillan and her father, former Mayor of Edmonton, are suing him for damages. She testified that she was under the "spell" of Premier and feared she would lose her job as stenographer in the office of the Alberta Attorney-General.

Questioned by A. L. Smith of defense, Miss MacMillan said she had not profited in her relationship with Brownlee's friendship, that he never had showed her favoritism.

She said she sacrificed marriage with John Caldwell, young student, because of her relationship with the Premier. Caldwell and his wife are charged with conspiring in a counter-claim by Brownlee.

Miss MacMillan said she spent seven weeks at the Premier's home. Brownlee was in the house the time, and had asked Miss MacMillan to stay while the maid away, she testified.

With tears streaming down her cheeks, Miss MacMillan testified yesterday that she resisted Brownlee's advances for six months every occasion when they were together.

"After the six months the relations between you became a bit more suggestive," Brownlee suggested. "You ceased resisting?"

"Yes," she replied. The attorney led her to repeat her entire story starting with a visit of Brownlee to her home in Edmonton in 1931. From that time to the present, she repeated that she promised to be his guardian and open home to her if she wished to go to Edmonton and take a Government job.

"When did you get the idea, enticed you from home with a promise to seduce you?" asked Smith. "At the time in the fall of 1931 you got ideas. When did you get it?"

"It didn't come all at once," she said, "the girl who had been permitted to sit down because of her childhood. It was older for one thing. I had read of education cases. I was in the Attorney-General's office where I worked. My eyes were open."

"You fought on every occasion you went with Mr. Brownlee during the first six or seven months. Why did you go on these drives?" he said. "It was my duty to go."

"Why did you not do your fighting before you went on the drive?" he asked. "Because I was afraid of Brownlee. He has a very bad temper."

"Ever see anyone else with a bad temper?" "Not like him. I had an influence over me. I could not break or resist."

"You were mentally dominated by this man?" "Yes, when in his presence I felt I couldn't but do what he wanted. It was a combination of fear and his influence."

"And it was because of Brownlee?" "Yes."

Miss MacMillan said the "terrible influence" the Premier had over her did not stop until she saw him in July, 1932.

"Why didn't you stop before?" she asked. "I couldn't."

Miss MacMillan said that when she came to Edmonton she did live in the dormitory of Alberta College, where she was taking a business course because of "living restrictions," and that Brownlee suggested her going to the W. C. A.

She was questioned closely about her first automobile ride with Brownlee and asked if she thought there was anything when he promised to "tell her all his life."

"I thought of our conversation in Edmonton when he promised to be my guardian," she said.

"Did he tell you the only way to repay Mr. Brownlee for his kindness was to be intimate with him?" "Yes."

"He made a proposition for to part with your honor?" "I didn't say 'part with my honor,' said I would be doing the honor thing."

Never in Love With Him. In answer to a direct question Miss MacMillan said she never

GIRL TESTIFIES PREMIER HELD HER IN 'SPELL'

Vivian MacMillan Says She Resisted Alberta Official Each Time for Six Months.

WEEPS DURING LONG CROSS-EXAMINATION

Never Loved J. E. Brownlee, She Asserts, but Couldn't Break Influence and End Relations.

By the Associated Press.
EDMONTON, Alta., June 27.—Miss Vivian MacMillan, young stenographer, faced further cross-examination today in her seduction suit against John E. Brownlee, 50-year-old Premier of Alberta.

Miss MacMillan broke down yesterday under defense questioning. She has been on the stand almost continuously since the trial opened Monday.

Brownlee charges he is the victim of a political conspiracy. Miss MacMillan and her father, former Mayor of Edmonton, are suing him for unstated damages. Questioned by A. L. Smith of the defense, Miss MacMillan said that she had not profited in her job through Brownlee's friendship and that he never had showed her favoritism.

Miss MacMillan said she spent seven weeks at the Premier's home. Mrs. Brownlee was in the house at the time, and had asked Miss MacMillan to stay while the maid was away, she testified.

With tears streaming down pale cheeks, Miss MacMillan testified yesterday that she resisted Brownlee's advances for six months on every occasion when they were together.

"Yes," she replied. The attorney led her to repeat her entire story, starting with a visit of Brownlee to her home in Edmonton in 1930.

Promised to Be Guardian. She repeated that he promised to be her guardian and open his home to her if she wished to go to Edmonton and take a Government job.

"When did you get the idea he wanted you from home with a plan to seduce you?" asked Smith. "Some time in the fall of 1931 you got the idea. Where did you get it?"

"It didn't come all at once," said the girl, who had been permitted to sit down because of her obvious distress. "I was older for one thing. I had read of seduction cases in the files of the Attorney-General's office where I worked. My eyes were open."

"You fought on every occasion you went with Mr. Brownlee during the first six or seven months?" "Why did you go on these drives?" "He said it was my duty to go."

"Why didn't you stop your fighting before you went on the drives?" "Because I was afraid of Mr. Brownlee. He has a very nasty temper."

"Ever see anyone else with a nasty temper?" "Not like him. He had an influence over me I could not break or resist."

Quit Seeing Him Last July. "You were mentally dominated by this man?" "Yes, when in his presence I felt I couldn't do what he asked. It was a combination of fear and his influence."

"And was it because of Mrs. Brownlee?" "Yes."

Miss MacMillan said the "mysterious influence" the Premier had over her did not stop until she quit seeing him in July, 1932.

"Why didn't you stop before?" "I couldn't."

Miss MacMillan said that when she came to Edmonton she did not live in the dormitory of Alberta College, where she was taking a business course because of "evening restrictions," and that Brownlee suggested her going to the Y. W. C. A.

She was questioned closely about her first automobile rides with Brownlee and asked if she had thought there was anything wrong when he promised to "tell her about life."

"I thought of our conversation in Edmonton when he promised to be my guardian," she said.

"Did he tell you the only way to repay Mrs. Brownlee for her social kindness was to be intimate with him?" "Yes."

"He made a proposition for you to part with your honor?" "He didn't say 'part with my honor.' He said I would be doing the honorable thing."

STATE TO GET PARK BABLER OFFERED CITY

Provision Made, However, For Transfer Whenever St. Louis Wants Tract.

Wilbur Buford, State Game and Fish Commissioner, announced today that Jacob L. Babler, former Republican National Committeeman from Missouri, had donated his 666-acre tract on Wild Horse Creek road in St. Louis County to the State for a park.

Babler previously offered the tract to the city. Under the terms of the donation to the State, the city has the right to take over the property whenever it finds the funds with which to maintain it.

Babler conferred with Mayor Dickmann and other city officials yesterday. Previously he had withdrawn his offer to the city, but at yesterday's conference indicated he had reinstated the offer. However, later in the day, according to City Counselor Hay, Babler decided to let the State have the tract for present, with the provision that the city could take it over when the money was obtained to develop it and maintain it as part of a municipal outer park system.

At the conference yesterday, Hay and Harland Bartholomew, consulting engineer of the City Planning Commission, were delegated to prepare a report on the possibilities, financial and otherwise, of the city obtaining the necessary funds for park development. Mayor Dickmann told reporters that with the city in financial straits at present, he did not want to acquire the property until it could be adequately maintained.

Under present plans, according to Commissioner Buford, the tract will be made part of the State's extensive park system.

Babler made the gift as a memorial to his brother, the late Dr. Edmund A. Babler.

Income Tax Appeal by Lawyer. WASHINGTON, June 27.—Theodore Ransauer, attorney, of 3663 Flora boulevard, St. Louis, petitioned the Board of Tax Appeals today for the redetermination of a 1930 income tax claim of $7070. His petition alleged the Bureau of Internal Revenue illegally included in taxable income certain distributions from the Texas Gulf Sulphur Co. and partnership income.

been in love with Brownlee, but thought during the first six months that he was in love with her.

"After the first six months there was no love on either side," suggested the lawyer. "There was deep respect on my part."

"When did you make up your mind he was not in love with you?" "I can't say definitely, but it would be toward the end of the first year."

Miss MacMillan admitted that the Premier's wife might have had a suspicion of "what was going on." She said she went to visit Mrs. Brownlee once, after a long absence, when she was ill.

"She asked why I hadn't been over," the witness said. "She said, 'Has Mr. Brownlee done anything to you?' Is anything the matter?" "After the first six months there was no love on either side," suggested the lawyer. "There was deep respect on my part."

TRIAL OF MRS. MILLEN DRAWS TOWARD CLOSE

Slayer's Wife Ends Testimony; Case May Go to Jury Today.

By the Associated Press.
DEDHAM, Mass., June 27.—More than two days on the witness stand ended today for Mrs. Norma Milten, pretty bride of a convicted slayer.

After testifying for less than an hour today, under questioning of both her own attorney and the prosecutor, she was led to a lobby as a recess was called.

The 19-year-old daughter of a former clergyman, who wept and had to be assisted from the stand several times during the last two days, bore up well under the questioning this morning.

She is charged with being an accessory after the fact of robbery of the Needham Trust Co. and the killing of two policemen who fell there. Her husband, Murton Milten, his brother, Irving, and Abe Faber recently were convicted of murder in connection with the slaying of one policeman.

The defense had stressed that Mrs. Milten had a mind much younger than her years and that she had a childishness for dolls. District Attorney Edmund R. Dewey closed dramatically with the question: "And it is true that in all the clothing found in your apartment and in your luggage in New York and Washington there were no dolls?"

"Yes," she said.

Three times yesterday recesses were declared by Judge Nelson P. Brown in order that Mrs. Milten might regain her composure. After cross-examination, she spoke in an almost inaudible voice. She sat huddled in a chair on the witness stand, frightened and bewildered.

Time after time District Attorney Dewey's surprise evidence forced her to change her testimony of the previous day. Dewey forced her to admit that a memorandum on Hotel Paramount (New York) stationery, was in her own handwriting. The memorandum was introduced by an effort to show that she knew of the Milten-Faber gang activities.

Letters from the 19-year-old bride to Saul Messenger, star State witness against Milten, Irving and Faber, were introduced by the District Attorney. One ended with a postscript: "Please tear up Murt's letter as it carries evidence."

"Did Murt make you write that letter?" Dewey asked. "No," the witness admitted.

She had testified in direct examination that Murton had forced her to do his will and that she had written letters at his dictation, the contents of which she did not understand.

Geers suffered lacerations. They were on their way to Marine for a visit. Mrs. Geers was the mother of a 2-year-old daughter who had been left at the home of a relative.

WITNESS MURDER INQUIRY TURNS TO LOST AUTO PLATES

Grand Jury at Clayton Hears Twelve Employees of State License Bureau in St. Louis.

Resuming its investigation of the assassination of John C. Johnson, State's witness against the kidnappers of Dr. Isaac D. Kelley, and of the disappearance from the State Automobile License Bureau, at Seventeenth and Chestnut streets, or the license plates used by the murderers the St. Louis County grand jury yesterday interrogated 12 employees of the license bureau.

The jury then recessed until July 6 when it will continue an inquiry which already has embraced examination of all the witnesses to the shooting and has resulted in a successful request that Federal agents be assigned to investigate the murder of the Negro farmer, who had confessed the physician was held prisoner in his St. Charles County shack and had named Angelo Rosegrant, Bart Davis, and Felix McDonald as among the doctor's captors. The abduction for ransom occurred on April 20, 1931.

In assigning operatives to the case, the Department of Justice announced they would investigate not only the murder, which took place last afternoon of May 12, last, but "other phases of the kidnapping as well."

Reconstruction of Crime. Reconstructing the crime, the jury first heard the testimony of Mrs. Harry Newbold, wife of the deputy sheriff in whose yard, in Nuroad, a new St. Louis County subdivision, a mile and a half east of Lambert-St. Louis field, the murder occurred.

At the murder scene, after firing a fatal burst from a machine gun as Johnson snatched himself on the steps of Newbold's garage, they fired two shots from a pistol at Mrs. Newbold, who was at the home of a friend nearby.

The friend, Mrs. Lottie Bogert, testified before the grand jury also as did two companions of Mrs. Newbold. They were her sister-in-law, Mrs. Marie Henschmeyer, and her 15-year-old nephew, Henry Wigglesworth.

Deputy Sheriff Newbold, who was at Clayton when the shooting occurred, was called by the grand jury also. The only other witnesses besides employees of the license bureau who have been examined since the grand jury convened May 26, last, are Philip A. Foley, of counsel for David, Rosegrant, Davis and McDonald, and J. J. Sanford, warden of the penitentiary at Jefferson City, and Thomas J. Reardon, deputy warden.

McDonald, one of the men named by the murdered witness as among the captors of the physician, is serving a 10-year term in the penitentiary for the attempted kidnapping of Oscar Johnson in the summer of 1932.

Licenses Bureau Witnesses. Turning to testimony of employees of the automobile license bureau, the grand jury has examined a total of 19 of 25 employees in the office, including those appearing before it yesterday.

Witnesses from the office included W. E. Dexter, deputy commissioner of motor vehicles in charge, and Edward J. Gaffney, clerk, to whom was assigned a box of 50 sets of plates, including the plates numbered Missouri 512-955, used by the murderers, and 512-977, missing also and as yet unreported. Gaffney's sales record simply indicated that he did not sell those plates.

Dexter's secretary, Mrs. Mada Wood, Democratic City Committee-woman from the Eighth Ward and secretary of the Democratic City Committee, testified also.

Other witnesses from the bureau were Walter E. Versen, Edna

KNOCKED THROUGH WINDOW IN FIGHT OVER 3.2 BEER

Saloon Customer Who Demanded Stronger Brew Clouted. A customer, who demanded 5 per cent beer instead of 3.2, and started a row about it, was knocked through a 440 plate-glass window at the Old Orchard Inn, 807 Market street, last evening.

According to the report to police, two men entered the saloon at 6:40 o'clock and ordered beer and sandwiches. When told that only 3.2 beer was sold one of the customers smashed three glasses and a mirror on the floor. Joseph Flynn, the bartender, demanded payment for the breakage and when the customer refused to pay Flynn knocked him through the window with a mop handle.

The customer, treated at City Hospital for scalp wounds and then booked for peace disturbance, said he was Charles Smith, 30 years old, 2332 Eads avenue.

DROUTH INTENSIFIED DURING PAST WEEK

Some Crops in Good Condition Without Rain; Oats Very Poor.

Drouth conditions in Missouri were intensified during the past week, the average rainfall being only 36 per cent of normal, the U. S. Weather Bureau said today in its weekly weather and crop bulletin.

Temperatures averaged 8 per cent above normal and maximum temperatures reached a new high in the western part of the State last Saturday, H. C. Gross, assistant chief of the St. Louis Weather Bureau, said. Rainfall was light and scattered, none occurring on the first and last days. The greater part of the State received no rain of consequence.

Despite the lack of rainfall, early planted corn made good to excellent progress in many sections. The late planted corn shows a wide difference in advancement. In many fields it is less than a foot high. As a rule, fields are well cultivated and timely rains will prevent a failure.

Threshing of wheat has begun and some reports have been received that the yields are fairly good. Oats have been the poorest of record. Pastures are short, some "dry enough to burn." The supply of stock water in some sections is very low and will soon be exhausted unless ample rains occur. Potatoes and garden truck are poor. Cotton has begun to bloom in the southwestern section, which is about three weeks earlier than the usual time.

St. Louis County farmers are receiving 80 cents a bushel for wheat, the highest price since 1929, according to Oscar W. Meier, county farm agent.

The crop is about 35 per cent below the normal yield, due mostly to the drouth, he said. Only about 10 per cent of the reduction is accounted for by the Government crop reduction program, as only about half the farmers signed agreements, while others increased their acreage. Threshing season is about a week early this year.

The price paid for wheat in 1933 was 73 cents, in 1932 38 cents, 1931 50 cents and 1930 77 cents.

Meier said that the heat of the past two weeks has done damage of from 20 to 25 per cent to other crops, mainly potatoes, tomatoes, peas, beans, raspberries and blackberries.

Missourian Heads Rotary. DETROIT, June 27.—Robert L. Hill of Columbia, Mo., was elected president of Rotary International today by a unanimous vote. He succeeds John Nelson of Montreal.

At a public hearing on the bill last week several distributors, among them Dan C. Kerekhoff, president of the Pevely Dairy Co., and representatives of the smaller distributors, declared they had no objection to the bill but opposed the proposed fees. Alderman

Object of the Sixth Ward, Republican, head of the Lange Milk Co., told the committee that the milk industry could not stand any more taxes.

MILK INSPECTION FEE ORDINANCE UP TODAY

Welfare Director Darst Says It Is Necessary to Protect Public Health.

The Public Welfare Committee of the Board of Aldermen will act today on the new city milk ordinance sponsored by Director of Public Welfare Darst and which provides a more strict local inspection of milk and for fees for inspection.

In a final appeal for approval of the proposed ordinance, Director Darst issued a statement last night declaring reports prepared by the City Health Division showed that the "local milk situation is fraught with danger for the public health."

Darst declared that health department tests showed of 11,211 estimations of bacteria content of raw milk received for pasteurization in St. Louis between May 1 and June 23, a total of 3607, or about 30 per cent, contained 20,000,000 bacteria to each drop of milk.

"This is 100 times the maximum bacteria content allowed by the United States Public Health Service," Darst said. "The situation aptly demonstrates that our present force of 14 inspectors is totally inadequate to supervise the sanitary conditions in the milk plants and at the same time carry on the inspection and educational work on the southwestern section, which is absolutely necessary before we can assure the consuming public of St. Louis milk of good quality."

Under the terms of the bill, the inspection fee would be 2 cents a hundred pounds of milk, which, Darst thinks, could be paid half by the producer and half by the distributor. This would net the city about $50,000 a year, which would enable Darst to increase the number of inspectors from 14 to 31.

The bill must be approved by the Public Welfare Committee today and passed by the Board of Aldermen under suspension of the rules or it will lie over until fall, as the Aldermen adjourn today until Sept. 28.

At a public hearing on the bill last week several distributors, among them Dan C. Kerekhoff, president of the Pevely Dairy Co., and representatives of the smaller distributors, declared they had no objection to the bill but opposed the proposed fees. Alderman

EXTORTION TRIAL PUT OFF TO FALL AT BASS' REQUEST

Lawyer for Herman Tipton and Carl Fiorito Says He Is Too Busy Defending Verne Lacy.

ANGSTERS ACCUSED BY BOOTLEGGERS

Two Were Killed by Police on Arriving at Michael Accardi's Home Presumably to Collect.

An important criminal case scheduled for trial in the Circuit Court this term, has been continued until September because Sigmund Bass, attorney for two of the defendants, told the court he would not be ready at any time in the summer.

The case is the result of the victimization of five men by the house of Michael Accardi, a bootlegger, at 562 Olive street, Feb. 24. The men demanded $2500. Accardi told police and if he failed to deliver it, threatened to "take him for a ride." He gave them $150 and told them he would try to raise the rest.

One of the men who Accardi was Tipton, did most of the talking and threatened him with violence. He said he had known Tipton for seven years. The other men were Jerome Cretz, an associate of Cuckoo gangsters, and under indictment on the same charge as Tipton and Fiorito; Nicolas Godier, an ex-convict, and James Vincent Griffin.

Fatal Fight With Katerionists
The men gave him two days to get the money. Accardi said, announcing the afternoon of the second day, Feb. 26, he was called three times on the phone by a man he identified as Tipton, who warned him to have the money.

After the first call Accardi notified police who listened in on the other calls. While detectives hid themselves in the building where Accardi lives, Godier and Griffin came to Accardi's home that evening, presumably to collect the money, and Godier opened fire
when he saw detectives in a front room. In the ensuing fight, Godier and Griffin were killed and a detective was wounded.

Accardi, two days after the shooting, appeared before the grand jury and the indictments against the three men were returned.

Other witnesses before the grand jury were Accardi's wife, and his brother, Vincente Pannanante Pannante, and his wife, who came into Accardi's home while the five men were there.

Tipton surrendered March 2 after warrants were issued, and was released on $15,000 bond.
He announced he was identified by Police Headquarters by the four witnesses. Fiorito surrendered last June 7, after being sought, and
was released on $15,000 bond.
Cretz surrendered two weeks ago and also was released on bond.

The attempted kidnapping charge for which the penalty ranges from five years in prison to death, is based on Accardi's statement that he was first accosted by Tipton and Cretz as he drove into his garage, searched for a weapon, and ordered to go into the house, where Fiorito, Godier and Griffin joined the other two. He was then forced to give them $150 he had in his pocket.

Extortion, under Missouri law, is a third degree robbery. The maximum penalty is five years in prison.

BIGGEST TEACHERS IN POLITICS

Spekman Says That Is Way to End Schools' "Spells System."

CHICAGO, June 27. — Asserting that "teachers must get into politics to take schools out of politics," Miss Selma M. Borchardt of Washington, legislative representative of the American Teachers' Federation, today charged the public school system of the nation was "simply a victim of a vicious spoils system."

"As long as teacher tenure is written into State law, the selection of teachers, promotions and the administration in general will remain a matter of petty personal and partisan politics," she told delegates to the Federation's annual convention. All too often, Miss Borchardt charged, a school superintendent appointed for political reasons uses his office to build his political machine which wins there.

TEXTILE MAN SAYS LEGISLATIVE TREND HINDERS BUSINESS

George A. Sloan, Code Authority, Reviews First Year of Cotton Mill Industry Under NRA.

ASSERTS UPSWING HAS BEEN REVERSED

Reports Growing Apprehension by Employers Over Recent Monetary and Other Laws.

By GEORGE A. SLOAN,
President of the Cotton Textile Institute, chairman of the Cotton Textile Code Authority, and chairman of the Consumers' Industries Committee.

(Copyright, 1934, by the Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, June 27.—The cotton textile industry, first to organize under the National Industrial Recovery Act, is completing its first year under code operations, and from this milestone can review its accomplishments, reappraise its disappointments, and the light of experience offer a loyal word of caution as to the pitfalls that threaten our forward path toward sound recovery.

Any review of the first year under the first code would be incomplete without first paying tribute to the outstanding NRA personality. I have nothing but admiration for the unselfish devotion and untiring energy with which Gen. Johnson has met his tremendous responsibilities.

The National Industrial Recovery Act was designed to rehabilitate industry and to improve working conditions. It will be generally recognized that we cannot accomplish one without the other. In this industry we have seen tremendous improvement for labor.

Praises Social Advantages.
We trust that neither our industry nor the nation will ever abandon the social advantages represented in the establishment of maximum hours of labor and minimum rates of hourly pay. Moreover, we reaffirm our conviction that the right to insure orderly production and distribution and stabilization of employment through control of machine hours is emphatically in the best interests of employees, distributors, consumers and mill stockholders, alike.

While the industry takes pride in the tremendous gains for its workers under the code, the stockholder is still the forgotten man. Unhappily, the progress which industry made during the latter half of 1933 toward a sounder financial position has been largely reversed during recent months.

Among the factors which have induced these conditions must be recognized a growing apprehension on the part of business management over the trend in recent legislation. Confidence must be restored if gains already attained in working conditions are to be maintained.

Sound economic and social improvement cannot be expected without a feeling of security in our monetary policy, without a knowledge that the national budget will be balanced, without confidence in the integrity and soundness of American business, and without recognition of the rank and file of American business men as national assets to be conserved like other national resources.

Makes Six Recommendations.
As to the immediate future of the NRA, we offer the following recommendations.

1. Full responsibility should be placed on those code authorities that have demonstrated capacity for sound economic thinking and a proper regard for the public interest.

2. If code authorities are to be held responsible to the Government for the conduct of their industries, the right to exercise administrative powers must accompany such responsibility, always subject to governmental veto if this right is abused.

3. Removal of the fear that basic code provisions may be subjected to further experimentation before policies heretofore agreed on can be fairly tested by experience.

4. Rigid enforcement of code provisions and prompt effective action by the Government in case of wage and hour violations.

5. Avoidance of any compromise of principle or unwillingness to deal with facts in the face of threatened force, either from employers or employees.

6. A never-relaxing recognition of the partnership relation between industry and Government—thus increasing the willingness and desire of individual business men to cooperate wholeheartedly with their respective code authorities and with the Government.

BARKEEPER SHOT AFTER TRIVIAL ROW WITH CUSTOMER

Tony Carmi Seriously Wounded by Stranger Who Returns to Place Following Argument.

Tony Carmi was shot down last night in his tavern at 1303 South Vandeventer avenue by a man with whom he had an argument over a trivial matter during the afternoon. The assailant pocketed his pistol and fled after the shooting.

Carmi, in serious condition at City Hospital with wounds in the abdomen, chest and right hand, told officers that the man, a stranger, spent several hours in the saloon during the afternoon. "We didn't get along, and argued over nothing," the wounded man explained.

Carmi said he ended the discussion by setting the customer's glass and smashing it on the floor. The man departed. At 8 o'clock last night a taxicab stopped in front of the tavern and the customer of the afternoon got out and paid the driver. He entered the barroom and, without a word, drew a pistol and fired two shots at Carmi raised his arm to protect his head. When Carmi fell to the floor the assailant departed, walking north in Vandeventer avenue and into an alley.

Miss Virginia Quinn, barmaid at the tavern, witnessed the shooting. She described the assailant as being about 35 years old, with high cheek bones. He wore light colored trousers, a white shirt and a Panama hat, she said.

Police later located the taxi driver, Fred Giekes, who said he had picked up the man at a saloon on South Third street.

Carmi, 35 years old, resides at 4008 Gratiot street with his wife and two young sons.

MANAGER OF 'ALFALFA BILL'S' CAMPAIGN IN 1930 DIES

W. S. Hansford, 53, Drove Car for Oklahoma Governor in Cheese and Crackers Canvass.

By the Associated Press.

PARK HILL, Ok., June 27.—W. S. Hansford, 53 years old, a farmer, who started Gov. William H. Murray's famous "cheese and crackers" gubernatorial campaign in 1930, died at his home near here Monday night.

Hansford, long-time friend of Murray, took his early model car and started out with "Alfalfa Bill," then fresh from Bolivia, after the gubernatorial nomination.

Murray, virtually out of funds, rode from town to town in Hansford's car with Hansford as his chauffeur, munching cheese and crackers. After he became Governor, Murray rewarded Hansford by placing him on the Game and Fish Department payroll as operator of a wild turkey farm at Park Hill. The Governor was unable to attend funeral services yesterday.

WEATHER NEARLY TOO HELPFUL IN CUTTING WHEAT SURPLUS

Government Authorities Begin to Reflect on Possibility of Having to Import Grain.WASHINGTON, June 27.—Unless both Farm Administration officials and the weather change, wheat and cotton farmers are going to plant a few million acres more for the 1935 harvest than they did for 1934. The weather has co-operated almost too heartily in the Farm Administra-tion's effort to cut down the wheat surplus.At the beginning of 1933, the carryover had accumulated into the mountainous heap of nearly 400, 000,000 bushels. Now it has been cut to approximately 250,000,000 bushels by drought and another short wheat crop is assured. Estimates are that the result will be a surplus of about 125,000,000 bushels—which is about the pre-war normal.The drought in the West and Mid-West this summer, in addition to giving Secretary Wallace and hisassistants many uneasy moments, has "used a lot of reflection. The realization came that another substantial acreage reduction effort plus another drought might put this country into the position of being forced to import wheat.For Safety at New York Beaches.
NEW YORK, June 27.—The Board of Aldermen approved a resolution yesterday to fix safety limits at bathing beaches. Swimmers who go beyond the limits will be arrested and subject to a $25 fine or 30 days imprisonment.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., June 27.— Reserve officers from colleges and universities of Kansas, Missouri and Arkansas, are attending a 30-day camp here. The camp opened ten days ago with more than 200 cadets in attendance.

65 PCT. OF DEPOSITS TO BE PAID, JONES SAYS

RFC Chairman Declares Closed Banks Have Already Refunded Half of Money.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—James H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, said last night he expected depositors in banks closed during the past three years to get back an average of 65 per cent of their money.Speaking over a National Broadcasting Co. network arranged by the Washington Star, Jones recalled the average pay-off from closed banks for 25 years previous was 68 per cent.Of $4,600,000,000 in banks closed during 1931, 1932 and 1933, he said 50 per cent already had been refunded depositors.The RFC head pointed out, however, that provisions in the act extending temporary deposit insurance did not mean the corporation would advance money to pay off all deposits. Many remaining assets, he said, were not "frozen" but lost "and regardless of recovery, will still be losses.""Where we find it possible to increase the loans, with reasonable safety, we will do so," he said.
The RFC "ordinarily" will not buy assets outright, as authorized by the new law, he declared, adding:
"We must not pay more than the sound value of the assets and we would not want to pay less. Therefore, it will be much better, generally speaking, to continue lending, and to lend the greatest amount that the collateral will justify."Jones said the Federal Reserve System and the RFC would cooperate with local banks in making direct loans to industry, as authorized by an act passed at the last Congress. The Federal Reserve is authorized to devote its surplus of $139,000,000 to such loans, in addition to $140,000,000 to be furnished at the discretion of the Secretary of the Treasury.He said he expected the RFC authorization to amount to "anywhere from $600,000,000 to $1,000,000,000" by co-operation of local banks and the practice of revolving funds.
Pointing out the act authorized Federal Reserve Banks to discount five-year industrial notes, he asked co-operation of local banks.In providing loans, he said, "we want to do it in such a way as to pass this credit function back to regular banking channels at the earliest possible moment. I want to make perfectly clear, however, that under credit is actually being extended to deserving borrowers, the resources of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation will be available to all those to whom we are authorized to lend."

WHAT TO PLANT IF DROUGHT WIPES OUT EARLY CROPS

Boy Beans, Corn, Cow Peas, Sudan Grass, Rye, Millet, Sorghum, Authority Advises.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 27.—The experiment station of the University of Illinois furnished advice yesterday on what to plant in minimum traffic emergency feed if crops are killed.
A circular was prepared for the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission.Plant soy beans, corn, cow peas, Sudan grass, rye, millet, sorghum, rape and buckwheat in June or July, and some may be planted as late as mid-August for emergency fodder. The pamphlet tells how to plant, grow and harvest them.Special instructions were given for planting corn, Sudan grass, rye, millet and sorghum because these are subject to chinch bug attacks.
Seed for all the crops, the Relief Commission said, rapidly is becoming scarce.

Woman Abducted, Beaten.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 27.— Mrs. Julius Bantel, Auburn, has in a serious condition in a hospital here today, while a hunt is on for two men alleged to have abducted and beaten her late Sunday. The men, she said, forced her into a car in Auburn and forced her to drive from a hotel. She lost consciousness and when she revived
she found herself tied to a tree.
She was beaten into unconsciousness, she said, and upon reviving again found herself lying by the railroad tracks near the Springfield Airport. Found in a weakened condition, she was rushed to a hospital. She could give no reason for the alleged attack.

MILTON C. WORK, NOTED BRIDGE EXPERT, DIES

Writer and Teacher on Cards Began His Career as a Lawyer.

By the Associated Press. PHILADELPHIA, June 27.—Milton C. Work, teacher and writer on auction and contract bridge, died early today in a Philadelphia hospital. He was 69 years old.

The man who gave up a promising law career to find a fortune expounding the card games succumbed to intestinal disorders after an illness of months.

He was first stricken at Reading, Pa., while playing in the open pair Eastern Pennsylvania contract bridge championship tournament last October. Recovered sufficiently to return to his apartment, he continued to play his favorite game until he was last taken ill several weeks ago.

A son of Robert and Mrs. Anna Whitteman Work, he started at an early age, and was an enthusiastic follower in his college days at the University of Pennsylvania and the University law school.

At school, however, his interests were not restricted to cards. He played cricket and tennis and managed the baseball and football teams. In the year of his graduation from law school, 1887, he toured England as a member of the Gentlemen of Philadelphia Cricket Club.

His law career opened auspiciously, but whilst he held much of his attention. His first book, issued in

BRIDGE TEACHER DEAD

MILTON C. WORK.

1893, was "Whist of Today." With the advent of bridge, he took up the new favorite. His first book on bridge came out in 1913, titled "Auction Development." The list of titles of his later works, numbering more than 20, is an outline history of the growing popularity of the game and the swing from auction to contract.

Dropping his law practice entirely in 1917, he toured the country at his own expense arranging bridge tournaments as Red Cross benefits. His efforts realized more than $100,000.

When contract became popular, he was one of the developers of the so-called "official system," with the "two club force."

Before bridge came to take so much of his time he had a taste of public life as Eighth Ward Representative in Philadelphia's old Select Council about 20 years ago under Mayor John Weaver.

He belonged to the Union League Club, Racquet Club, Philadelphia Country Club, Merion Cricket Country Club and Pennsylvania Athletic Club, as well as the Whist and Card Club in New York. He was a member of the United States Bridge Association.

Surviving him are his widow, Mrs. Margaret Hazlehurst Work, and two step-children, Mrs. William W. Barber Jr., of Southborough, Mass., and Henry H. Patton, Philadelphia.

NEXT SEASON'S PLANS ANNOUNCED BY BYRD

Four Parties Will Make Explorations by Plane, Tractor and Dog Team.

By the Associated Press.

LITTLE AMERICA, Antarctica, June 27 (via Mackey Radio).—From his advance weather base, Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd yesterday announced by radio the broad outlines of the program of geographical exploration and scientific research

FRISCO MANAGEMENT TO BE INVESTIGATED

Officers and Directors to Be Examined Under Federal Court's Order.

Officers and directors of the Frisco Railroad are to be questioned about their financial management of the railroad under an order obtained from Federal Judge Paris yesterday by Frank A. Thompson, counsel for John G. Lonsdale, co-trustee of the Frisco in bankruptcy. Hearings will be before Special Master John T. Harding.

After he obtained the order, Thompson said he would examine the officers and directors about extensive charges of financial mismanagement contained in the Gans receivership suit.

He would investigate, he said, the purchases of stock in the Rock Island and other railroads by the Frisco, the building of the Pensacola line in Florida and the setting aside of a fund of $418,000 for use by the railroad's readjustment managers to further a reorganization plan later abandoned.

On behalf of Lonsdale, Thompson has filed a suit to recover the fund. Thompson said he hoped to get the hearings started this summer, but expected difficulties in getting interested counsel to agree on a setting which might postpone action until September. He said he would communicate at once with Harding, a resident of Kansas City, and interested lawyers.

DEATH WATCH IS PLACED OVER YOUNG ARIZONA SLAYERS

Fred and Manuel Hernandez Will Be First to Die in New Gas Chamber.

By the Associated Press.
FLORENCE, Ariz., June 27.—The death watch was placed yesterday on Fred and Manuel Hernandez, Mexican brothers, who will be the first to die in Arizona's new lethal gas chamber, July 6.

They will be the youngest persons to be executed since Arizona became a State. Fred is 19 years old and Manuel 17. They were convicted of killing Charles P. Washburn, 65-year-old Needles (Cal.) prospector, near Casa Grande.

14,000 SEE PROGRAM ON TUBERCULOSIS DAY

Enthusiastic, Though Hot, Crowd Witnesses Ball Game
and Other Events.

A jovial, colorful crowd of 14,000 persons streamed through the gates of Sportsman's Park yesterday afternoon to attend the twentieth annual Tuberculosis Day baseball game. More than 240 young St. Louis women, gayly attired in summer frocks, pounced upon the crowd as they entered the park, selling thousands of souvenir score cards.

In spite of a temperature which registered above 90 degrees all afternoon, the crowd showed unusual interest in the pre-game entertainment on the field. The varied program included horse and bicycle exhibitions, tumblers and boxers, demonstrations by bands and drum and bugle corps, and the third annual three-mile road race.

Although not included on the program, spectators were entertained by the activities of motion picture cameramen who were taking advantage of the large holiday crowd to obtain "background scenes" for a forthcoming picture.

Amateur Actors Help.
With cameras focused on the grandstand, spectators good-naturedly rose and cheered with the enthusiasm of $10-a-week "extras," on orders given by a director. Additional scenes were shot just before the game between the St. Louis Cardinals and the New York Giants, depicting a Cardinal batter driving out a hit against the Giants and collapsing before reaching the home plate.

When the program began at 1:45 p. m., about 10,000 persons were on hand. Following a pageant and cowboy dance by 40 small boys and girls, the program continued at the Century Road Club gave an exhibition.

This was followed by a tumbling exhibition and a "Battle Royal," in which 10 Negroes participated. Then four women's drum and bugle corps from Illinois marched on the field and gave a 15-minute demonstration of their skill. The Troy (Ill.) corps, composed of 24 young women dressed in striking black and white uniforms, seemed to win instant popularity with the crowd, and even the bored bleacherites offered extended applause in approval of their exhibition.

18 Bands in March.
Pre-game activities came to a close with a grand march about the field by 18 bands and bugle corps, which was led by Col. Walter Krueger, commander of Jefferson Barracks, and the Sixth Infantry Band. The bands assembled in right field and united in the playing of the national anthem. Mayor Dickmann presented the 1933 "most valuable player" award to Carl Hubbel, Giant pitcher, and the field was cleared for the ball game.

At the beginning of the afternoon, the crowd appeared fresh and neatly attired, with the women wearing light frocks of pastel shades. However, as the afternoon progressed and the heat became more intense, all efforts to retain an immaculate appearance were discarded in favor of comfort; and the concession men found it difficult to supply the demand for refreshments.

SUITS FOR $91,000 INSURANCE FOR FIRE AT STORE WAREHOUSE

Actions Filed by Trustee in Bankruptcy for Barney Grosberg, Inc.

Sixteen suits for a total of $91,000 against fire insurance companies were filed in Circuit Court yesterday by Edward W. Tobin, trustee in bankruptcy of Barney Grosberg, Inc., which operated Barney's Army and Department stores. The fire claims are based on merchandise loss in a fire at the firm's warehouse, 917-21 Lucas avenue, May 16, 1932. The insurance covered property valued at $159,506, but the insurance companies have failed to make payment, it is alleged.

Barney Grosberg, Inc., was adjudicated a bankrupt last October. Previously the assets of the firm were purchased by Barney Grosberg, acting for a new corporation, formed to continue the business. Tobin said the suits were filed to settle a dispute over the amount of the loss.

WOULD CURB ELECTION FRAUD

Republican Lawyers Organize Civic Society.

A group of 30 young Republican lawyers formulated plans yesterday at a meeting at Century Boat Club, 5500 South Broadway, for an association to take an active part in civic affairs. Edward C. Schneider presided as temporary chairman, and it was stated that one of the purposes of those present was to endeavor to maintain clean elections and investigate reports of padded registrations, and to assist in the prosecution of persons charged with election frauds.

Arthur G. Heyne acted as temporary secretary. Rodney Fairfield, Eugene Guise, Earl Kornfeld, William E. Buder and George Fittge were appointed a committee to draft articles of incorporation.

St. Louisan Named Moderator.
OBERLIN, O., June 27.—The Rev. Dr. William F. Ehn, assistant to the president of Oberlin College, is the new chairman of the commission on missions of the general council of the Congregational and Christian churches. He succeeds the Rev. Jay T. Stocking of St. Louis, who yesterday was elected moderator of the council.

LAYS TALK OF 'REDS'
TO LABOR EXPLOITERSGen. Pelham D. Glassford Charges Imperial Valley Officials Are Tools of Growers.

BRAWLEY, Cal., June 27.—Criticism of Imperial Valley officials and organizations by Brigadier-General Pelham D. Glassford, who has been investigating labor conditions in the valley under appointment of Secretary of Labor Perkins, drew sharp rejoinders today.

Preparing to leave the valley after two months' inquiry, the former Washington police chief submitted to the county supervisors yesterday a report condemning various conditions. He recommended a grand jury inquiry conducted by the State Attorney-General instead of the District Attorney to whom he, in effect, attributed prejudice and bias.

The report charged tyrannical rule by certain officials, deliberate creation of a "Communist hysteria" by a group of growers seeking cheap labor and others involved in labor cases.

Glassford expressed belief that B. A. Harrigan, Agricultural Commissioner, had "not always made fair and impartial use of his powers" and suggested that the Board of Supervisors remove him.

"I can only say that my record is an open book of which I am proud," Harrigan said later. "For 11 years I have been County Agricultural Commissioner of Imperial County, and I stand by my actions, which have been progressive, for the enforcement of the law, and for the best interests of this county."

"General Glassford's self-humiliation has evidently warped his judgment and he has made statements smearing under the lash he has applied to himself."

The Brawley News said editorially: "Glassford has left the valley."

thoroughly discredited. Nowhere in any part of his report does he mention the basic cause for our troubles. He takes no cognizance of the fact that professional red agitators injected themselves upon this valley and that they alone are responsible for the (labor) disturbances experienced during the present year.

"Poverty and Squalor." Discussing workers' living conditions, Glassford referred to "poverty and squalor" and said "very few Mexican families of agricultural workers are able to maintain a decent existence."

He said he was convinced a group of growers had "exploited a Communist hysteria for the advancement of their own interests." He said these growers "have welcomed labor agitation which they could brand as 'red,' as a means of sustaining supremacy by mob rule, thereby preserving what is so essential to their profit, cheap labor—that they have succeeded in drawing into their conspiracy certain county officials who have become the principal tools of their machine."

BOY IS HELD TO GRAND JURY IN ILLINOIS EXTORTION CASE

Clinton Youth Waives Examination on Arraignment Before U. S. Commissioner.

By the Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 27.—Bond of $1500 was placed yesterday over Francis Goodrich, 19 years old, the Clinton youth who has admitted writing extortion letters to prominent persons.

Young Goodrich waived examination and was held for the September grand jury on arraignment before U. S. Commissioner Robert G. Moore. He was brought here last night.

His parents, present at the arraignment, said they were certain they couldn't raise the bond. The father is a railroad switchman, working part time.

Goodrich is alleged to have written letters to Walter S. Gifford, president of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., and to Cornelius Vanderbilt, demanding money. He also is said to have written three letters to Gov. Horner. They contained no threats.

WIDOW FREE TO BURY HUSBAND AFTER 6-MONTH LEGAL DELAY

WHI Had Specified Interment of Dallas Man in St. Louis Cemetery.

DALLAS, Tex., June 27.—Court action here yesterday left Mrs. Zula Burnett, widow of W. A. Burnett, former Dallas business man, who died last December, free to bury him, after six months during which his body has lain in a vault here pending court action on a temporary injunction restraining Mrs. Burnett from proceeding with the burial.

Judge A. T. Work dismissed the injunction yesterday at the instance of the attorneys who sought it originally, contending that they had made a will for Burnett, in which he specified, among other things, that his body should be interred in St. Louis beside that of his first wife.

There is another complication in the case, however. The undertaking company has a suit pending to collect expenses for interring the body in the vault here, at the rate of $3.50 a day since Dec. 25 or about $425. Burnett's estate was estimated at $20,000 at the time of his death. Arrangements for the funeral are delayed pending the return of Mrs. Burnett to Dallas.

The attorneys who obtained the temporary injunction represented Mrs. Elmer Shinnell, 3944, Page boulevard, sister of Burnett's first wife.

NEW FRENCH MOVIE DECREE

President Limits Importations to 94 in Six Months.

PARIS, June 27.—President Lebrun signed a new motion picture decree yesterday, effective for six months from July 1, limiting the number of film importations to 94 and requiring translation or "dubbing" of foreign films in France.

The decree will allow only 15 theaters to show the original versions of imported films with the exception of animated cartoons. The duty on negatives imported after July 1 will be raised 67 per cent.

BOAT COLLISION LAID TO RACE FOR PASSENGERS

Rammed From Behind, Harbor Craft With 100 Aboard Sinks at Lorient, France.

SIX DEAD, 50 HURT; MORE BODIES SOUGHT

Port Authorities Warned Vessels' Owners to Stop Dangerous Maneuvering for Positions.

By The Associated Press. LORIENT, France, June 27.—The business jealousy of competing harbor boat captains was said by authorities today to have caused the collision in which an undetermined number of persons were believed to have drowned yesterday. There were six known victims but authorities searched the harbor for more bodies and checked workers' homes. At least two others were on the missing list.

Owners of the passenger vessels Prosperite and Marie Ange, which crashed near the docks last night, had been warned by port officials to stop their dangerous jockeying for positions.

With 100 arsenal workers aboard, many of them women, the Prosperite was rammed from behind, and sank almost immediately. A strong current flowing through the harbor carried some bodies toward the Bay of Biscay.

At least 50 persons were injured, some seriously. The crash occurred in view of hundreds on the docks. Dockworkers and sailors plunged into the harbor and rescued many passengers.

Six persons taken from the water by divers, died although doctors worked over them for two hours. A fugitive from justice, arrested on the dock, was allowed to aid in the rescue work when he pleaded that he was a good diver.

The public prosecutor and port authorities opened an inquiry into circumstances of the collision. Vessels leaving the port were ordered to keep a sharp lookout for bodies.

Lorient, torn for three days by political rioting forgot party strife for a time. Great crowds lingered about the port.

The Prosperite was raised at low tide early today and towed to anchorage. Some of the boat's frightened passengers managed to put on life belts and floated in the deep water until they could be pulled to safety.

THREE OVERCOME BY HEAT AT TUBERCULOSIS GAME

They Were Participants in Program, Ninth Day Above 90.

Four persons, three of them participants in the Tuberculosis day program at Sportsman's Park, were overcome by the heat yesterday and treated at City Hospital. Today was the ninth consecutive day on which the thermometer registered above 90.

Richard Hein, 18 years old, 5918 Thekla avenue, collapsed at the park after finishing a foot race. Margaret Best, 17, of Collinsville, Ill., and Juliet Knecht, 17, Troy, Ill., were overcome while playing in bands representing their respective communities. A. Edward Lambert, 67, 1903 East Grand avenue, was taken to the hospital from his home.

TRIAL STRATOSPHERE FLIGHT

Inflation Rehearsal Also Is Planned at Rapid City, S. D.

RAPID CITY, S. D., June 27.—A practice inflation and a trial flight to acquaint the ground crew with its job and test air currents probably will be made at the stratosphere bowl tomorrow afternoon and Friday morning, it was announced yesterday.

If weather conditions closely approach those necessary for the major attempt, the inflation rehearsal will be made with a 35,000-cubic foot balloon. After the inflation, the gas will be transferred to a smaller balloon, which will make the brief flight to test air currents above the bowl. The test flight probably will be made by Maj. William A. Kepner, pilot of the main flight, and Capt. Orvil A. Anderson.

Lost Ring Found in Ice Cube. KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 27.—E. E. Allison prides himself on being able to find the diamond ring his wife loses. Once he found it in the back yard, again on the living room rug. Monday night he found it frozen in a pan of ice cubes.

Haldeman-Jullius Make Peace. PITTSBURGH, Kan., June 27.—Mrs. Marcell Haldeman-Jullius and her publisher husband, E. Haldeman-Jullius, have adjusted their differences and a separate maintenance and recovery of money suit filed by her was dismissed yesterday on her motion. Haldeman-Jullius has a publishing house at Girard, Kan.

CLAYTON ENGINEERS FAVOR SEPARATE SEWER SYSTEM

Would Cost $225,500 Compared With $337,500 for Joining County Project.

A separate sewer system for Clayton, estimated to cost $225,500, is favored over the alternate plan of joining the county-wide sewer project, which would cost $337,500, according to a report of engineers filed yesterday in the Circuit Court at Clayton.

A Federal Public Works grant of $40,000 is contemplated in the separate district estimate, which if obtained would reduce the Clayton expenditure to $185,500. The estimate includes payment to the City of St. Louis for the privilege of connecting the main outlet trunk line to the River des Peres project.

The separate district, as planned by the engineers, E. A. Fulton and L. B. Kinsey of Peoria, Ill., includes 1100 acres or three-fourths of the area of Clayton. The western and southern limits follow the city boundaries, and the northeast line is from West drive and Kingsbury avenue to University lane and Clayton road. The district does not include sections adequately sewered.

TAXICAB INVESTIGATION BY ALDERMAN BO

Enforcement of Ordinance requiring Insurance to be Held Up Temporarily

The Legislation Committee of the Board of Aldermen will on Wednesday, June 27, hold a public hearing on a proposed ordinance requiring taxicab drivers to carry liability insurance and which some local cabmen have claimed makes it for them to stay in business cause of high insurance rates. In the meantime, Director Streets and Sewers McDevitt promised the committee that he would not enforce the ordinance until the committee completes its investigation, provided the committee completed the inquiry reasonable time.

The inquiry was decided upon by the Board of Aldermen recently by Alderman West, first Ward, Democratic, of the protests made against law by various cab companies. Alderman Lange, Sixth Ward, Republican, told the committee today that if taxicab drivers

MAN FINED FOR PRACTICING CHIROPY WITHOUT LICENSE

Ben F. Christmann, 4650 Cote Brilliant avenue, who said he had been a foot specialist for 35 years, was fined $200 by Judge Butler in the Court of Criminal Correction yesterday for practicing chiropody without a license. He was fined $100 on each of two charges.
Christmann, who announced he would appeal, denied he was a chiropodist, contending that chiropody involved the use of a knife which he does not employ. Evidence was obtained by a policewoman and a police matron.

DETECTIVE KILLS
MURDER SUSPECT
IN FIGHT IN HOME

Two Men Open Fire On Officer Locked in New York Apartment — Second Policeman Saves
Him.

BREAKS IN DOOR, WOUNDS ASSAILANT

Authorities Had Gone to Place Seeking Filipino
Wanted for Slaying Two Years Ago.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, June 27—Augustine Albano, a Filipino wanted for the murder of a Puerto Rican in Harlem two years ago, was shot and killed in a pistol fight with Detective Aristides Ramos yesterday in Albano's locked apartment. Fred Hernandez, 27, another Filipino, suffered severe lacerations of the scalp.

With Detectives George Monahan and James Powers, Detective Ramos had gone to the apartment to question Albano about the Harlem murder. On the way they recognized and picked up Arceles Morales, wanted for questioning about a series of burglaries in Brooklyn, and when they reached their destination Powers remained in the automobile in front of the building to guard Morales.
Mounting to the second floor of the old brown stone house, with Monahan following him, Ramos knocked on the door of the apartment, and Albano, in his underwear, opened the door slightly. As soon as he saw Ramos' badge he tried to shut the door. Ramos got into the room, but the door was slammed and locked before Monahan could follow him.

Hernandez, in bed in the next room, opened fire on Ramos with an automatic pistol, Ramos says, and as Ramos, standing in the doorway, returned the fire, Albano also produced a pistol and began to shoot at the detective.
Monahan, breaking in the panel of the door, fired one shot. That shot is believed to have been the one that struck Albano in the arm, saving Ramos' life. He then reached through the broken panel, turned the lock and entered the room as Albano, wounded again, fell fatally wounded, and Ramos, using his pistol, knocked Hernandez out.

John J. Sullivan, Assistant Chief Inspector, in charge of detectives, said that Hernandez would be charged with felonious assault. Bullets from the two men's weapons are being examined by experts to see whether the pistols can be linked with unsolved crimes.
Following the pistol fight 11 bullets were found embedded in the floor and near the door through which the two detectives had entered the apartment.
Assistant District Attorney Saul
Price, who arrived on the scene with Police Commissioner O'Ryan, questioned Hernandez. It was learned that Albano and Hernandez had moved into the apartment last Friday, paying $12 a week rent for the two rooms they occupied. A tip to the police apparently started Detective Ramos in search of Albano.

ROOSEVELT'S FEET
ON GROUND, FARLEY SAYS

Tells Rotary Session at Detroit, President Won't Be Misled By Impractical Theorists.

By the Associated Press.
DETROIT, Mich., June 27.—Postmaster-General James A. Farley told delegates at the convention of Rotary International today that there was no danger that any college professor would lead President Roosevelt off on a haphazard adventure. He said the President's departure from the old practices of "rugged individualism" was long-planned and was now beginning to pay dividends.

"I know of no man with a more definite mind than his," said Farley.
"I know of no executive less likely to be swayed by impractical theories, regardless of their source, than the President. This program was worked out in Mr. Roosevelt's mind before he was even nominated for the presidency. There is nothing impulsive about him except the impulse to serve his country and you may be sure that his head is cool and his feet are on the ground at all times."

the University of Missouri, returned to Columbia yesterday following his discharge from Barnes

vancement.
He made the trip home by automobile, accompanied by Mrs. Williams.

Balder Shoots at Self in Mirror.
By the Associated Press.
OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok., June 27.
—Groping through the darkened rooms of a well-furnished home in search for a still, Deputy Sheriff

George Kerr saw something move.
He whipped out his pistol and fired.
There was a crash of falling glass.
He was shooting at his own reflection in two full-length mirrors.
Later he found the still he was looking for.

LIZZY, SEEKING DEANS' 21ST VICTORY, TO OPPOSE GIANTS

Cards Bunch 10 of 13 Hits in Three Innings To Win for Paul, 13-7

By J. Roy Stockton.

Paul Dean ran the family's string of victories to 20 yesterday afternoon when he defeated the Giants, 13 to 7, for his own tenth triumph of the season. Jerome Herman will try today to make it 21, in the final game of the series, and if they had only been quintuplets, that pennant race would have been won long ago.

It was Paul's third straight decision and the family's fifth over the world champions, the brothers having accounted for five of the Cardinals' six 1934 triumphs over Bill Terry's team.

Dizzy will have to be at his best to square the series, as he will draw Hal Schumacher for his opponent and the young college right-hander throws a wicked over-hand "downer" that baffles the best sluggers when he is right.

Paul was baited harder than usual as he took the Giants' measure to reduce their lead over the Redbirds to three games, but despite the 15 New York safeties, including homers by Travis Jackson and Melvin Ott, it was an impressive exhibition of pitching. The Cardinals were in good batting form themselves and with the aid of a wild throw to the plate by Hughie Critz, made the first inning produce four runs.

Something in Reserve.

With one out in the third, Joe Moore singled and scored on Critz's double and Hughie went home on Terry's single, but Paul quickly showed mastery of the situation as he retired Ott and Jackson on pop fouls.

Al Smith was knocked out in the third, as the Cardinals doubled their total and gave Paul a six-run working margin. Medwick struck the attack with a triple to left-center and when Collins doubled against the pavilion screen, Terry waved Smith to the showers and called on Joe Bowman, the young man who triumphed yesterday at the Polo Grounds. Joe disposed of Davis and Fullis, but Durocher walked and Dean lined a single over second, to score Collins and send Durocher to third. A pass ball to the first base and Rothrock singled to center, scoring Durocher and Dean.

Before the Giants did any more scoring, the Redbirds increased their total to 13 runs. With one out in the fifth Martin walked, Rothrock fanned, Frisch tripled, Medwick walked, Collins singled, Davis tripled and Fullis doubled and though Bowman looks hungry for help from the bull pen, Terry made him stay in and take the inning's full measure of punishment.

With such a commanding lead it was natural for Paul to do a bit of coasting. Ott singled and Jackson hit a homer to start the sixth and when Leiber singled, Frisch ordered the bull pen to swing into action. But Paul was footling. He struck out Ryan and gave Richards a double play curve and the inning was quickly over.

Ryan's scratch single and Castleman's double, a short fly that bounced to the pavilion wall when Rothrock missed an attempt at a shoe string catch, gave the Giants a run in the eighth and Grant's double and Ott's 19th homer of the season produced two more in the ninth. Vergez followed with a double, but again Paul showed that he was not worn out. He fanned Leiber, disposed of Ryan at a fly and Whitehead, who had replaced Martin at third, ended the game with a fancy stop of Richards' hot drive.

Browns Make 16 Hits, But Lose; Pitchers Grumble at New Ball

By James M. Gould.

Of the Post-Dispatch Sports Staff.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—"Pitchers," said Manager Rogers Hornsby the Browns today, apropos of nothing—which is what his present staff amounts to—"pitchers." There ain't any, at least from the way they've gone on this trip. I haven't any.

"Throwers? Sure, a whole flock of them. Good throwers, too, but they ain't pitchers. Wouldn't I like to have a Bill Doak, a Phil Douglas or a Grover Alexander who could put the ball where he wanted to put it and wasn't afraid to catch a cricket bat. What did Harris get? Sure, you guessed it—a fast one. Another triple.

"I took McAfee out then and put in Newsum who, you must admit, ain't he's pretty good. We were still a run to the good but he gets down to three and two on Kress and then—certainly, another fast one, a single and the score is tied.

"Now, I contend that a pitcher who has to depend on his fast ones when he just has to get the ball over isn't a pitcher at all, he's a thrower."

The Rajah was certainly justified in his outburst for the brand of pitching the Browns got in the third game of the series with Washington was decidedly "throwerish." Why the Browns are including three doubles, a triple and a home-run. But after it was all over they had nothing to show for the afternoon but a 10-9 defeat.

After the Browns' sixth, Hornsby's club had a two-run lead. It was the Washington half, it was all tied up. In the seventh, the Browns took a three run lead; after the Washington eighth, it was all tied up again.

Then in the ninth Newsum, called upon to save the game, let Myers single to start. Stone sacrificed and Manush was headed on intentional pass. Then, the old trouble—3 on Cronin, a fast ball, a single and the winning run was over.

Pitchers of all clubs are complaining of the new and shiny and lively ball. They say a pitcher can't handle it, can't control it, and that it slides and takes unexpected twists when it leaves the pitcher's hands.

Happenings on this trip rather bear out the hurlers' contention. Hadley, whose control is fair, has hit two men on the head and knocked one out. In Boston it was Eddie Morgan, the Sox first baseman. Yesterday, here, Hadley felled Catcher Luke Sewell and Luke had to be carried off the field on a stretcher.

There was no fracture in Sewell's case—Morgan even got back later in the game—but Luke will have to stay in the hospital for a day or so, under observation. Then, yesterday, a pitched ball, not touched by the batter, took a freakish break and sprained one of Frank Grube's fingers.

So, the hurlers contend the ball is not only lively and gives the batter a big advantage, but also that it is smooth and slippery, they say, and the glass stays on even after hard rubbing.

Browns' Trip Ends Today.

Today ends this rather sad trip. Of the 24 games played, Hornsby's men have won eight, tied one and lost 15. The final with Washington will find George Blasholder, the prominent pitcher who seems able to finish a game, opposing the Senators who will use Al Thomas, a serviceable right-hander.

That injury to Grube leaves the Browns with only one catcher. It may be necessary to restore Grover Hartley to the status of player. And, they could go farther and fare worse. The coach still can catch a good ball game.

Kress' hit, which drove in the tying run in the eighth, was his first in the tournament. The former Brownie, has been up 12 times with just that hit.

That old Hornsby punch was prominent again yesterday. Campbell played right bat in the sixth inning, the Rajah elected to bat for Knott. Manager Cronin took out Southpaw Burke and substituted Ed Right-Hander Jack Russell, but after the Browns' sixth, Hornsby poked the ball to right-center for a double, scoring two runners. Rounding second, he tripped and was thrown out at third. Nothing serious, however, it is certain that Hornsby's legs or feet will no longer permit any regular playing.

He'll be able to go in now and then, but infrequently.

When you're going badly, everything goes wrong. Take that eighth inning when the Senators made three runs to tie at 9-9. Stone, first

MISS DIERBERGER REACHES GIRLS' TOURNAMENT FINAL

Pro Tennis Troupe's Tour a Flop; Tilden And Others Carry On

NEW YORK, June 27.—DUE to a pronounced slump in gate receipts, the Bill Tilden tennis troupe cancelled the remainder of its regular schedule.

Manufacturers of tennis supplies withdrew their support. Ellsworth Vines returned to California for a rest, and other stars went home.

Chicago, St. Louis, Milwaukee, Memphis, Cincinnati and Indianapolis are affected by the cancellations. In a telegram to the Professional Lawn Tennis Association here, Tilden said that he, Alfred Chapin, Bruce Barnes, Keith Goddard and Morton Buserstein would continue on an exhibition tour.

By Davison Ober.

Marjorie Dierberger advanced to the final in the girls' singles in the St. Louis District tennis tournament, now in progress on the Lewis Park courts, by defeating Martha Bixby in straight sets, 6-0, 6-0, in a semi-final match this morning. Miss Dierberger completely outplayed her opponent.

In the boys' singles quarter-finals, Charles Eberle won from Joe Mitchell, 6-3, 6-1, while James Johnson eliminated Wilson Rabinowitz, 6-3, 6-3.

Mark Martin Jr., former St. Louis University High player, advanced to the quarter-final round of the St. Louis District Junior Tennis championship by defeating McLeod Stephens, Country Day School player, at Lewis Park, yesterday afternoon, 7-5, 6-0, 6-2.

The match was Martin's second of the day. In the first, he eliminated "Bud" Hoer of John Burroughs, 6-1, 6-2. Martin found stronger opposition from Stephens than he had anticipated and was forced to a hard three-set battle. Stephens, who is 16 years of age, exhibited a very modern style of play and with another year's experience, should be right at the top in junior tennis in the St. Louis district.

The eight seeded players in the junior singles entered the quarter-final round, but it is doubtful if all of the first four seeded players will remain in the tournament after today.

PLAYS 343 HOLES OF GOLF IN 23 1/2 HOURS; CLAIMS A NEW RECORD

SALT LAKE CITY, June 27.—The world golfing marathon record today had a new claimant—Bob Swanson of Los Angeles, who played 343 holes in 23 1/2 hours on the Nibley course here.

Using only a No. 3 iron for all shots and armed with a powerful flashlight for illumination during the night hours, Swanson averaged about 40 on the nine-hole course and had a best round of 35.

Swanson is the third record claimant within a week, the last previous mark having been made by Jim Ford, who toured 335 holes in 24 hours at Portland, Ore.

WRAX COLVMN

Taking Racing for a Ride?
ILLINOIS legislators are trying to figure out a way to squish a little more revenue out of racing. That may have a backfire which will end in no revenue. Taking anything beyond its capacity to pay usually wipes out the tax-producing source.

The legislators, however, propose to get the money by raising the tax on admission to a race track and on the betting. At present there is no tax on betting. Race tracks pay a daily tax in advance of the advance of the meeting. There is also a tax on admission to a race track.

The State could increase its revenue from racing in Illinois if it would change its form of taxation. General Manager Eddy of Fairmount told the Post-Dispatch, when informed of the legislators' conference with the Governor about revenue.

"Furthermore, the change could be made without injuring the tracks. That could be accomplished by abolishing the daily tax, which now has a maximum of $2500, and permitting race tracks to take a 10 per cent instead of 5 1/2, giving to the State 2 1/2 per cent.

There is no even reasonable argument in favor of professionalizing a foot-racer because he plays baseball; or football player because he makes money on the side as a hockey star. If there is a sound defense of the universal professionalization theory we have yet to hear it.

What Happened to Thorpe.

ONE of the greatest injustices ever done in amateur athletics history was to the reputation of Jim Thorpe in his day the greatest all-around athlete ever developed. He won the Olympic decathlon and set records in doing it. He was awarded highest honors and magnificent prizes.

Then, months later, it was discovered that he had played "summer baseball" for the Wilmot Salem baseball club. His Olympic honors were taken from him and he was forced to return his splendid prizes. His name was stricken from his records.

The only possible justification for the action in Thorpe's case was that he played baseball under an assumed name. And yet, as the absurd discrimination of his college—Carleton College—and the Amateur Athletic Union which forced him to conceal his identity under a fictitious name. Time for the Intercollegiate Athletic Association and the A. U. to take a more liberal view of this professional situation.

Twelve of the 16 remaining in the hunt are comparative youngsters in the title competition. The card this afternoon consists of one match between two promising players. In it Jimmy Massey, Meadow Brook, will oppose a young player, Elliot Whitworth. Both have won the district championship and have met in various tournaments six times, with Massey winning.

MANION AND WHITBREAD MEET IN DISTRICT GOLF FEATURE

COCHRAN PLAYS HELD IN SECOND ROUND BATTLE;
O'BRIEN BEATEN

By W. J. McGowan.

Champions are not safe from onslaughts of younger players in St. Louis district golf tournaments this year. It seems. For, after Miss Sara Guth, a first year competitor, won the women's championship, Jimmy Massey, a Norwood Hills youngster, comes along to knock off Chester O'Brien, Missouri amateur champion and medalist in the present district event.

And so at Normandy Golf Club today O'Brien will sit on the sidelines and watch his youthful conqueror tackle Roger Lord, Algonquin veteran.

Twelve of the 16 remaining in the title hunt are comparative youngsters in the title competition, but the cast this afternoon contains one match between two members of the old guard which promises to be full of action. In it Jimmy Manion, Meadow Brook, will oppose his fellow employe, Elliott Whitbread. Both have won the district championship and have met in various tournaments six times, with honors about even.

Cochran Opposes Held. Bob Cochran, Norwood Hills, defending champion, will oppose Bobby Held, Forest Park, in another bout, which may be a thriller, for these two met in the recent State tournament at Kansas City and Held carried Cochran to the nineteenth hole before losing. Held is back on his game this year, playing splendidly and seemingly in position to beat out the early promise which he gave a few years ago, when he was just starting.

In another contest between experienced youngsters, Mike Roach, Westborough, plays Frank Bredell, present Western and district junior title holder. Roach, before he passed the age limit of 21, won the district junior.

Bredell is looked upon as one of the real comers in the district. Frank goes along winning matches and saving little. He defeated Sidney Salomon Jr., Westwood, 1 up, in a hard fought match yesterday, while Roach finished with birdies on the seventh and eighteenth holes to eliminate Bill Vollmer, another newcomer in championship play, who recently won the Sunset Hill Country Club title.

Massey Eliminates O'Brien. Massey's victory over O'Brien was, of course, the big news of the first round. Chester was not on his game, shooting an approximate 81, while Massey had an 80.

They started out with somewhat ragged golf, but O'Brien held a one up lead at the end of the first nine holes, despite a 40, but coming in he lost two in succession to be one down. They then halved two, and Chester won the fourteenth with a 5, against a 6 for Massey, to square the match. But the youngster came through with a par on the fifteenth to take the lead again, and they halved the remaining holes.

On the final hole the 240-yard, par 3, eighteenth, Massey drove his ball far off the line to the right, while O'Brien was just off the green to the right. Jimmy came through with a fine pitch shot to the green, while O'Brien also got on. Chester missed his desperate putt from 20 feet and Massey was down in two to halve the hole and win.

Dick Bockenkamp, Algonquin, another familiar figure in golf, was about St. Louis, scored a notable victory in disposing of John W. Roberts, Glen Echo, 4 and 3. Bockenkamp was on his home game and hitting the ball well.

Friedlein Defeats Hepler. Mike Friedlein, a fine legion of golfers who learned the game in Forest Park, now playing from University, won something of a comeback victory over Jim Kearney, Woodlawn, 7 and 6. Mike's approach was working in first style and he had numerous one-putt greens.

Paul Kiebler, Algonquin, defeated Jack Berkley, Woodlawn, captain of the Kirkwood High School team, who recently won the school team title. Kiebler, a terrific hitter off the tee, was somewhat wild with his drives, but had his putter working nicely.

Jimmy Manion was hard pressed to defeat Ollie Bockenkamp, Forest Park, 2 and 1. Ollie is a brother of Dick and a fellow member of the police force with Ray Gates, also of Forest Park. Gates qualified in Class A but the first round got him there just the same when lost to little Louie Wasson, Woodlawn, 1 down in 19 holes.

Louie scored a 3 and 2 victory over Tom Tierney, Westborough, former St. Louis U. football star, and Tom remarked later that he had never won a tournament match in the four events in which he has competed.

Whitbread eliminated Stockton, Osage, 3 and 1.

Kellman in Third Round. Harold Kellman won his way to the third round of Class B with a 5 and 5 victory over Jack Barns, Osage, 2 and 1.

Ernie Beck, Norwood Hills, had to travel an extra hole in his Class A contest to defeat Frank Maloney, Forest Park, 1 up. A sprinkler was in Beck's way on the sixteenth green, he said, which cost him the hole.

Start and Winner of the Boys' Marathon at Sportsman's Park

Edward Joyce, the winner of the event, is shown below. The field started at Sportsman's Park and finished there after following a course through Fairgrounds Park. Joyce finished several yards ahead of Frank Wright, second, and Milton Schmiedeknecht, third. Joyce lives at 5066 Lucille avenue and a few days ago won the two-mile race for boys conducted by the C. E. C. Alumni Association.

26 Olympic Stars and 19 U. S. Champions Entered in National A. A. U. Track Meet at Milwaukee

By the Associated Press.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 27.—"The greatest and most colorful National A. A. U. entry list within my memory," was the description Lawson Robertson, coach of the American Olympic track teams of 1924, 1928 and 1932, gave of the roster of the forty-seventh American Outdoor Track and Field Championships here, Friday and Saturday.

Twenty-six members of the 1932 Olympic team, defending national champions in 19 events and all but one of the 15 winners in the intercollegiate in Los Angeles last week, will be present to seek A. A. U. honors and a place on the all-star teams to tour Japan and Sweden this summer.

"The Olympic games of 1932," Robertson said, "furnished the track show of the century, of course. I can't recall, however, when the national meet has attracted such a wide variety of the very best talent as it has this year. It will be a great program all the way, but I expect to see the greatest race of them all when Glenn Cunningham, Bill Bonthron and

Cooper and Armour in 2d Playoff for Illinois Honors

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 27.—For the second year in succession, Harry Cooper of Chicago tangled with his old rival, Tommy Armour, in an 18-hole playoff today for the Illinois State professional golf championship.

As the silver Scot all but collapsed in the terrific 95-degree heat yesterday, Lighthouse Harry rode in with another of his spectacular par-breaking finishes to shoot a 68 and tie the 26-hole count at 141 blows.

Because of his finish and his victory over Armour last year by six shots, Cooper was a big favorite to win today's playoff and retain his championship.

GOLDMAN, EATON SHOOT 71S TO LEAD T-M GOLF

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DALLAS, Tex., June 27.—Zell Eaton of Oklahoma City and David (Spec) Goldman of Dallas led the pack at the halfway mark today in the Trans-Mississippi qualifying rounds headed into the final 18. Par over Brook Hollow's well-trapped expanse remained untapped as the big field hammered away. Match play begins tomorrow.

Eaton, medalist in both the Trans-Mississippi tourney and the Western open play last year, turned in a sizzling card on the out round, with 33, two under par. But coming back he faded and needed 38 strokes to finish. He was alternately erratic and deadly accurate.

Goldman was consistent throughout. He turned in a steady 36 going out, and came back just as evenly for 37.

Wilson Schoellkopf, young Dallas linksman, fell below the two leaders in a deadlock with Johnny Dawson of Chicago with 72.

Close on their heels were O'Hara Watts and Harry Todd of Dallas, with 73's. Johnny Goodman, former national open champion, and one of the favored four or five expected to make the semifinals, fell to 74.

W. Lawson Little, British amateur champion of San Francisco, marched along with a 75.

Most serious disappointment to Texans was the showing of Gus Moreland, defending champion and early favorite, and Reynolds Smith, secondary Texas threat to the 1934 title. Moreland, wobbly off the tee and indifferent with his irons, turned in a poor 78. Smith went even more off his usual game and carded an 80.

Glen Elliott, husky shot putter of the Marquette University team, also is a vocal socialist and appeared in this spring concert of the Marquette chorus.

SARAH PALFREY, MISS BABCOCK IN THIRD ROUND AT WIMBLEDON

By the Associated Press.

WIMBLEDON, England, June 27.—Carolyn Babcock of Los Angeles, the dark-haired, stylish little girl who pinks fifth in American women's tennis, advanced to the third round of the all-England tennis championships today with a sparkling victory over Mlle. Colette Rosambert, French covered court title holder. The scores were 7-5, 6-2.

Miss Babcock's victory was the first featured match of a day given over mainly to completion of the second round of the women's singles, in which the field is seeking the title defaulted by Mrs. Helen Wills Moody.

Playing in shorts, Miss Babcock appeared flustered at the outset, but soon got her bearings and had the big crowd cheering her enthusiastically as she whipped over a series of flashing drives, came from behind to win the first set and then easily captured the second. The California girl had drawn a first round bye.

None of the American contenders in the men's singles was scheduled to resume play until tomorrow.

Miss Palfrey Is Winner. Sarah Palfrey of Boston, American Wightman cup heroine and one of the "seeded" favorites, took the measure of Miss E. M. Dearman, tenth ranking English player, 6-3, 6-2.

Miss Palfrey quickly got her game in working order after dropping two of the first three games. With the count at 3-all she scored with some beautiful volleys as she ran out the set. A light drizzle of rain fell during the second set.

During the turf of the center court so slippery that Miss Dearman took a bad spill. The English girl was trailing 1-3 on games at the time and her resistance thereafter was weaker. Miss Palfrey dashed to the net at every opportunity and out off many of her rival's returns for placements.

Dorothy Round, the No. 1 English player, easily defeated Miss E. V. Montgomery of England, 6-0, 6-1.

Virginia Rice of Boston, ninth ranking American player, put up a great fight before she was eliminated by Mrs. Harry C. Hopman of Australia, 6-4, 10-8.

Hopman was four times at match point before winning.

Mrs. Wittingstall Advances. Eileen Bennett Wittingstall, the comely British girl who eliminated Betty Nuthall yesterday, advanced to the third round by beating Miss F. K. Scott of England, 6-0, 7-6, 6-1.

Chili Ausman, second ranking German player and one of the "seeded" entries, scored decisively over Mrs. R. M. Turnbull of England, 6-0, 6-1.

Gottfried von Cramm, top ranking German in the men's singles and one of the tournament favorites, had relatively little difficulty disposing of the giant New Zealand No. 1, E. D. Andrews, by scores of 6-1, 8-4, 6-4.

Margaret (Peggy) Scriven, English star, defeated Mrs. J. S. Kirk of England, 6-0, 6-1.

Austin Bennett Turnbull. H. W. (Bunny) Austin, British Davis cup star, flashed top form in routing the young Australian, Don F. Turnbull, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3. Austin thereby gained his quarter-final bracket.

Jack Crawford of Australia, the defending champion, steadied down and easily polished off Ian Collins in the last three sets, losing only three games in the third round by the margin of scores of 4-6, 6-2, 6-1.

Frank Shields, top-ranking American, and his British partner, Nigel Sharpe, scored a doubles victory over J. H. Knott and G. Leemburg, of Holland, 6-1, 6-0, 6-2.

Glen Elliott, husky shot putter of the Marquette University team, also is a vocal socialist and appeared in this spring concert of the Marquette chorus.

W. Lawson Little, British amateur champion of San Francisco, marched along with a 75.

ALLEGED 'FINGER MAN' IN TORTURE DEATH ON TRIAL

Sylvester Campbell, Live-stock Salesman, Faces Charges at Fairfield, Ill., in Slaying of Recluse.

2 OTHERS SERVING 17-YEAR TERMS

Defendant Says He Was Forced Under Threats of Being Killed to Supply Names of Wealthy Men.

By the Associated Press. FAIRFIELD, Ill., June 27.—Sylvester Campbell went on trial here yesterday charged with the torture slaying of Fremont Pearce, a wealthy recluse residing at Cline, Ill., on July 13, 1932.

Campbell is alleged to be the "finger man" in the murder. Two other men are now serving 17-year penitentiary sentences for their part in the crime.

Circuit Judge Joe Hill of Benton is presiding.

Pearce died Aug. 5 following the alleged torturing. He had asserted his assailants held matches and hot irons to his skin, kicked him and pulled out his toe nails with pinners. The hidden wealth he was supposed to have did not exist, Pearce said, and the robbers obtained only $26, a watch and several trinkets.

Announced Confession.

After arresting Charles Roy, 38 years old, of Collinsville; Raymond Mallinco, 25, Granite City, and Roy Price, 24, authorities of Wayne County, Illinois, announced on Aug. 24, 1932, that they had obtained a confession from Campbell, 52-year-old livestock salesman of East St. Louis, that he furnished the names of the Cline, Ill., recluse to the three men. Mallinco and Roy were convicted on Dec. 21, 1932, and sentenced to 17 years each in the penitentiary. Price had been released at the request of the state.

Campbell, who was known to his associates as "Ves," asserted that he furnished Pearce's name to the robbers under a threat of death.

Campbell, in an oral confession which was related by Deputy Sheriff Joseph G. Schrader of East St. Louis, who was responsible for his arrest, is alleged to have said that late in June, before the attack on Pearce he was driving home from the stockyards when a man forced his way into his machine, pressed a revolver against his side and directed him to drive to Eagle Park.

Blindfolded and Tied.

On reaching the park the man was met by two others unknown to Campbell. Campbell was blindfolded and his hands tied behind his back with wire. The men demanded the names of wealthy cattle shippers, who sent stock into the stockyards. They threatened to make him 'dig his own grave' unless he furnished them with the names. Campbell said he furnished them with names and then recalled that Pearce was reputed to be wealthy so he mentioned him with several others.

Campbell, in his confession as related by Deputy Sheriff Schrader, said he was to get 10 per cent of the proceeds of their operations. He said that when the gang got back from Cline they told him it was a "water haul," meaning that they had failed to get anything.

Campbell had been employed at the National Stockyards for 10 years and has a wife and two children. He had no previous police record.

OPEN VERDICT IN DEATH OF BOY SHOT BY OFFICER

Herrin (Ill.) Night Policeman Fired When Auto Did Not Stop at His Command.

MARION, Ill., June 27.—After deliberating an hour and a half, a coroner's jury yesterday returned an open verdict with no recommendations in the death of Albert Pellegrini, 19-year-old Herrin youth shot by George Telfrey, Herrin night police officer, when the car in which the boy was riding with several other youths did not stop at the officer's command.

Companions of Pellegrini who were in the car when the officer fired, testified they did not see the policeman and they thought the shots he fired in an effort to stop them, were firecrackers until they saw Pellegrini was wounded. The boy died in the hospital a few hours after he was shot.

NEW BANKRUPTCY LAW INTERPRETED BY JUDGE FARIS

Lengthy Oral Opinion on Intent Accompanies Dismissal of Suit Against Laclede Gas Co.

In dismissing a bondholders' petition for reorganization of the Laclede Gas Light Co., under the new corporation bankruptcy law yesterday, Federal Judge Faris gave a lengthy oral opinion interpreting the intent of the law and discouraging the filing of involuntary petitions by creditors except in "the most compelling cases."

The petitioners held $5,000 of the company's bonds.

Judge Faris' opinion was that although the law contained a provision enabling creditors to file an involuntary proceeding, it was intended primarily for corporations desiring to take advantage of it voluntarily.

"To permit any three creditors having the required qualifications to come in and disrupt every struggling business," he said, "would soon result in a series of unseemly scrambles which would be disastrous to business and well-nigh a disgrace to the courts."

Finds Company Solvent.

Evidence adduced at the hearing on the petition indicated the company was "fully solvent," he held. Bonded indebtedness had been placed at about $35,000,000 and assets had been valued at more than $65,000,000.

Judge Faris found, however, that the company was unable to meet its maturing obligations.

"This is partly due," he said, "not to a lack of earnings, which in a sense are colossal, but to a failure to provide from those earnings, a sinking fund against lean years and to application of earnings which might well have been put in a sinking fund, to payment of dividends on common stock."

E. L. White, secretary-treasurer of the Laclede, had testified that gross earnings for the last nine years ranged from $1,227,077 to $5,659,854 annually, with net varying between $622,812 and $1,779,552.

Comment on Bond Extension Plan.

Judge Faris expressed the opinion that the company's plan for extension of its $10,000,000 bond issue which matured unpaid last April 1 would afford ample relief to the company and to its creditors. He declared explicitly, however, that he was not giving his judicial approval to the plan since it was not before him for decision.

Irl B. Rosenblum, representing the petitioning bondholders together with Louis Mayer and John G. Tobin, had attacked the extension plan as unfair.

Taking up a point in dispute between Rosenblum and the company's lawyers, Judge Faris held that the mere application for a receiver for the gas company did not bring the reorganization petition within the law. Another bondholder's application for a receiver and for foreclosure was set for hearing before Faris today.

"The law provides," he said, "that if neither a prior proceeding in bankruptcy nor an equity receivership is pending, then it must be alleged and proved that the alleged debtor has within four months committed an act of bankruptcy."

"There is some ambiguity as to what is meant by an equity receivership, I think not only the term itself, but the reason of the thing and the reports in Congress during passage of the act clearly indicate what Congress had in mind. True, the word pending means undecided, depending, but it also means in existence, going on."

Receiver Sought Merely Incident.

"Here a prior suit has been filed to foreclose a mortgage, in which a receiver is sought merely as an incident. The equity receivership held in mind by Congress, I think, is one in which the Court takes charge of the debtor's property and apportions it among creditors."

The contention of the petitioners that the foreclosure suit was a pending receivership, Judge Faris continued, "would leave open the road for the filing of a proceeding such as the one at bar in every case where a corporation, although eminently solvent, was yet presently embarrassed by lack of cash."

"Congress could not have intended to leave open such a wide road to collusion, financial chaos and disaster if it had stopped to consider the dire legal consequence of its action, and it must be presumed that Congress did give these consequences full consideration."

"Largely the act must have been to enable crippled business to carry on pending a better day and to do equity and justice both to debtor and creditors, without destroying both by complicated and expensive litigation."

CONFECTIONER IS INDICTED IN DEATH OF JOHN KOSIN

NEED ENERGY?

Here's the latest word from Science on increasing Vim and Energy...quickly!

Today we call attention again to important facts which were presented to smokers in a recent item in this paper.

Perhaps you overlooked it. We repeat:

You can release new vigor, when tired, by smoking a Camel.

This comes from the "energizing effect" in

Camels as recently confirmed and described by a famous New York scientific laboratory. Everyone gets fatigued...cross...down in the dumps...when his energy is used up. But the way to turn on more energy has now been pointed out, by actual Camel smokers who tell of their own experiences. And by up-to-date research made in the laboratories of science. And so—"get a lift with a Camel!" Any time you want to enjoy yourself or restore yourself. Steady smoking need not concern Camel smokers, since the finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS in Camels never get on your nerves.

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic—than any other popular brand.

FIGHT IN COURT FOR CONTROL OF MISSOURI-KANSAS NATURAL GAS LINE

F. P. Parish, Its Builder to Offer Telegrams From H. L. Doherty to C. E. Mitchell of National City Bank to Back His Claim

SAYS CONSPIRACY FORCED HIM OUT

Asserts Columbia Co. Seeking Control, Rejected Through Subsidiary Available Markets, Including St. Louis.

By MARQUEE CHILDS, Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WILMINGTON, Del., June 27.—Here opened here today a hearing in Chancery Court, before Chancellor Josiah O. Wolcott, to determine who is ultimately to control the 30-mile Missouri-Kansas pipe line system that carries natural gas through half a dozen states from the Texas Panhandle to a terminus in the Illinois-Indiana State line. Because of the mass of testimony to be presented, Chancellor Wolcott insisted upon appointment of a special Master in Chancery. He wanted attorneys for both sides that they could not agree he would name Master who would start hearing testimony today, but so many factors are involved that it is believed agreement on an impartial Master may be somewhat delayed.

Most of the big utility companies have had a part during the last four years in the financial struggle to secure this $20,000,000 property. The stake is large and the fight has been ruthless and prolonged. The fate of half a dozen individuals, men who once wielded great wealth and power, has turned on this struggle. Incidentally, too, there has been involved the issue of cheap gas for the consumer.

In the present hearing one factor will attempt to show that St. Louis, Cincinnati, Dayton and half a dozen other cities in the Middle West were prevented from obtaining a cheap and abundant supply of natural gas through the efforts of the opposing faction to gain control of the pipe line system.

Two Factions Involved.

While it is ostensibly a hearing to resolve the financial tangle of the Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line Co., the Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co., the Panhandle Corporation and other subsidiary and holding companies, so interlocked and interrelated that only the lawyers in the case can see through the maze, two principal factions emerge.

On the one hand is Frank F. Parish who began seven years ago to build a pipe line system that supplied Kansas City, Mo., and surrounding towns with natural gas from a small but highly productive field that Parish had developed in the Texas Panhandle. Parish encountered difficulties until he began to reach out for larger markets, building a longer line with a much greater carrying capacity.

Under pressure for money to finish this construction Parish resorted to various expedients which were then familiar to utility promoters. From time to time he secured a stay of financial life with temporary loans but finally he entered into a deal with the National City Co., headed by banker Charles Mitchell, and the Columbia Oil & Gas Corporation, controlled in part at least, by the Morgan bank. Hereby Parish surrendered to Columbia a half interest in the pipe line system.

Opposed to Parish is the Columbia Corporation. By the terms of an agreement between the Delaware receivers of the bankrupt Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line Co. and a note-holders' protective committee of the same concern, the Columbia Corporation would gain full control of the pipe line system. It would effect this through complete ownership of the Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co. Also under agreement, the Missouri-Kansas Co. would drop certain suits against Columbia—perhaps the old natural gas company operating in the Eastern field—charging failure to live up to gas purchasing contracts. It is this agreement, highly opposed by Parish, which is the bone of contention in today's hearing.

Parish Charges Conspiracy.

At the age of 37, looking more like a college football player than a promoter, Parish is bent on winning the system that he built. Frankly admitting that he is broke, he says he will prove that it was a conspiracy on the part of powerful utility and oil interests

Says Probation and Parole Are Crime's Best Assets

Former Head of Illinois Board Tells Central States Conference That Penalties Must Be Certain.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, June 27.—A former chairman of the Illinois Pardon and Parole Board, addressing a central states parole conference yesterday said that probation and parole had failed in their purpose and that swift and certain justice was necessary to combat crime.

At the conference attended by representatives of 11 states, Hinton G. Clabaugh said, "It appears that the pendulum of justice and mercy has swung to the extreme in favor of the criminals. Probation and parole have become the two outstanding and most valuable assets of the criminal, especially the gangster and professional."

"Theoretically, parole is a beautiful thing with its sentimental appeal, but in practical operation it has failed, and crime conditions

NEW WAR DEBT NOTE TO U. S. FROM BRITAIN

Message Again Said to Emphasize Desire for Permanent Settlement.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, June 27.—A new British note was cabled to the British Embassy in Washington today in which the British Government emphasized its desire to negotiate a permanent war debt settlement with the United States.

Foreign Office officials declined to disclose the nature of the note except to say, "It is quite short."

The British policy of the past in reference to the desire for a discussion of a full settlement of the debt question was understood to have been restated as part of the communication.

The note is in reply to one by Secretary of State Cordell Hull suggesting payment "in kind," but it comes with Great Britain already in the defaulter class. It entered that status June 15 when it refused to pay an installment.

British circles pointed out that the day following the Hull note President Roosevelt took the position that payments in kind could be only a temporary expedient.

Suggestions at home that England give Bermuda or some other possession near America to the United States in payment have drawn positive Government opposition. It was officially pointed out that the United States would mean compulsory alienation of British citizens.

BAR REFERENDUM BALLOTS TO BE SENT OUT NEXT WEEK

Lawyers, Regardless of Politics, to State Choice of Candidates on Both Tickets.

The Missouri Bar Association Committee on Judicial Candidates has completed plans for a pre-primary referendum among lawyers candidates for the Missouri Supreme Court and the St. Louis Court of Appeals, wherever there is a contest.

The ballots will be mailed late next week, according to Forrest C. Donnell, chairman of the committee, and must be back in the hands of the committee by July 10 to permit announcement of the result by July 18. Lawyers, regardless of political affiliation, are expected to express their choice of both Republican and Democratic candidates.

Lawyers in the district of the St. Louis Court of Appeals will receive ballots containing names of Republican and Democratic candidates for the Supreme Court, Division No. 2, and of both Republican and Democratic candidates for the Court of Appeals. Lawyers outside the district will vote on Republican candidates for the Supreme Court, Division No. 2. In other candidates there is no contest.

There are about 7000 lawyers in Missouri. In the bar association's referendum two years ago about 2800 votes were cast. This association will not conduct a post-primary referendum.

JOBLESS SURVEYS BY TWO AGENCIES VARY 2,000,000

A. F. of L. Reports 10-267,000 Out of Industrial Work — Industrial Conference 7,899,000.

By RAYMOND F. BRANDT,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Conflicting estimates of unemployment in this country, with differences of almost 2,000,000 persons, were issued yesterday by two non-Governmental agencies. The Government makes no official estimate of the unemployed.

The American Federation of Labor in a statement by President William Green, said that despite the gradual business improvements, 10,267,000 persons were out of work in May in industry as compared to 16,108,000 last September. Green estimated that a total of 1,660,000 persons were employed last month on Public Works Administration projects, and on emergency relief work, leaving the entirely unemployed at 8,600,000 persons.

The National Industrial Conference Board, in a statement issued in New York, declared that 7,899,000 persons were unemployed in May. This estimate, however, was based on the assumption that approximately 400,000 persons were on PWA work and included those receiving Governmental pay through CCC and the emergency relief.

AMERICAN POTTERS WANT IMPORTS FROM JAPAN CUT

Appeal to Tariff Board Declaring Action Is Needed Under NRA Code Provision.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, June 27.—A drastic limitation in pottery imports from Japan was declared to be imperative by spokesmen for American manufacturers before the Tariff Commission yesterday, if the industry is to meet its increased NRA costs.

The appeal was made by the United States Pottery Association under a provision of the National Recovery Act providing that in cases where codes work hardships as the result of foreign competition the commission may investigate and recommend to President Roosevelt what action should be taken.

A quota on Japanese earthenware of 50 per cent of last year's imports was urged by M. W. Thompson of the Hail China Co., East Liverpool, O. Joseph M. Wells, president of the Potters' Association, asserted "our only hope at present is a quota on something in the nature of an equalizing fee."

Japan is the leading exporter of pottery to the United States. British and German imports submitted evidence to show their trade here was declining and was not in competition with American manufacturers.

GOV. LANGER, FACING SENTENCE CANDIDATE IN PRIMARY TODAY

North Dakota Chief Executive Recently Convicted of Political Funds Conspiracy.

BISMARCK, N. D., June 27.—Gov. William Langer, convicted recently of a felony, went before the North Dakota electorate in a State-wide primary today. He was opposed for renomination by the candidates of two other Republican factions—T. H. H. Thorsen of the Non-Partisan League and the independent J. P. Cain.

Langer is scheduled to appear with four co-defendants before Judge Andrew Miller at Fargo Friday for sentencing. Convicted ten days ago of conspiracy to defraud the United States Government through solicitation of political funds from Federal relief workers, they face a possible penalty of two years in a Federal penitentiary, $10,000 fine, or both.

A heavy primary vote was expected, with many predicting that it would equal or surpass that of the 1932 presidential election in which 236,000 ballots were cast. The campaign closed last night with Senator Gerald P. Nye and Gov. Langer in opposing speeches in separate buildings side by side at Bismarck, while Cain addressed a third Bismarck audience. Nye has supported Thorsen. There are two candidates for the Democratic nomination for Governor, Thomas H. Moodie and R. A. Johnson.

BRITAIN AND GERMANY CONFERENCE ON REICH'S DEBT MORATORIUM

Negotiators Meet at Treasury Department in London for Two Hours.

LONDON, June 27.—German and British negotiators presented their viewpoints on the German six months' debt moratorium at a two-hour session at the Treasury Department today. A tone of cordiality prevailed and it is known that both sides expressed hope, a compromise could be reached.

A brief communique stated: "Explanations were given as to the point of view of both sides and discussions will be continued."

The German reply accepting Great Britain's invitation for a conference, just made public, says: "The German Government regrets to be unable to follow the argument contained in the British note, which appears to be based on misunderstanding or incomplete judgment of the course taken by the Berlin transfer conference."

"The German Government further regrets that the British Government believes it must enforce its standpoint by threat of compulsion whereby the necessity arises for Germany to take corresponding measures to obviate the worst damage that might be inflicted upon the economic situation of the Reich."

OIL BOARD HOLDS REFINERY AT FAULT IN END STRIKE

Demands Champlin Company Full-fill Wage Agreement With Union.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, June 27.—Full responsibility for a strike of workers at the Champlin Refinery in Enid, Ok., was placed on the company by the Petroleum Labor Policy Board yesterday.

Chairman W. M. Lelerson, in a telegram to President H. H. Champlin, sharply reprimanded him and called on him to "make possible the resumption of work."

"An agreement was reached April 20 between Champlin Refinery and representatives of a majority of its employees who are affiliated with the International Oil Workers' Union covering conditions of employment," Lelerson wired.

"Article 14 of the agreement states that the employer agrees to pay the present wage scale until such time as the law sets a scale of wages and that thereafter the law shall govern."

"On May 21 the Secretary of Interior as Oil Administrator, pursuant to authority vested in him by presidential order, approved an equitable adjustment of differentials between rates for skilled jobs and minimums established in the code for common labor."

"Four refusal to pay differentials as established is in the opinion of this board a direct violation of the spirit and letter of your agreement and of the Administrator's order and is a direct provocation to the strike called by your employees."

Investigators to Call Ivy Lee.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Ivy Lee, Public Relations counsel for the Rockefeller interests, will be called as a witness at the next public hearings of the House Nazi Investigating Committee, which will start in New York July 9. Lee, it is understood, will be questioned about fees he is alleged to have received from German and Russian interests.

HITLER HALTS FIGHT ON WAR VETERANS

Promises Steel Helmets Shall Not Be Dissolved—Orders
Nazi Attacks to Cease.

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, June 27.—Chancellor Hitler today assured Franz Seidler, Minister of Labor and founder and leader of the Steel Helmets, that this war veterans' organization would not be dissolved.

The Chancellor immediately sent an order to Col. Ernst Roehm, chief of staff of the Nazi storm troopers, that attacks by the storm troopers in word or deed on the Steel Helmets must cease.

Hitler's order followed a controversy between the veterans on the one hand and the militant Nazis on the other.

This action followed an order by police in the district of Arnberg forbidding meetings of the Steel Helmets in that area or the public wearing of badges of that organization.

At the same time rumors spread that there would be a whole or partial disbanding of the Nazi storm troops in the interest of Germany's foreign policy resulting from an order to the troops to lay off their familiar brown shirts and get back to civilian clothes during the July vacation period.

The order suppressing the Arnberg Steel Helmets added to yesterday's demand by the supreme storm troop command that the Steel Helmets be dissolved, resulted in an angry retort by the supreme command of the Steel Helmets.

This reply recalls that the continued existence of the Steel Helmets was guaranteed in an agreement signed March 28 of this year by President Von Hindenburg, Chancellor Hitler, Col. Roehm, the chief of staff of the storm

"These signatures still stand," said the Steel Helmet statement, "and it is not permissible for others to indulge in oracles concerning the continuation of our organization or to bother their heads concerning it."

Assails Storm Troops.

"The storm troop press department would have done better to observe reserve and silence in the interests of the state and for the sake of unity and dignity within and without. Our veterans' league is part of the National Socialist movement. Who dares call us opponents of the movement? Let the S. A. (storm troops) be assured that the minute the storm troops supreme command issues orders that the Steel Helmets must no longer be attacked but that comradeship must exist between both, comradeship will be an immediate fact."

DOUMERGUE STRENGTHENS GAG

Obtains Resolution Blocking Amendments to Fiscal Bill.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, June 27.—Premier Doumergue strengthened his gag rule in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday by forcing through a resolution prohibiting amendments to the Government's fiscal reform bill.

The vote was 380 to 234, one of the smallest majorities on a question of confidence recorded by the present Government.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, June 27.—Alfred Savoir, 51 years old, author of farces, died yesterday. His real name was Alfred Pozmanski, and he was born in Lodz, Poland.

Among his plays were "The Eighth Wife of Bluebeard," "The Grand Duchess," and "Bellefleur."

NEW LABOR ACT APPLIED IN STRIKE OF LONGSHOREMEN

Roosevelt Names Three-Man Board, Defines Duties in Using Law for the First Time.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, June 27.—President Roosevelt has made the first move to use the power granted him under the Labor Disputes Act in an attempt to settle the Pacific Coast longshoremen's strike.

A three-man board was named last night, in an executive order defining its powers and duties, to make a thorough investigation of the longshoremen's strike and its causes.

Instructions to the board were accepted in labor circles as a forecast of how the administration may deal with other major disputes.

The board was authorized to take "appropriate affirmative action" on complaints of discrimination against union employees, to act as voluntary arbiters upon request, and "to exercise all other powers" conferred by the Labor Disputes Act passed just before Congress adjourned.

The President named the Right Rev. Edward J. Hanna, O. K. Cushing, San Francisco attorney, and Edward F. McGrady, Assistant Secretary of Labor, to the board.

Plans being worked out call for a central labor agency, probably to replace the National Labor Board, with special boards to handle other important cases. Roosevelt was expected to issue an executive order to carry it out within a day or two.

BIGGER FAMILIES SOUGHT UNDER GERMAN TAX PLAN

New Law Increasing Levy on the Newly Married, to Be Offered in September.

MUNICH, Germany, June 27.—Germany's tax reform plan, as outlined by Fritz Reinhardt, state secretary in the Ministry of Finance, is designed to encourage bigger families.

Reinhardt explained before the German Law Academy that wage-earners with one child will be exempt from income tax if the family income does not exceed 100 marks ($38) monthly, while the head of a family with five children will be immune if he earns no more than 850 marks ($325).

Bachelors and spinsters will have to pay more.

Reinhardt said taxes would not be increased but in many respects simplified so that the lower and the lower middle classes would derive distinct benefits.

"Thanks to Chancellor Hitler's employment campaign, revenue from new taxation under the new regime has been brilliant," he said.

He announced the new tax laws will be presented to the Cabinet in September.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

How Strikes are Called.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

In your issue of June 6, "A Sympathizer" proposes a plan for curbing strikes which sounds like anything on earth but sympathy for the strikers. Certainly, he is not familiar with union methods of calling and handling strikes.

In the first place, no "brass collar" union official calls a strike. But, after a strike is called in the regular manner, it becomes the duty of the business representative to manage the strike in such a manner as to earn and hold the approval of the public and enlist the support of other workers. A strike is called only after every honorable means has been tried unsuccessfully to get a settlement of the subject of the controversy.

A meeting of the organization receives the report of the business agent and usually a committee of its own choosing, which has often had as many as a dozen conferences with the employer. After hearing the reports and after due consideration of every phase of the question, the only thing left to them to strike is to down like a bunch of whipped curs.

Workers who have enough manhood to form labor unions do not take dictation from any business agent in matters of wages and hours, but dictate to him what he can ask for and work for in their behalf. No member is afraid to assert himself. The writer has been a member of organized labor all of his working career, and in some pretty long-drawn-out strikes, and he has never felt as though he had suffered anything for which he has not gained many-fold. Even though you do not always gain your demands, you at least force a degree of respect from the employer.

If any of the "brass collars" charged for the hours he put in on the job at the rate of pay he is commanded to get for the union members, President Roosevelt's salary would look like pocket change.

A BONA FIDE SYMPATHIZER.

The Source of Buying Power.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

When industry learns that it is just as much its business to provide cash customers as it is to produce goods and services, then we will begin to forget the economic problem and look around for something else to worry about. However, if you were to ask the average capitalist of industry just where he expects buying power to come from, he would probably answer that he believes in an official Santa Claus—meaning, of course, your Uncle Samuel.

If buying power is not to come out of industry itself, it would be interesting to have some of the expert economists tell us just where it should come from. During the post-war boom, of which you speak in your editorial, "Have We Lived Too Well?" industry turned out thousands of millions at its front doors and millions of unemployed at its back doors. That was as senseless as adding more weight to the top of a skyscraper while determining its foundation. In the matter of industrial expansion, it was like preparing a more spacious nest for the reception of the golden egg and at the same time arranging for the slaughter of the goose.

DEMOCRACY.

Pieron, Ill.

Is Liberty in Danger?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Now comes to the aid of Arthur Hyde one Senator Hastings and assures the nation that our only hope for liberty is a G. O. P. Congress, and says that the powers granted to the President may become tyranny.

Practically every criticism and attack on the present administration is based on something that may happen—something somebody is afraid will happen—these unusual powers granted to the President "may become tyranny." Has it never occurred to the Senator that if and when these powers become tyranny, the same people who granted them as easily take them away again?

Festus, Mo. ALBERT S. ENNIS.

For Clean Elections.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The murderous Kansas City elections will be made an issue by St. Louis Republicans this coming election, according to a news report. Fine work, but the speakers should be prepared to answer the question: What are the local Republican organizations and candidates doing to make impossible such elections, not only in Kansas City, but throughout Missouri?

So far, not one of the Republican candidates (nor Democratic) has lifted a finger to help gather petitions for the two initiative measures the League of Women Voters is sponsoring. One is for a permanent registration law, which would largely check registration frauds. The other would permit cities that desire it to have proportional representation and/or voting machines, and would bring about a secret ballot by making it illegal for polling officials to mark ballots with the numbers by which they can identify and spy on the ballots after the counting starts.

When a spellbinder gets going this fall about Kansas City elections, ask him how many names he has gathered on these two petitions. If none, he's a hypocrite. If he has done his share toward this work, he has a right to talk.

PUT-UP-OR-SHUT-UP.

THREE BILLIONS TO THE GOOD.

It was the President's prediction in January that the Government would spend 10 billion dollars, collect three billions and run a deficit of seven billions during the present fiscal year. Now the Treasury estimates that the deficit will not reach four billions when the year ends on June 30.

The Government's receipts this year have come up to the President's expectations. They exceed last year's collections by more than a billion. They more than cover the ordinary budget, which was cut from three and three-quarter billions to three billions by the economy bill.

Emergency expenditures have mounted, from a billion and a quarter last year to four billions in the present year. But they still fall far short of the seven billions included in the President's original estimate. The actual reduction of the deficit to $1,000,000,000 instead of $7,000,000,000 is a half instead of four, the PWA a billion instead of a billion and two-thirds, the CWA $300,000,000 instead of $900,000,000. Total expenditures, therefore, have reached only seven billions instead of the predicted 10 billions.

The result is that our national debt has not risen to the total which was anticipated for the year's end. Instead of reaching six billion dollars, our new financing has stopped at three billions. At 27 billions, our debt slightly exceeds its war-time peak, but it still falls far short of the 50-billion figure which was promised for this date. Even this figure must be qualified, since the RFC holds preferred bank stock, capital notes and other assets which are gradually being repaid.

We enter the new fiscal year in a much stronger financial condition than we had any reason to expect. Funds previously allotted to the PWA and RFC are still available for use. The President has four billion dollars in his hands which he can spend for direct relief. Whether next year's expenditures can be held within the two-billion-dollar deficit originally envisaged for that period, it is impossible to say. Certain it seems, however, that we shall not build up the nine-billion-dollar deficit which was contemplated for the first two years of the New Deal. There is still room to hope that we may achieve a balanced budget by 1935-36.

While the fiscal outlook is brighter in June than it was in January, it may still occasion concern. As prosperity returns, we will have to meet an annual bill for operating expenses, interest and debt retirement which will total six billion dollars. This is half again as large as the four-billion-dollar budget which we carried during the last boom. Unless we are to repudiate our mounting debt by a policy of drastic inflation, we will be compelled to pay heavier taxes in the coming years than we have ever paid before.

From 1921 to 1929, we cut taxes drastically and contented ourselves with a gradual retirement of the debt which we had incurred during the war. We thus compelled our Government to enter the depression under the serious initial handicap of lingering debt. Failure to retire our bonds during good times, we know now, was folly. We will not make that mistake again.

THE HOME TOWN GREETED MR. COCHRAN.

St. Louis thinks well of Jack Cochran. It has often said so, in the final and official language of the ballot. It said so unofficially Monday night, when it assembled in a mighty throng at the opening of his campaign for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator.

They say it was the biggest open-air political meeting in the city's history. Certainly it was a dandy. Its enthusiasm was on a par with its numbers. It was a fine tribute. Mr. Cochran was moved by it. He feelingly acknowledged it. And he made a corking good speech.

Altogether, a swell occasion.

STAGE ART THROUGH THE CENTURIES.

The International Exhibition of Theater Art, which has been set up at the City Art Museum, affords an opportunity to study progress in stage design such as has not been had before in this community. Consisting of several hundred water colors, etchings, drawings, photographs and lighted miniatures of stage sets assembled by the Museum of Modern Art in New York City, it draws on the theatrical art of 14 countries to carry its developments from the Renaissance and Baroque periods to the day of Eugene O'Neill and "The Emperor Jones." Particularly noteworthy are six originals lent by the executors of the estate of Adolphe Appia, distinguished Swiss artist who, in the last century, was anticipating the employment of simple devices and lighting effects which Gordon Craig and Robert Edmond Jones were to popularize.

How the foreign designers are utilizing planes set at angles to the audience to give the spectators the sensation of location is emphasized by the most modern of the miniatures. There is, for example, a model of Levine's setting for "Joy Street," produced in Leningrad, in which sloping brick walls of tenement houses seem to place the characters in the bottom of a well. Swedish designs for "The Green Pastures," Austrian sets for "King Lear" and German scenes for "Peer Gunt" show the utter indifference of the stage to boundary lines and so-called linguistic barriers. Indeed, one thing that the exhibition impresses is that there is much more in Italy, Germany and Russia today than the repressions of Mussolini, Hitler and Stalin.

Everyone interested in the stage will want to see this unique collection. Others will run the risk of becoming interested if they chance through the museum during the next few weeks.

FOR TEACHERS AND SCHOOL BOARDS.

Whatever the views of individual teachers on organizing their profession for the maintenance of decent living standards, it would seem that there can only be 100 per cent agreement on that part of the appeal circulated at the Chicago convention of the American Federation of Teachers which relates to academic freedom.

The American Federation of Teachers (it reads), stands for full protection against discharge for religious, racial or political reasons, but it does not confuse incompetence with this fundamental principle.

The proper attitude for the teaching profession in this important matter could not be better stated. No teacher should be insecure in his or her post because of religion, race or politics. On the other hand, teachers should make every effort to see that no member of their group who has been proved unfit professionally is protected by raising a false issue of persecution. Sponsored by well-known educators at Harvard, the universities of Wisconsin and Chicago and the Brookings Institution, this clear-cut statement of principle should be circulated throughout American schools until the remotest outposts of education are reached.

EUROPE AND DISTANT PLANETS.

With a stroke of the pen, Arthur Brisbane divorces the United States, commercially, from this troubled world. Discussing Germany's trade and money difficulties, and its moratorium, which has provoked threats of reprisal from England, Mr. Brisbane observes that:

So far as living and prospering are concerned, we are as independent of Europe as we are of the planets Mars, Mercury, Venus, Saturn and the outside ones.

Some day we may arrive at that estate. Perhaps, too, we shall find it good. We are not there yet. If or when we do get there, we shall have undergone a drastic readjustment.

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace has considered this prospect in his pamphlet, "America Must Choose." The choice lies between economic isolation and a revival of international trade. If we choose the former, some 50,000,000 acres of farm land, Mr. Wallace calculates, must be retired from production. How many wheels would be still in factory, mill, mine and transportation, and how large an army of white-collar workers would be mustered out, along with the jobless farmers and artisans, may not be accurately reducible to figures, but imagination can pretty clearly visualize it. In the end, as some of the prophets assure us, without bothering to chart the experience, we shall find ourselves on "the shining heights of Avalon." Those prophets conveniently avoid the appalling journey thereto.

Meantime, figures as to trade with Europe for two years pour a flood of revealing light on economic realities.

In 1928, our exports to Europe amounted in money to $2,374,925,000.

In 1932, our business with Europe had shrunk to $784,635,000.

The point does not have to be labored. The situation in 1932 was abnormal, just as that in 1932 was subnormal. Nevertheless, the statement that we are no more interested in the well-being of Europe than in the distant planets seems pretty close to flippancy.

"So far as living and prospering are concerned," the distracted world of today is terrible proof of the necessity of reconstructing international trade.

A TWO-MONTH PARADISE.

This will be a memorable summer for the more than 125 underprivileged children who will begin two months of outdoor life next Sunday at the Goodwill summer camp, at St. Charles and Woodson roads. They will exchange their hot and crowded and insanitary tenement homes for an open-air season of health-giving recreation, for restful, airy sleeping quarters, for cooling showers and rambles in the woods. And not least among the wonders will be three square meals a day. It will be the Goodwill Industries' largest attendance of children at its camp.

Plans were made for a smaller number, but the pathetic last-minute appeals of children beyond the quota could not be resisted. The contributors who make it possible for these children of the tenements to enjoy a summer of health and happiness are entitled to the consciousness of a kindly deed well done.

RESTORING JAMESTOWN.

The site of Jamestown, first permanent English settlement in the New World, now is covered by the James River, but it will soon be dry land again, occupied by duplicates of the original buildings, if present plans are successful. The place was a peninsula in 1607, when John Smith and his company founded "James town," as the doughty Captain wrote its name. The river's action converted the spot into an island, and left only a part of the site above water. The State of Virginia and the Federal Government, at a cost of $165,000, now have acquired the part of Jamestown Island remaining in private hands, and the National Park Service will undertake the task of drainage. Restoration of the 50 or 60 wooden houses, the chapel, storehouse, palisade and fort, burned in Bacon's Rebellion, rebuilt and burned again, will follow.

Let "Captaine John Smith" tell of Jamestown's founding:

Now faitheth every man to worke, the Council contrive the Fort, the rest cut downe trees to make place to pitch their Tents; some provide clapnetts to relate the ships, some make gardens, some nets, etc. The Salvages often visited us kindly. . . . Our drinks was water, our lodgings Castles in the ayre.

Thus began Jamestown, capital of Virginia from 1607 to 1698, when Williamsburg, whose reconstruction now is far advanced, superseded it. Tales of the first English colonists cluster around it: their arduous life, the battles with the Indians, the "starving time," Smith's salvation by Pocahontas. The engineer and the historian will join in rescuing a neglected spot from oblivion and converting it into a new American shrine.

SILLY SEASON DREAM.

Hot weather has ushered in the silly season, when ordinarily rational mortals have feverish ideas, so we suppose it is legitimate to pry into the day-dreaming of any peace officer. Inspired by unsolved mysteries and munificent reward offers, our imaginative copper sees himself the central figure in such a superlative vision as this:

On a lonely road at midnight, the gallant officer discovers a party of travelers asleep in a motor car. Noting that the tag number is Missouri 512-955, the elusive plate in the murder of the St. Louis kidnapping witness, he quickly covers the passengers with his revolver, and they sleepily surrender. A closer look shows John Dillinger ($10,000 reward) behind the wheel, and beside him his pal, Baby Face Nelson ($8000). First noted in the 'rear seat is Pretty Boy Floyd. Another passenger hands out his card—Judge Grater's. Between them is a person who turns out to be Jafise's friend John. And, jauntily sitting on the rear of the car, is Capt. Foderjays' missing trunk.

An elegant dream, what? And we hope it comes true.

"College girls make the worst wives," screams the head of the Institute of Family Relations in Los Angeles. Tish. Now and then a lemon may be plucked in the orchards of erudition, but peaches bloom there in beguiling profusion.

OFF TO A FLYING START.

TODAY and TOMORROW

By Walter Lippmann

Limitation of Armaments

THE agreements made at Washington in 1922 and at London in 1928, under which navies are now limited by international treaty, come to an end in 1936; that is to say, on Dec. 31, 1936. Whether they can be renewed depends principally upon what attitude Japan finally decides to take toward her present claim to a navy equal to the British and our own.

There are other points to be dealt with, as for example, the British preference for more ships of smaller size and ours for less ships of larger size. There are complications arising from the disagreements between France and Italy over naval power in the Mediterranean, and it is possible that Germany may ask for some increase in her navy. But it is Japan's demand for equality which raises the really difficult question.

The reasons Great Britain and the United States will not agree to Japanese equality are set forth in an article by Admiral Pratt in Foreign Affairs. They come down to this: In Asiatic waters, the Japanese, with a submarine fleet equal to the British or our own, and with a navy three-fifths as large, are secure. They cannot be attacked, or cut off from the mainland. The British, on the other hand, have an Empire scattered throughout the world, and we have coasts on two oceans. If Japan, with her geographical position, needs a navy equal to 60 on a scale of 100, Britain and the United States, with their very much more extended position, require larger navies. For Japan, to have an equal navy would mean that, in the Pacific, Japan had a preponderant navy.

It may be taken as an absolute premise that no treaty will be agreed to in London or in Washington that concedes naval equality to Japan. There is no use mincing words on this point. To fail to make it clear can only mislead the Japanese people into expecting what it is impossible for them to attain. In the next 18 months, they must, therefore, make up their minds whether they prefer approximately the existing ratios fixed by treaty or the existing ratios maintained by the building of five British and five American tons to every three Japanese.

In making their choice, the Japanese will do well to realize that the existing treaty ratios limit the British and American navies as well as the Japanese. Without a treaty, we could, for example, change the ratios from 5-3 to 2 or 3 to 1. Our resources permit it. So, in accepting the existing ratio, it is not the Japanese alone who limit naval power. Since the United States has potentially much greater power, the treaties really limit us more than they do Japan.

In this whole question of limiting armaments, there are two basic principles which govern the whole business. Among countries which have no important political differences, the ratio of armaments makes no difference. The perfect example is furnished by Canada and the United States. But where there is potential political conflict, the limitation of armaments can mean only a recognition of potential power. The British and ourselves have agreed on parity because, in the last analysis, the two countries can build equal navies. The parity agreement recognizes a fact. We can outbuild the Japanese. The ratio recognizes that fact. The French and their allies can maintain heavier armaments than Germany. There is no likelihood of an agreement which disturbs this relative superiority.

Among nations that have divergent interests, a treaty of limitation is like an election. In an election, we count heads and give power to the majority. In a treaty, it is a civilized substitute for civil war in which, by counting heads instead of breaking them, the stronger party comes to the top. In international affairs, treaties of limitation with ratios are really nothing more than a calculation as to how much relative strength two nations could achieve. The treaty enables them to achieve relative strength without wasting too much money or stirring up too much bad blood.

Thus, Anglo-American parity by treaty is an acknowledgment that, at the end of a race of armaments, Britain and America would still have approximately equal navies. The ratio with Japan is an acknowledgment that, at the end of a race of armaments, the British and the American fleets would both outrank Japan about 5 to 3.

Limitation is a civilized substitute for a race of armaments. But it is possible to obtain limitation and make it effective only if the treaty of limitation expresses substantially the relative position which would result from a race of armaments. Any attempt to depart radically from this principle is doomed to fail.

This has been demonstrated at Geneva. The Germans are asking for equality with France at a time when they have a policy which conflicts with the existing European settlement. This means that Germany is opposed by France, the Little Entente and Russia. While Germany is potentially stronger than any one of these Powers, the combination is potentially stronger than Germany. No armament treaty can be written which alters this position. Thus, when Germany started to rearm, the net result was to draw her diplomatic opponents into a closer alliance. This counterbalanced her rearmament, and Germany's international position is certainly no stronger and is probably weaker than if she had not started to rearm.

So with Japan. If Japan were to break down the treaties of limitation and were then to build for equality, she would lose rather than gain in her naval position. For she would not only be outbuilt by Britain and America, but as Admiral Pratt puts it, "the ship (of treaty limitation) sinks." If the ship (of treaty limitation) sinks, the adjustment period should find those with identical interests in the same lifeboats. That is to say, Britain and America would find themselves working in harmony in the Pacific.

This, it seems to me, is the hard-boiled lesson of all our experiments since the war. Arms can be limited by nations which are truly at peace; by other nations, limitation can go no further than to recognize their relative strength.

That is why the road to disarmament is not through disarmament conferences, but through settlement of political differences. (Copyright, 1934.)

The Gold-Clause Ruling

From the Philadelphia Evening Public Ledger

THE decision by Federal Judge Charles E. Fair, in St. Louis, on the validity of the gold-payment clause in bonds, probably will be appealed to the Supreme Court of the United States. The appeal will be made with little or no hope that Judge Fair's decision will be reversed. Common sense dictates that a debtor cannot pay in gold when the value of the country debters him from the position or use of gold.

There was another point of interest. In the ruling made by Judge Fair, the gold-payment clause in bonds, issued by a subsidiary of the Missouri Pacific Railroad Co. sought to collect in gold or in present-day currency based on the gold-content value of the devalued dollar. This would have increased the debt from $34,548,000 to about $38,500,000.

Here again common sense dictated the decision. Judge Fair ruled that "valid" have rendered strict performance of gold clause legally impossible. He upheld the right of Congress to say what shall be used as money in the payment of indebtedness. He reaffirmed the right of Congress to alter and change the nature and called value of the medium of exchange money of the nation.

Bonds to the value of about $100,000,000 are affected by the decision. Some of these are held abroad. Foreign holders try to compel settlement through diplomatic channels, but the ruling by Judge Fair stands in the way of preferential payment being made to foreign creditors.

The decision should end worries of those who had promised to pay in gold, and who now have no gold and could not do so because its possession is illegal. Judge Fair has made a ruling based on the plain reasoning. That he will be upheld by the Supreme Court may be expected.

UNDELIVERED SPEECH.

From the Chattanooga (Tenn.) News

A COMMENCEMENT address we give to our young friends, you are going into a puzzled world, a world whose path is not known whether they are drifting with the future has in store for you I cannot even guess. Many of you, perhaps, of you, will not be able to find jobs. I no formula by which you may easily attain fame and fortune. The world may call a success, but I assure you whatever is attained has been entirely by accident.

"My only advice to you is that you do emulate the generation I represent. I am one who muddled into the present while all the time we were spouting platitudes about the permanent era of prosperity. My generation, unable to give itself, has relinquished the reins to a generation in most of Europe. Even here in America, we blindly trust a President who hope can save us, but whom we cannot find the way.

"As to your future, let me urge you equip yourselves to understand the world into which you are going. Your education has not done this. In your school teachers have kept you wondering in a fog of unreality, while fraternalism lulled you to sleep in a fog of make-believe.

"Perhaps some of you will furnish guidance and leadership which the world needs so sorely. Unless you succeed we have failed. I am afraid for the future of the world. I thank you."

The DAILY MERRY

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, June 2

S PINACH? Great men as well as child have to suffer it.

Clarence Darrow, winding up his thankless job as official critic of Hugh Johnson's thin-skinned NIRA, is under doctor's orders to take daily. Relentlessly Mrs. Darrow holds him to it.

But there are complications. Mrs. Darrow lives in a small hotel here, and the great lawyer frequently visits to a score of restaurants. Mrs. Darrow has made arrangements with a popular restaurant to have the chef prepare spinach according to a special recipe, disguised with cream, a little onion, another attempt at camouflage.

No sooner do the Darrow's enter the establishment now than the word is flashed from one waitress to another, finally to the waitress in charge. Then the spinach is on the table in a jiffy.

But still Mr. Darrow hates it. One smiling waitress who served him growled:

"There's no use trying to do with me. It won't make me like the slightest bit more. It's terrible stuff, it always has been terrible stuff, and it always will be terrible stuff."

The waitress giggled. When Darrow left there was a 30-cent under the plate.

Too Serious.

THE fact that he is head of the NIRA Employees Union is not a real reason John Donovan, search officer of the Labor Advisory Board, was fired by General Hugh Johnson.

The ex-soldier is far from a friend of militant labor, but he is not posed to unionism among his workers. Nor had the silly, and who is unfounded, charge of "inefficiency" anything to do with Donovan's dismissal. The pugnacious Irishman's offense goes far deeper than the alleged reasons for his ouster.

His crime was that he took job too seriously.

The purpose of the Labor Advisory Board is to analyze costs from the labor standpoint, and to recommend changes in the interest labor.

The DAILY WASHINGTON

MERRY GO ROUND

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, June 27. PINACH? Great men as well as children have to suffer it.

Clarence Darrow, winding up his thankless job as official critic of Hugh Johnson's thin-skinned NRA, is under doctor's orders to eat it daily. Reluctantly Mrs. Darrow holds him to it.

But there are complications. The Darrows live in a small hotel suite here, and the great lawyer fumes furiously at the way the spinach is prepared by the hotel chef. After experimental visits to a score of restaurants, Mrs. Darrow finally made arrangements with a popular restaurant to have the chef prepare spinach according to a special recipe, disguised with cream, a little onion, another attempt at camouflage.

No sooner do the Darrows enter the establishment now than the word is flashed from one waitress to another, finally to the waiting chef. Then the spinach is on the table in a jiffy.

But still Mrs. Darrow hates it. To one smiling waitress who served it she growled:

"There's no use trying to flirt with me. It won't make me like it the slightest bit more. It's terrible stuff, it always has been terrible stuff, and it always will be terrible stuff."

The waitress giggled. When Mrs. Darrow left there was a 40-cent tip under the plate.

Too Serious. The fact that he is head of the NRA Employees Union is not the real reason John Donovan, research expert of the Labor Advisory Board, was fired by General Hugh Johnson.

The ex-soldier is far from a friend of militant labor, but he is not opposed to unionism among his workers. Nor had the silly, and wholly unfounded, charge of "inefficiency" anything to do with Donovan's dismissal. The pugnacious young Irishman's offense goes far deeper than the alleged reasons for his ouster.

His crime was that he took his job too seriously.

The purpose of the Labor Advisory Board is to analyze conditions from the labor standpoint, and to recommend changes in the interest of labor.

Under Dr. Leo Wolman, former chairman, and Dr. Gustave Peck, acting successor, this is as far as the Board has gone. If its suggestions are disregarded by Johnson, as is the case with most of them, Wolman and Peck have nothing more to say.

ENGAGED TO WED TEXAS POLO STAR

THE wedding of Miss Mimi Floyd-Jones, daughter of Robert H. Floyd-Jones, formerly of St. Louis, and Maj. James Murray of the British Indian Army, son of Sir Julian Murray, Baron and Lady Murray of Dollar, Scotland, took place this morning at 10 o'clock at Jamestown, R. I., where the bride and her father are visiting her brother-in-law and sister, Commander and Mrs. Frank Slingshuff.

The marriage took place at St. Mark's Church, with the pastor, the Rev. Edward A. Tierney officiating in the presence of the immediate family and a few close friends. The bride was unattended and was given in marriage by her father.

She wore a flowered chiffon gown with a large leghorn hat. Her flowers were orchids worn in a shoulder corsage. Following the ceremony a small wedding breakfast was served at the home of Commander and Mrs. Slingshuff.

Maj. Murray and his bride will spend their honeymoon motoring in Canada, after which they will come to St. Louis to visit her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. Edgar Moser of the Watson road. After a visit in St. Louis they will sail for India, where Maj. Murray is on duty. He recently came to this country from Afghanistan, where he has been stationed.

Floyd-Jones and his daughter arrived in the United States early in May from Rapallo, on the Italian Riviera, where they spent much of the winter.

Commander and Mrs. Slingshuff have taken a cottage for the summer on Shoreby Hill. Commander Slingshuff's ship, the U. S. S. Cord, has its base at Newport this summer.

Miss Ethel Chouteau Dyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Chouteau Dyer, 29 Lenox place, who returned late in the spring from London, has been visiting her father. She has gone to Chicago, where she will spend the summer with her sister, Mrs. Noel Flint. Accompanying Mrs. Dyer to St. Louis was her sister-in-law, Mrs. J. Raymond Dyer of Washington, D. C., who has returned to her home. Mrs. Dyer has returned to Wianno, Mass., where she will occupy her summer home for the season.

The wedding of Miss Janet Barthels, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ferd A. Barthels, 3126 Russell boulevard, and Dr. Philip G. Vierheller, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip G. Vierheller, 2015 Ann avenue, will take place tonight at 8:30 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Barthels, with the Rev. Richard Kretschmer, pastor of the Emmaus Lutheran Church, officiating.

A reception for the families and a few close friends will follow.

Mrs. Russell J. Sims will be matron of honor and the prospective bride's cousin, Miss Dorothy Barthels, will be a junior bridesmaid. John Ziegenfuss will be best man for Dr. Vierheller. The bride party will stand before an altar of palms and white gladioli arranged before the mantel in the living room. Tall and slender filled with white tapers will be at each side of the altar.

The bride will be given in marriage by her father. She will wear a gown of white lace made simply with long lace sleeves and a square neckline edged with ruching. The close-fitting skirt falls in a short train. Miss Barthels will wear her mother's wedding veil of white tulle, which is held in place by a cap of the tulle trimmed with orange blossoms. She will carry roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Sims will wear a gown of pastel yellow crepe made on long, clinging lines, with a short cape trimmed with net. The bridesmaid will wear a frock of white mouseline de soie made with a jacket with short flared sleeves. The matron of honor and the bridesmaid will carry yellow daisies and blue delphinium.

After a motor trip to the Vierheller and his bride will live at 2326 Lafayette avenue. She attended Washington University, and Dr. Vierheller was graduated from Washington University.

MISS FANITA ANN FRY, daughter of Thomas Walker Fry, 6420 Cecil avenue, and Eugene John Schneider, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Schneider, 6637 Dewey avenue, will take place at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon at a garden at her father's home. The Rev. Francis J. O'Connor, pastor of Our Lady of Lourdes Church, will read the wedding service in the presence of 200 guests.

White ribbons will mark the aisle for the bride party which will descend the terrace steps and cross the spacious lawn to the improvised altar, set before an arch of white lattice work entwined with smilax, white lilies, gladioli and larkspur. The ceremony will be followed by a reception.

The bride, who will be given in marriage by her father, will wear a gown made entirely of white d'Alencon lace over white satin. The gown, designed with long sleeves and a square neck line, molds the figure to the knees, where it flares into a circular lace ruffled train. The veil of tulle is arranged with a coronet of lace trimmed with orange blossoms. The bride's only ornament will be a diamond and platinum pendant which belonged to her mother and she will carry a lace handkerchief, which her aunt, Mrs. Guy Bradley Fulton, carried at her wedding.

Her twin sister, Miss Isabel Fry, will be maid of honor. She will wear a gown of pale blue mouseline de soie. The costume is made with a quilt basque fastened to a high neck line with tiny buttons. There is a small round collar edged with rows of pleating, and short puffed sleeves trimmed with the same pleating. The basque falls over a long skirt into a long pointed train edged with more of the pleating. She will wear a large hat of pale blue summer velvet felt banded with silver cording. She will carry yellow roses and blue delphinium tied with ribbon to match her gown.

The bridesmaids will be Miss Isabel Fulton, the bride's cousin, Miss Virginia and Miss Dorothy Zirnheld, twin sisters. They will carry arm bouquets of tallman roses tied with ribbons to match their gowns. The bridegroom's mother will wear a gown and hat of beige lace. The bride's aunt, Mrs. Guy Bradley Fulton, will be in a peach lace gown and hat.

The bridegroom's brother, Clarence Schneider, will be his best man and the ushers will be Emil Morse, Robert Houghtlin and William Fry, the bride's brother.

PUBLISHER R. M. WHITE DIES AT MEXICO, MO.

Former President of State Press Association—Recently Honored by Missouri U.

MEXICO, Mo., June 27.—R. M. White, publisher of the Mexico Ledger since 1876, died here last night. He was 79 years old and was a former president of the Missouri Press Association.

He was known throughout the State as "Colonel White," as he was designated a Colonel on the staff of Gov. Lon V. Stephens. He published the Ledger as a weekly from 1876 to 1888 and as a daily from that year until the present.

White was born at Southampton, Long Island, in 1855. He moved to Mexico in 1896 with his parents, and resided with them on a farm near here. On his graduation in the class of 1876 he declined an offer to play baseball with the St. Louis Browns made by Chris von der Ahe because of his reputation as a civil engineer.

In September, 1874, he purchased the Mexico-Ledger from J. Linn Ladd. The Ledger was the oldest newspaper in Audrain County, and its establishment by J. E. Williams, in 1857, before the Civil War.

Historical Society Work. For 33 years, from its incorporation in 1899 to 1932, White served as chairman of the finance committee of the State Historical Society of Missouri.

He is a former president of the Westminster College Alumni Association, and was a member of the college board of trustees of the Missouri Presbyterian College for Men, which his son and a grandson, R. M. White II, likewise attended.

Colonel White served two years as recording secretary of the National Editorial Association. He was president of the Missouri Press Association in 1886, and since the death of E. W. Stephens, Columbia publisher, had been president of the Association of Past Presidents of the Missouri Press Association.

Colonel White was an elder in the First Presbyterian Church at Mexico, and a past eminent commander of the Knights Templar commandery of the Masonic order here.

For 28 years, Col. White served as a member of the board of managers of the State's eleemosynary institutions.

Loyal to Profession. Because of loyalty to his newspaper, White, a Democrat, declined to seek elective office.

Mr. White loved the profession of the "city newspaperman." "Not much money in it and a lot of work but a lot of fun, too," he once said. "I wouldn't do anything else if I could."

His appearance was that of a typical Kentucky Colonel. In May of this year he was given a medal for distinguished service in newspaper work at the annual journalism week of the University of Missouri School of Journalism.

In 1919 he became president of the Mexico Savings Bank, a position he held at his death. To devote his time to banking he relinquished the editorship of the Ledger to his son, Mitchell White, who became one of his father's successors as president of the Missouri Press Association.

Surviving are his widow, the former Miss Belle Mitchell, to whom he was married 55 years ago, and his son.

The funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at the First Presbyterian Church and will be conducted by Dr. A. A. Wallace, Col. White's pastor for 47 years. Burial services will be conducted by the Knights Templar, of which Col. White was formerly Eminent Commander.

REFORMED AND EVANGELICAL CHURCHES COMPLETE MERGER

Leaders of United Demonstrations Clasp Hands in Ceremony at Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, O., June 27.—More than 800 delegates to national meetings of the Evangelical Synod of North America and the Reformed Church of the United States crowded into Zion's Evangelical Church last night to participate in the ceremony marking the merger of the churches to form the Reformed and Evangelical Church, with 700,000 communicants.

All day the churches had participated in final meetings of the separate organizations. To each session came official notification from the other of sanction of the union, voted a year ago.

At 6:30 p. m., ministers and laymen, headed by their officers, formed two columns outside Zion's Church. As the columns met, each Reformed delegate took his place beside an Evangelical representative for the march into the church.

The official declaration of union was read, and Dr. Paul Press of St. Louis, president of the Evangelical Synod, and Dr. H. J. Christman of Dayton, O., president of the Reformed Church, clasped hands to symbolize the merger's completion.

SPEED CAMERA PHOTOGRAPHS

STROKE OF LIGHTNING

Bolt Flashes Up and Down Between Cloud and Earth 10 Times.

By the Associated Press.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., June 27.—

Photos of a stroke of lightning, which bounced up and down 10 times between the earth and a cloud, although to the eye it seemed a single flash, were made public here last night.

The lightning was caught in a storm here this month by a camera film traveling a mile a minute, made by A. P. Loomis of Tuxedo Park, N. Y., and operated by General Electric engineers.

The first stroke was down, fairly bright and considerably forked. It appeared to grease a pathway in the air for what followed. This "grease" was ionization, a chain of air particles reaching from cloud to earth, all so highly electrified that they probably made an air column more conductive than the best copper wire.

For a millisecond of a second after the first stroke the film was dark. Then down the ionized airway a thin dart of electricity shot from cloud to ground. As it faded a streak of fire shot upward, a tremendously heavy stroke traveling from the ground to the cloud.

Eight times more this was repeated. Each time a thin dart shot to the earth, and a heavy blaze responded, streaking up to the cloud. All lay in the identical ionized air path.

The toward darts traveled at speeds ranging from about 2800 miles a second up to around 7500 miles. The big upward strokes showed speeds of 14,000 up to 23,000 miles a second.

82-YEAR-OLD WOMAN KILLED

BY AUTO SHE TRIES TO HALT

By the Associated Press.

LEBANON, Mo., June 27.—Mrs. Sarah E. Irwin, 82 years old, was killed 15 miles west of here yesterday when she stepped in the path of an automobile she sought to stop, to obtain aid in repairing a tire.

The driver of the car, B. M. Morgan, Louisville, Ky., was not held, as witnesses declared the accident unavoidable.

Mrs. Irwin was riding with her daughter, Mrs. R. A. Todd, from their home in Lebanon to visit friends in Buffalo, Mo., where they formerly lived. When tire trouble developed, Mrs. Todd left the car to get help. Mrs. Irwin walked around the back end of their car and stepped in front of the machine driven by Morgan, who was accompanied by his wife and two children. Mrs. Irwin suffered a crushed skull, broken arm and legs.

BEARS 11TH CHILD 3 DAYS AFTER KILLING HUSBAND

Neighbors Attend Marked Tree (Ark.) Woman, Who Awaits Action of Grand Jury.

By the Associated Press.

MARKED TREE, Ark., June 27.—Mrs. Elizabeth Green, 44 years old, who shot her husband to death Friday, gave birth to her eleventh child Monday. Neighbors attended her. There was no need for a doctor, she reasoned, for doctors cost money, and she had little money.

Deputy Prosecuting Attorney Stafford quoted her as saying, she shot her husband, Luther Green, a farmer, 52 years old, because he threatened her and drove her from home. Stafford had her released pending a grand jury investigation in October. Mrs. Green attended her husband's funeral, then went back to "no man's land," eight miles southwest of Marked Tree, to await the arrival of her eleventh child. Green had three children by a previous marriage.

It's Running Out Of Our Ears!

STORE
THURSDAY
10 A. M.

It's time again for our great semi-annual confession of buying sins (you remember how frank we were about it last January). Of course, our buying cannot always be right... consequently in a great business like this certain merchandise does "pile up" and demands moving regardless of sacrifice. That is when we must swallow our pride, face the music and take our medicine. We have ransacked every floor of our main and branch stores... finecombed our warehouses from top to bottom... for odds and ends and remaining numbers of fast-selling lines. Plan right now to come down tomorrow and make the most of this remarkable opportunity to buy a great deal for very little. You won't regret it!

No doubt Mrs. Roosevelt, Queen Mary a great deal about most wonderful son in the world. Franklin Delano. Mrs. Roosevelt might have said truly to the of the British King and Queen "my son has more power, and more power than any ruler on not excepting your fine King George."

It is probable, however, that Roosevelt didn't say all the might have said about her mother. King George also had to she would fear to hurt his by invidious comparisons.

If she had asked the King would have told her that he not for a great deal carry that her son has on his shoulders or take the responsibility of ing such gigantic public duties while reorganizing a nation's business, industry, finance, wages and commerce.

Gene Tunney, retired weight boxing champion, world-wise enough to refuse anybody had a chance to take championship from him, rejoiced the possession of a second weight 8 1/2 pounds. Proudly announced that the baby he was five minutes old "aimed punch at the nurse." Nothing amiable than a fond father.

The Tunney baby was conceived, compared with ancient bies that used to be dipped, in ice cold water in winter. They survived, well and good, not, they were not worth it anyhow.

The father of Henry the VIII, when his grandson handed the mother a gold of jewels, saying, "This is for the new-born baby," "This is for me," and proclaimed the baby's lips strong Burgundy wine and garlic on the little mouth "to him a man."

Henry the Fourth survived and had a good time until he was murdered.

Next Thursday President will, "on the air," tell you he has done and what he is doing. The following Saturday, he will go to Hawaii to get away work and noise for a rest.

Coming election, so far as he is concerned, you may vote as you like. He will take no part in the election. If you do not like him, you may vote for a Republican. In any case, President Roosevelt will continue to his plans.

It is safe to say that while Government continues able to out money for jobs, relief, loans, farrow sons, small crop get postoffice, there will be many Republican votes.

Times have changed since Government was wondering whether it could afford two or three million dollars to build Panama Canal, which paid itself, and will continue paying ever.

Now a drought comes, and Government sets aside five million dollars to aid the suffer.

In New York, a chauffeur his boss to find a job for chauffeur's brother. A job found at twenty-five dollars a driving a truck. The job was er said indignantly: "What's a truck for twenty-five dollars when I can get fifteen dollars a week from the Government for doing nothing?" No, thank you.

That can last a long time. Government is willing to print money. It may last not long, but several years if the Government continues its present course of inflating with doubling its debt by payment interest.

On the Far Rockaway beach the Long Island Railroad gers saw a small dog tugger highly-charged "third rail" and yelping into the air. Indignant dog rushed back at the railing it. More yelping. A third the dog returned to the track a third shock did not kill, it went elsewhere.

Biting the Third Rail.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

(Copy. sent, 1934.)
PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S mother had tea yesterday afternoon with Queen Mary at Buckingham Palace, served in the Queen's private apartments that few American women have seen. Nobody knows what was said by the two most estimable grandmothers.

No doubt Mrs. Roosevelt told Queen Mary a great deal about "the most wonderful son in the world," Franklin Delano. Mrs. Roosevelt might have said truly to the wife of the British King and Emperor "my son has more power, and uses more power than any ruler on earth not excepting your fine husband, King George."

It is probable, however, that Mrs. Roosevelt didn't say all that she might have said about her son because King George also had tea and she would fear to hurt his feelings by invidious comparisons.

If she had asked the King he would have told her that he would not for a great deal carry the load that her son has on his shoulders, or take the responsibility of making such gigantic public expenditures while reorganizing a big nation's business, industry, finances, hours, wages and commercial morals.

Gene Tunney, retired heavyweight boxing champion of the world, wise enough to retire before anybody had a chance to take his championship from him, rejoices in the possession of a second son, weight 8½ pounds. Proudly it is announced that the baby before it was five minutes old "aimed a punch at the nurse." Nothing more amiable than a fond father.

The Tunney baby was gently received, compared with ancient babies that used to be dipped, at birth, in ice cold water in wintertime. If they survived, well and good, if not, they were not worth keeping anyhow.

The father of Henry the Fourth's mother, when his grandson came, handed the mother a gold box full of jewels, saying, "This is for you," took the new-born baby, saying, "This is for me," and promptly moistened the baby's lips with strong Burgundy wine and rubbed garlic on the little mouth "to make him a man."

Henry the Fourth survived that and had a good time until Ravillac murdered him.

Next Thursday President Roosevelt, "on the air," will tell you what he has done and what he hopes to do. The following Saturday he sails for Hawaii to get away from work and noise for a rest. At the coming election, so far as he is concerned, you may vote as you please. He will take no part in that election. If you do not like Democrats, you may vote for a Republican. In any case, President Roosevelt will continue carrying out his plans.

It is safe to say that while the Government continues able to pour out money for jobs, relief, building loans, farrow sows, small crops, bigger postoffices, there will not be many Republican votes.

Times have changed since the Government was wondering whether it could afford two or three hundred million dollars to build the Panama Canal, which paid for itself, and will continue paying forever.

Now a drouth comes, and the Government sets aside five hundred million dollars to aid the sufferers.

In New York, a chauffeur asked his boss to find a job for the chauffeur's brother. A job was found at twenty-five dollars a week driving a truck. The jobless brother said indignantly: "What! Drive a truck for twenty-five dollars a week when I can get fifteen dollars a week from the Government for doing nothing? No, thank you."

That can last a long time if the Government is willing to print the money. It may last not quite so long, but several years if the Government continues its present astute course of inflating with bonds, doubling its debt by payment of interest.

On the Far Rockaway branch of the Long Island Railroad passengers saw a small dog touch the highly-charged "third rail" and rise yelping into the air. Indignant, the dog rushed back at the rail, biting it. More yelping. A third time the dog returned to the attack, even a third shock did not kill, and he went elsewhere.

As the small dog treated the third rail so "civilized" nations treat the highly charged war danger. But, unfortunately, they don't know enough to stay away after three tries. Half the nations in Europe, and some in Asia, may be back biting that same old third rail in a short time.

Emotions Vary According to The Individual

There Are No Fixed Feelings for Any Particular Occasion in Life.

By Elsie Robinson

ONE of the hardest things in life is to be honest about your own feelings. Even to yourself. Quicker people who pride themselves on being "perfectly honest"—who couldn't be bribed to tell a deliberate lie—will nevertheless pretend to feel the most outrageous whoppers. And not even realize that they're pretending.

It all begins with the absurd idea that we should all have certain feelings for certain occasions. . . . certain reactions to certain experiences. This notion is hammered in to our heads when we're still too young to question it.

Along about the time we're told that C-A-T spells cat, we are also informed that we should get mad if someone slaps our sister. Or shocked if someone says a naughty word.

If left to our own devices, we wouldn't mind a bit if someone slapped Sister. Sister, on occasions, being a complete nuisance, we'd like to slap her ourselves. Nor are we horrified by naughty words. To the contrary we do on 'em.

But Mama, Teacher and Aunt Maggie assure us that we should feel otherwise. "Nice little girls and boys ALWAYS feel that way." If we don't, there's something funny about us.

So, not wishing to have something funny about us, we decide immediately to feel as Mama, Teacher and Aunt Maggie have told us we should feel. And the next time someone slaps Sister we register the proper emotion. Presently we don't know whether we feel like that or not. But we act as if we did, anyway.

Then out we go into life—with new experiences and impressions crashing on us like a tidal wave. And we try our best to meet each new situation with the proper reaction. Sometimes it's easy enough. Once, perhaps, out of every 50 times, we actually do feel the thing we're supposed to feel. But on the other 49 occasions there's something wrong with the picture.

Here, for instance, is something over which we should become tremendously excited. But we're not excited at all. WE'RE EMOTIONALLY A BLANK!

But surely this isn't right? We look at other people. They're excited. Their eyes sparkle, their cheeks are flushed, they speak with great animation. Undoubtedly we should feel like that, too. "Nice People—Regular People—always feel like that!"

Then—horrid thought—maybe we're not regular? Maybe there's something lacking in us? That's it! There must be something lacking in us. Some dreadful deficiency. But we'll never, NEVER let anyone guess it. We'll never let 'em know we're cold as clams inside. If we can't really feel excited, we can at least pretend to. We can laugh and shout and scream and cry and wring our hands, too. We'll fool 'em!

Nor do we only fool the bystanders. We fool ourselves. We put on such an elaborate act—we assure ourselves so often that we really are "all worked up"—that presently we actually believe it, and would be righteously indignant if anyone told us that we were faking.

Which is all, of course, completely cockeyed. To begin with, there AREN'T any "proper feelings" for given occasions. It's as unreasonable to expect everyone to have the same feelings as it is to expect them to like the same foods, the same jobs, the same interests and amusements.

Some people are quick on the trigger, emotionally. Some aren't. Yet the Stolid Citizens' contribution to society may be infinitely more valuable than that of the Chronic Squawkers.

People aren't all alike. Nor are occasions. As mentioned before, maybe it isn't sad to see sister slapped. Maybe it isn't. There are two sides at least to every catastrophe, and usually a dozen. And perhaps when you're sobbing you ought to be cheering. Or cheering! But our cockeyed social conventions insist we must sob, regardless. And heaven help you if you don't!

However, if you have the courage to be yourself and to take the beating that implies, life can be an amazing adventure. You'll be lonely. You'll be unpopular. But you'll also be surprised.

For you'll meet a Self and a World you never knew before—and they'll both be worth the admission price.

Growing Pains Indicate Child Needs a Doctor

By Dr. Iago Galdston

SOME expressions so much catch the fancy of the average man that they are almost a cliché. "Growing pains" is such an expression. It seems right to man's moral sense that one should only grow through suffering—that growth should be associated with pain.

Perhaps there is warrant for this moralistic belief in the realm of knowledge and in that of spiritual development. But in the field of medicine, while growing pains may be associated with that period in life in which physical growth is rapid, the pains are not the price of growth, nor are they a normal associate of development.

It isn't natural for the growing child to suffer pains, and when he does, the explanation for the pains must be sought for elsewhere than in the growth process.

As long ago as 1884 Abraham Jacoby, one of the country's pioneering children's specialists, pointed out that these vague and ambiguous pains in children which are called growing pains are frequently associated with rheumatism. He definitely traced the relationship between so-called growing pains with rheumatic inflammation of the joints and with rheumatic disease of the heart.

The parents of a child complaining of pains in its muscles, joints or bones should not, therefore, be reassured that it is merely paying the price of growth. Such a child is very sorely in need of careful medical examination, for the pains may be due to what we call rheumatic fever.

Of course, not all the muscle, joint and bone pains that the child may complain of are rheumatic in nature. Sometimes they are the result of chronic fatigue or of postural and other orthopedic defects and disorders. Chronic infections of a non-rheumatic type, such as those associated with bad tonsils, bad teeth and sinus involvement, may also be responsible for some of the so-called growing pains.

Almond Fingers
One-half pound ground almonds, one-half pound caster sugar, one-quarter pound flour, one egg, a little apricot jam. Mix flour, almonds and sugar and moisten to a stiff paste with beaten egg. Knead until smooth and let stand for an hour on a sugared plate to become firm. Divide paste in two, roll out to a thin past. Spread one sheet with warm apricot jam, place the second sheet on top and press lightly together. Cut with a sugared knife into narrow fingers. Bake in a moderate oven until lightly colored, about 15 minutes.

A Review of Requirements For Third Hand Opening Bids

By P. Hal Sims

THE requirements for opening the bidding third hand are as follows:
1. No trump—The same as in first or second-hand position.
2. One in a major suit—One-half a primary trick less than the same bid in first or second-hand position.

To open in first or second-hand position, you need a sound rebid in the hand. The rebid may be dispensed with in third-hand position.
3. One in a minor suit—One primary trick less than in first or second-hand position, according to the opener's bid.

Note: In third-hand position, secondary values may be counted together with primary tricks.
If you bid with less than the above, you are not "protecting" your partner; you are bidding a psychic. In modern plays the villain of the piece often turns out to be the hero. So a psychic may occasionally wind up in a makeable game. Some time ago a player at my house bid a heart in third-hand position, on the following hand:

♠ A x x x ♣ x x x x
♥ K x x x ♦ x x x x
His partner bid a spade, which the opener passed, thereby giving the whole show away. Fourth hand pardonedly reopened the bidding with two diamonds. The responder then jumped to four hearts, with a nasty look at the opener. He laid down the following:

♠ A x x x ♣ x x x x
♥ K x x x ♦ x x x x
The heart finesse worked, and the psychic bidder made four hearts. I give him full credit for his bid. It was not part of my system. But the next time, when such a bid results in a set of 1400 points, I want him to take the blame on his own shoulders, and absolve me from any responsibility.

Simply because you have five cards in a suit it doesn't necessarily follow that the hand will be safer at the two level in that suit than at the one trump. A suit needs to be a suit for a time. Place it in a little bag or envelope and then pin the bag securely to the inside pocket of the bag with a large safety pin. Then in search for change you are not apt to lose it unnoticed.

Carrying Valuables
If it is necessary for you to carry any valuable jewelry in your handbag for a time, place it in a little bag or envelope and then pin the bag securely to the inside pocket of the bag with a large safety pin. Then in search for change you are not apt to lose it unnoticed.

Combination Dresses For Hot Weather

Sun-Back Frock Can Also Be Worn at Lunches and Teas.

By Sylvia

EVERY now and then some designer gets a bright idea for a frock that makes a complete wardrobe either by adding or subtracting different parts. The newest summery version of something to rave about is a sun-back dress of white washable crepe serves as the foundation. By putting on a blue organza topper that has white designs on it, you get the sort of costume that can go to lunches or to teas. If tailored needs are greatest, a short white jacket of the material to match the dress can be added.

What do you suppose the Farmer in the Dell would say if he saw the feminine overalls of 1934? They start out with jumper tops like the practical coveralls of old, but when they reach a point several inches above the knees the legs have been whacked off. The material is rather festive, too, being linen or gabardine. Big metal buttons are added to provide a quaint touch.

A seersucker shirt in colors very gay is the ideal garment to complete one of these short overall costumes. You can take your choice of stripes or plaids. Incidentally, above the knees the legs have been whacked off. The material is rather festive, too, being linen or gabardine. Big metal buttons are added to provide a quaint touch.

A natural colored linen coat that has coin dots embroidered on it will become an impressive addition to several different costumes if you choose two-toned decorations. For example, one coat has some dots that are blue and others that are gold. Another prefers a color scheme of yellow and green. One dress is sold with each coat to make an ensemble, but there is no fashion rule that says you shouldn't buy another.

Composition clips, buckles and pins have been flashing their colors on so many summer frocks that you may have wondered what has happened to metal. It has been putting itself polished and painted for a new late summer spurge. Several new evening frocks demonstrate its novelty. One has the neckline squared by two metal clips painted part red and part black and studded with rhinestones. A matching buckle holds the wide crushed girle in place. This gown, by the way, is of black chiffon, a point deserving of note.

Border prints are the answer to the call for something a little different in the way of summer sheers. One jacket, frock that would be ideal for travel displays a tiny all-over pattern on brown and white, with the brown emphasized in the border. The one-piece frock uses the border only to edge the short sleeves and to provide a jabot. The jacket has it forming a tuxedo front. Another navy frock of chiffon combines navy and white, the jacket having three-quarter sleeves edged with the border and a flattering cape collar, also decorated.

A gingham frock may have some clownish details and be a tailored success anyway. A collar that is gathered into a very full ruffle gives a Pierrot emphasis to one plaid gingham in shades of blue, white and green. Instead of regulating sleeves with the border and a flattering cape collar, also decorated.

If you wear a beret with a peak in its crown, this is an indication that you think well of the Chinese influence. A very striking model is of bright navy, belted ribbon and has the middle of the crown stitched to form a pattern. A flange of the material is set on at a swag angle and suggests a little brim.

Those new beach dresses which end at the knees don't offer much help if you insist upon wearing a skirt over your bathing suit but they do help in providing you a swanky appearance. Except for the fact that the skirts are so brief they follow the style of the full length play frocks. Knitted fabrics are preferred.

When making fruit gelatine, the fruit will not rise to the top if stirred in when the gelatine is partly set and cooled.

Where Are the Great Figures Of Other Days on Broadway?

By George Tucker

NEW YORK, June 26. HERE are the stars of yesterday on this outlandish board street called Broadway? Their names flit easily in and out of the pigeon holes of the mind as one, in a reminiscent mood, recalls them:

It has been five years since Broadway saw Zelma O'Neill. Claiborne Foster is the wife of an aviation executive and dwells in Rio de Janeiro. Irene Castle, wrapped up in her home for founding dogs and cats, knows Broadway now only as a visitor, though a frequent one.

Lya de Putti and Tex Guinan are dead. So is Lil Tashman. Buster West is in four-day vaudeville. Janet McLeay is married and Ada May is divorced. Whatever happened to Irene Bordoni with her Parisian eyes and accent? When last heard of, Ann Pennington was doing presentations in movie houses.

You'll have to go all the way to a Louisiana plantation to find Marguerite Clark. She's Mrs. Harry Williams, wife of the lumber king. Frank Fay is back on the Coast. Irene Delroy is wedded and has turned her back on Broadway for keeps. Lillian Gish, who just finished a movie and whose play was a quick failure this year, is living quietly in New York. Now and then beautiful Katharine Ray is glimpsed at one of the night clubs, but not often.

IT'S domesticity from now on for Marion Cookley, who first climbed to fame as the only woman in the cast of "The Rocket." Larry Fay was murdered. Helen Hayes, of course, is a queen of the movies and the stage as well. Hal Skelley was killed only the other day. The last seen of Peaches Browning, she was slim as a ballet dancer. Helen Morgan alternates between the studios of Long Island and the Pacific Coast. Edith King is in the opera in St. Louis. Mital Mayfair is abroad.

As the road which has no turning one could go on forever: Considering them in the light of past, present and future, Broadway is like a bed of perennials; each new season brings a different flowering.

BOUDOIR DOLL DESIGN

BOUDOIR DOLL PATTERN 781

SOMEHOW a boudoir doll must be exotic and so express the feminine longing for frilliness. This dainty one, lovely dressed on organdie, crisp taffeta or any cotton material is certainly frilly and yet very simple to sew. The ruffles, of course, could be of lace or a contrasting material. The hat, too, is easy to make but if preferred may be omitted, as the doll is certainly very well dressed without it.

Pattern 781 comes to you with a pattern for a dress, hat and petticoat for a regulation 28 inch doll; detailed instructions and material requirements for making these.

Send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) for this pattern to St. Louis Post-Dispatch, Needlecraft Dept., 22 Eighth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

Lovely Things Are Missed If Too Near One

By The Rev. Joseph Fort Newton

A LICE MOSS turned a big trouble into a happy little poem, and she tells us how she learned to do it. The bank had failed, like so many others, and every cent she had was lost. She was down in the dumps, sure that there was no sadder soul in all the land. Her washerwoman, too, lost her mite of the same bank, but she was singing as she worked.

"How do you do it?" asked the poet. "How can you be so gay?" You lost everything, too, don't you regret?" To which the washerwoman replied, as she went on hanging the clothes on the line, "Yes, ma'am, but what's the use of fret? God's bank ain't busted yet!"

It is easy enough if you know the knack of it, as the poet found out to her joy and ours.

It makes one think of a colored church down in Alabama that got a new preacher. Next day two of the deacons met on the street, and one said to the other: "Jerry, how do you like the new preacher?" To which Jerry replied, "Well, Sam, I'll tell you, I likes him pretty good. He asks God for things that our old preacher didn't even know He had!"

Also, a lot of us will be happier, as well as more sensible, if we stop counting what we have lost and look at what we have. In these days we are discovering that we have all sorts of things we did not know we had—sources of joy, secrets of satisfaction, of which we were unaware. We had taken them for granted; or else overlooked them entirely.

"Yes, but that is just kidding ourselves," it may be said. Not at all. It is getting the fog out of our eyes—blinded by wounded vanity or base ingratitude—in order to see the lovely things we miss, because they are so close to us. No wonder the quest for happiness is an unhappy quest; we seek too high for what is nearby in little things.

Jesus told a little story about a man who found a pearl in a field. Quickly he sold what he had and bought the field, to get the pearl. But about the unfound pearls all about us, perhaps within us. Anyway, the wise poet drew rich dividends of faith and hope and peace of mind when she discovered that "God's bank ain't busted yet!" (Copyright, 1934.)

A Woman, Dis Says Men L Because Th

By M

UNFORTUNATELY I did not see the letter by "Bachelors" in the "Another Bachelor" column. It interested me immensely. Why is it that when a woman is a man deep, and he finds out she does and says things that hurt so deeply? Even though you're willing to just "string along" with men until they make a decision one way or another, want their freedom, take the years of a woman's life, as it is, easy for women after 30 to sit on a sofa, and wait for the sophisticated sort. Men are more attractive after 30 than they are, and no doubt that is one reason why so many younger women are older men for their company and friends. It sounded very interesting when I read "Unlike a Bachelor, I have not closed the glass door to romance." I like to believe in everything good and beautiful; but lately, a few men I know, over 40, too, who try to impress you have suddenly changed. Naturally then, you change your attitude not only toward them, but toward all men. They tell you that you, and turn around and go with others. That's why it is hard for men in their late forties to find someone companions. They kill everything fine and beautiful in a woman's heart, and if she does marry, the one she marries only has the fragments that remain. I am sincerely anxious to meet "Another Bachelor" for a week. I can't believe he is any different than other cynical men.

LONGER
My Dear Mrs. Carr: I WANT to thank you for help in the letter by "Bachelors" in the "Another Bachelor" column. I gave it to me with a couple "baby buntins." I certainly appreciate them very much.

Dear Martha Carr: JUST read about the girl who was a habitual drunkard. That's bad. I know. You see, I myself, I nearly killed me. I was 24 years old now, but look at me. Nothing but drink caused my life. Now I'm not drinking, not a beer. I went to a doctor and gives me medicine. He told that if I drank while taking medicine, it would kill me. Maybe it would kill me. When I got it into my head to drink, I thought of what he told me. I scared, too. I was around people who drank plenty, and still I the will-power to refuse. To girl I would say:

Just say to yourself, "No, fight it, and not drink—regardless of the thinking of something hard. Refuse to drink, you must have it. You can if you want. Martha Carr, let's tell to try. Let's ask her to refuse to drink on the idea that she just must have it. I know, after one year of drinking. It has taken me actively five weeks to quit.

I would like to talk to that girl, Martha; wonder if I could? I tell her plenty things that I know. JUST A BACHELOR

It is very kind of you to offer, I have the address and will send a letter came in some time ago. I hope she will read this and follow your good suggestions. Anybody didn't sign your name nor your address, which, of course, would be necessary.

My dear Mrs. Carr: I AM acquainted with an elderly widow, who, for sentimental reasons, has in her keeping about $100 in gold, once given her husband by a group of friends. She would like to know whether she is violating the new Federal law regarding hoarding, as someone has suggested. If you could let me know whether there is a penalty for keeping such a sum?

Upon inquiry, I find that one subject to fine for keeping a sum of gold; even a two dollar and a half piece, unless it is a gold and has a premium as a gold. Any bank of standing will explain all the details of this to her.

My dearest Mrs. Carr: HAVE written to you asking for help. I would ask help from any of God's people. I pray every night that somebody will give me a home and I will do any kind of work. My parents don't want me any more. I am sorry. I am a perfectly good girl that don't go out and never did go out yet.

My parents make me do all the work outside in the fields, lift eight gallon cans of water, then come in and clean the floor, wash the room house and get dinner ready. Then I have to go right back to the field again and stay till 8 p.m. have supper on the table till 11 p.m. then they go to bed and call me the bad names they can think of. They say they don't want me any more, because I let them know I was a good girl. I let them know I was a good girl. I let them know I was a good girl. I let them know I was a good girl.

Now, if someone in the city will have me I will work for my board and clothes. I don't get any help from Mrs. Carr, will you please write if anybody will have me? JUST A BROKEN-HEARTED GIRL

Don't you think, perhaps, you parents say me that they need me. There are trouble in the city and Quacker interrupted him, "The whole amount at small bags of grain and six boxes of seeds per duck," said Quacker. "That will help me in the future, for the responsibility I have during the summer, I expect ducklings will be able to rough food around here to them from needing anything but Mrs. Big Duck will see by don't go hungry."

Big Duck quacked in agreement and the parents spoke themselves. They came back and said to Director Big Duck: "We are going to send all our ducks from Quackerville and Muddle to you. When does it begin?"

Quacker said the day after tomorrow. "I'll be glad to see all your ducks. We have a great many little coming to us and we're sure children will return to you healthy and happy."

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

INCREASING DEAD WEIGHT—A 200-pound man pushing on a scale will find that he can tip the scale at considerably more by suddenly rising to a standing position. Try it some time. The attendant push on the scale is the same effect as that produced by jumping on the scale from more than a foot or two in elevation. THE CONSTANT BREAKFAST—During the last 49 years John Reichardt of Iowa City, Iowa, has eaten no less than 215,000 pancakes and more than 100,000 eggs on his breakfast menus alone. Every morning, without exception, he eats a dozen cakes and half a dozen fried eggs, and at times eats exactly the same dish for lunch and dinner. He just grew to like them when he was a boy and never changed. TOMORROW: "IMMORTAL PUNISHMENT."

FURTHER VIOLENCE IN AUSTRIA; BOMB CAUSE HEAVY LOS

Buildings and Railways Tracks Wrecked on 20th Anniversary of Assassination at Sarajevo.

SOLDIERS FIGHT FASCIST GUARD

Police Captain Killed Clash at Graz—Severe Damage Inflicted Blasts at Salzburg.

By the Associated Press.
VIENNA, June 28.—Widespread bombings occurred in Austria today, one of which was said probably to have been directed at Leo Barthou, French Foreign Minister.
The main line of a railroad near Bludenz was damaged by a bomb.
Trains were delayed for several hours, but one bearing Barthou
Paris missed the explosion.
Widespread property damage accompanied the disorders on the twentieth anniversary of the assassination of Archduke Franz Ferdinand at Sarajevo. Bombs were dropped in a political clash suffered in a political clash Graz. Ralls were blown up Judenberg, in Styria, and telegraph cables were dynamited at various points in that province.
A power plant at Muehlau, near Innsbruck, was disabled.
Bomb at Printing Plant.
In Innsbruck dynamiters attempted to wreck a pro-government printing plant. A time bomb was discovered by a watchman, who threw it off the roof into a garden cave next door. The explosion was so violent that it not only wrecked
the cave, but caused considerable damage to the printing plant.
In the cities of Rust, Aachen and Hall, electric power plants were dynamited and other railway bombings were reported at Hohen-Dirnbirn and other points in Vi-enarberg province, which Chancellor Dollfus is scheduled to visit tomorrow.
Many Nazis and Socialists were jailed.
The clash at Graz was between Austrian troops and members of the Fascist Heimwehr (home guard).
Several of the latter were injured.
Not only did the soldiers beat the Heimwehr men, theoretically the mainstay of the Dollfus Government, but they tore down pictures
of Prince Ernst von Starhemberg,
Vice-Chancellor and a powerful government figure. Deep political significance was attached to the outbreak. During the clash combustion of the city of Salzburg.
Explosions in Salzburg.
Salzburg was rocked by explosions. A heavy blast in Mack Square damaged virtually all the buildings surrounding it. The seventeenth century Holy Trinity Church, built by Austria's famous baroque architect, Fischer von Erlach, was damaged by a bomb.
Other bombs also damaged the priest's house, the Cathedral Front headquarters. The municipal theater, the house of Wolfgang Ma-zart, the noted composer of the eighteenth century, and the Hotel Bristol.
Other places with shattered fronts and damaged facades included the Hotel Mirabel where gambling casino was scheduled to open this weekend. The basement heating plant of the Provincial Government building at Salzburg was wrecked and the lower floor of the building was damaged by a time bomb explosion in a sewer.
The city water works also were bombed and the railroad near the city was torn up by dynamite.
Three points of the Mittenwald
Railway in the Tyrol were dynam-
ited and the rails torn up.
The Kufstein Electric plant was bombed. At Anstetten the railroad tracks were blown up.

Sarajevo Much the Same: From
bers From Many Travelers.
Gavrilo Princip killed Archduke
Franz Ferdinand, heir to Austria's throne, at Sarajevo, Bosnia 20 years ago, resulting in the World War.
An Austrian court sentenced Princip to life imprisonment. He died in prison. Hardly anyone
now remembers Princip, who was 19 at the time of the assassination.
Twenty years after Sarajevo is much the same, except that it is larger by about 10,000 population and prosper, in a way, from the many travelers.
The anniversary of the crushing of the medieval Serbian empire by the Turks. The decision of the Austrian Archduke to visit Sarajevo the anniversary was regarded by many quarters as a tactical mistake. The end of Serbian glory

Will the Inkwells Be Washed?

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

IF YOU need a new postoffice, just write to Jim Farley and change your hollow tree for a marble building.

Jim is building 300 new postoffices, mainly because the old ones had been used by Republicans.

Morgenthau and Farley have got $100,000,000 from the PWA. You must admit that things are getting more prosperous when every letter of the alphabet is worth a billion dollars.

We hate to see the New York Postoffice go. In the old days they used to steam open registered mail in the parlor and hang pirates in the attic. That's why the colonial rooms have high ceilings.

Tex Guinan went on trial in the same building for selling booze. Nobody knows the verdict in that case, because the Judge is still trying to write it out with a postoffice pen.

discovered by a watchman, who
threw it off the roof into a garden
cave next door. The explosion was
so violent that it not only wrecked
the cave, but caused considerable damage to the printing plant.

In the cities of Rust, Aachensee and Hall, electric power plants were dynamited and other railway bombings were reported at Hohenheim, Dirmbrunn and other points in Vorarlberg province. The Austrian Dollfus is scheduled to visit tomorrow.

Many Nazis and Socialists were
jailed.
The clash at Graz was between Austrian troops and members of the Fascist Heimwehr (home guard).
Several of the latter were injured.
Not only did the soldiers beat the Heimwehr men, theoretically the mainstay of the Dollfus Government, but they tore down pictures
of Prince Ernst von Starhemberg,
Vice-Chancellor and a powerful government figure. Deep political significance was attached to the outrage. During the clash, some bystanders shouted "Hitler Hitler."

Explosions in Salzburg.
Salzburg was rocked by explosions. A heavy blast in Mackart Square damaged virtually all the buildings surrounding it. The seventeenth century Holy Trinity church, built by Austria's famous baroque architect, Fischer von Erlach, was damaged by a bomb.

Other bombs also damaged the provincial house, the Faterland Front headquarters. The municipal theater, the house of Wolfgang Mo-rath, the noted composer of the eighteenth century, and the Hotel Bratol.

Other places with shattered facades included the Hotel Mirabel where a gambling casino was scheduled to open this weekend. The basement
heating plant of the Provincial Government building at Salzburg was damaged and the lower floor of the building was damaged by a time
bomb explosion in a sewer.

The city water works also was bombed and the railroad near the city was torn up by dynamite.
The points of the Mittelsaal
Railway in the Tyrol were dynam-
ited and the rails torn up.

The Kufstein Electric plant was bombed. At Anstetten the railroad tracks were blown up.

Sarajevo Much the Same; Prospers From Many Travelers.
Gavrilo Princip killed Archduke
Franz Ferdinand, heir to Austrian throne, at Sarajevo, Bosnia, 20 years ago, resulting in the World War.

An Austrian court sentenced Princip to life imprisonment. He died in prison. Hardly anyone
now remembers Princip, who was 19 at the time of the assassination.

Twenty years after Sarajevo is much the same, except that it is larger by about 10,000 population, and prospers, in a way, from the
many travelers.

The anniversary of the Sarajevo assassination is also the 54th anniversary of the crushing of the medieval Serbian empire by the Turks. The decision of the Austrian Archduke to visit Sarajevo on the anniversary was regarded as a quarter of a century reminder of the end of Serbian glory.

BROTHERS HOP OFF TO FLY ATLANTIC, U. S. TO POLAND

Benjamin and Joseph Adamowicz Leave New York for Harbor Grace, Accompanied By Veteran Adviser.

By the Associated Press.
ROCKLAND, Me., June 28.—
Observers at the Whitehead Coast Guard station said the monoplane Warsaw passed directly overhead at 9:05 a. m. Fourteen minutes later a plane was seen by watchers on Mount Desert Island
50 miles northeast of here.

By the Associated Press.
BROOKLYN, N. Y., June 28.—
The Adamowicz brothers, Benjamin and Joseph, took off at 5:40 a. m.
today on a trans-Atlantic flight to Warsaw, Poland.

They headed for Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, there to refuel and then turn out across the Atlantic toward their native land.

They were accompanied in their red, white and blue monoplane, Warsaw, by Holger Holiris, who flew to Copenhagen in 1931 in the same plane, then called Miss Laberty. Holiris was to leave them at Harbor Grace.

Rainstorms were in the path of the flyers between here and Boston; the weather from Boston to Maine was only fair; but favorable conditions were forecast from Maine to Harbor Grace, and very good weather was promised across the Atlantic.

The flyers took only half a dozen sandwiches and four oranges.
Their plane carries no radio, no parachute and no life raft, but the brothers did take a very signal pistol, with 24 red flares and one white parachute flare.

Plane Heavy on Takeoff.
The Warsaw rumbled down 3000 feet of the 4100-foot runway before finally rising heavily into the air.
At about 50 feet, it mushed down,
but then gathered altitude and rose safely and disappeared in the early morning haze to the north.

About 100 persons were at Floyd Bennett airport when the brothers arrived from their home at 5 o'clock.

With the big ship carrying 400 gallons of gasoline, there was just room enough for the brothers and Holiris—Benjamin in the cockpit with Holiris and Joseph in a place behind the fuel tanks.

The plane has a cruising speed of 110 miles an hour and a top speed of 140. The brothers expected to reach Harbor Grace about 3 o'clock this afternoon.

The brothers are residents of Brooklyn and partners in a mineral water business.

AMATEUR DIVER ASPHYXIATED
WEARING HOME-MADE HELMET
Failed to Provide Outlet for Carbon Dioxide as Parents Witness Fatal Experiment.

By the Associated Press.
WILKES-BARRE, Pa., June 28.—
Joseph Bradbury, 21 years old, lost his life because he failed to provide an outlet for carbon dioxide gas in constructing a homemade diver-ing helmet.

He wore the helmet, consisting of a hot-water heater with a garden hose for an airline, in Harvey's Lake yesterday. His parents watched him enter the water with a 35-pound stone tied to his body.

When bubbles appeared on the surface, George Lutz, a life guard, suspected trouble. He dived and recovered the body. Physicians said Bradbury died of asphyxiation.

JOBLESS MEN AT PANA REFUSE
WORK AT 40 CENTS AN HOUR
100 Report, but Say They Want Same Pay as That Given at Taylorville.

By the Associated Press.
PANA, Ill., June 28.—V. R. Matthews, superintendent of Christian County Relief, said that 100 unemployed men to whom street work was offered here refused the jobs because the pay was only 40 cents an hour.

The men reporting for work demanded 60 cents an hour, the same as that being paid by the relief commission in Taylorville, the Christian County seat. Matthews said his proffered rate of 40 cents was the same as that paid by the city of Pana for day labor.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, June 28.—Guy T.
Helvering, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, announced tax penalties had been assessed against a dozen holding corporations charged with passing profits to surplus for the purpose of reducing income tax payments required of stockholders.

Under the Revenue Act, 1922, corporations violating this law may be fined up to 50 per cent of their net profits.

GOV. PARK REFUSES TO STOP HANGING IN CITY TOMORROW

Eugene Copeland, Negro,
to Go to Gallows in Jail at 6 A. M. for Killing of Jacob P. Davis in Holdup

Gov. Park said today at Jefferson City that he would not interfere with the execution of Eugene Copeland, Negro, who is to be hanged at City Jail at 6 o'clock tomorrow morning for the killing of Jacob P. Davis, in a holdup of his furniture store at 1107 Franklin avenue, two years ago.

At the same time, the Governor announced he would not act to save Paul H. Kauffman, to be hanged tomorrow at Kansas City for the murder of Avis Woolery, 17-year-old Carthage (Mo.) girl who had gone to Kansas City in response to Kauffman's advertisement for a nursemaid.

"I am satisfied Copeland is guilty after investigating the case," said Gov. Park. "The record showed nearly a detailed confession to the police but confessions were made by Copeland to two or three other persons."

Relatives of Copeland and other
St. Louis Negroes had asked the Governor to grant him a commutation of sentence to life imprisonment.

Copeland, who is 35 years old,
has been in jail since September, 1931. A 48-hour fast was begun yesterday morning when the condemned man was placed in a cell on the top floor of the jail in custody of two deputy sheriffs.

Copeland has spent most of his time reading a prayer book and other religious works since last Sunday, when he was converted to the Catholic faith by the Rev. John A.
De Villibus, S. J., assistant pastor of St. Elizabeth's Church, 2721 Pine boulevard. The prisoner said he had "found the peace that passeth understanding" and was ready for his fate.

"I am interested only in the spiritual world," he went on. "This earth seems like a dunghill to me
now. After a man has found peace, he is not afraid of anything, while
Mr. Rich Man, outside, will maybe get so worried over his millions that he puts a bullet in his brain."

FIVE HEAT DEATHS IN ST. LOUIS WHEN MERCURY HITS 102

88 LAST MIDNIGHT, MANY IN THE PARKS

One of the Dead, Found in North of Delmar, Is Unidentified.

Five deaths yesterday were attributed to the heat as the temperature reached 102 degrees at 3:30 p. m. Today was the tenth consecutive day with temperatures above 90.

Weather experts promise no immediate relief, the forecast for tomorrow being "Fair and continued warm."

Frank Cahill, 57-year-old salesman, collapsed at his home, 1910A California avenue, at 10 o'clock last night. He was pronounced dead on arrival at City Hospital.

A. C. Johnson, 46, was overcome while working in the baggage room of the Illinois Terminal Railroad Station, Twelfth street and Delmar boulevard, at 3:15 p. m. He died an hour later at City Hospital. He resided at the McKinley Hotel.

Fred H. McClellan, 61, also known as Mike Kelly, was prostrated in a grocery at 2104 South Second street, where he stopped for a drink of milk at noon, after complaining of the heat. He was pronounced dead at City Hospital.

McClellan, a section hand for the Manufacturers' Railway, lived at 1701 South Second street.

Dominick Doba, 61, a pattern maker, 1429 North Tenth street, was prostrated while walking in the 6800 block of Natural Bridge avenue at 3 p. m. He was pronounced dead by a neighborhood physician.
He resided at 6938 Greenwood avenue.

An unidentified man, about 50, found unconscious in an alley at Fifteenth street and North of Delmar boulevard, at 2:15 p. m., died three hours later at City Hospital without regaining consciousness. A slip of paper in his pocket bore the name, George Diehn. The man was 5 feet 5 inches tall, weighing 150 pounds and was slightly bald. The body is at the morgue.

Claude House, Negro, 20 South
Lewiston avenue, was taken to City Hospital last night after prostration at his home.

Fred Abington, a Negro, 3002
Lawton boulevard, was overcome at Fourth and Locust streets. He is in serious condition at City Hospital No. 2.

Nightfall brought little relief and many city dwellers spent the night in the parks. Numbers slept in their automobiles, parked at points likely to catch breezes. Ten or other spread covers on the grass.

At midnight the temperature was 88, with a drop of only four degrees in the next three hours. The lowest reading during the sleeping period was 81 at 5 a. m. At 8 o'clock the mercury had reached 88.

ILLINOIS OFFICER AND BAD MAN SHOT IN PISTOL FIGHT

Roy Gann, Gravely Wounded, in Clash at Assumption, Ill., Is Caught at Staunton.

ADMITS HOLDUPS IN MADISON COUNTY

Last Feb. 12 in Encounter Near Belleville He Shot
Sheriff Fitzgerald, Fled
From 20 Officers.

Roy Gann, 28-year-old barber who turned "bad man," shot his way out and escaped when deputies surrounded his home last Feb. 12 near Belleville, wounding Sheriff Fitzgerald of Edwardsville and a deputy, was captured last night after a pistol fight with Chief of Police John Ryan of Assumption, Ill., in which both were wounded.

Taken to a Carlinville (Ill.) hospital, seriously wounded, Gann admitted four holdups in Madison County for which he was wanted, police said, and that his 18-year-old brother, Howard, recently sentenced to an indefinite term in the Illinois State Penitentiary for an Edwardsville restaurant holdup, took part in two of them.

Gann, whose wife and three small children were permitted to leave his home while a truce was called in the two-hour siege last February, told officers to tell his brother,
"To be a good boy, for I'm about gone and won't be able to tell him."

Police Chief Falls, Men Flee.
Chief Ryan, taken to a Pana hospital, with two gunshot wounds in the head, said he came upon Gann and a companion trying to steal an automobile from the garage of an Assumption resident. He ordered them to come out of the garage and surrender. He opened fire. He opened fire and both fired back. Ryan fell, the two men ran, stole an automobile and escaped toward Staunton.

Three hours after the shooting at Assumption, Gann staggered into a Staunton saloon, asked for help, and collapsed in a chair. The proprietor called police, to whom Gann admitted shooting Chief Ryan. He also was being sought for questioning about a bank robbery by Sheriff Sam C. Allen of Lebanon, Mo., and for four holdups in Montgomery County, Illinois.

For years a barber in a small shop at Springfield, Mo., Gann left home about 18 months ago. St. Clair County officers said, and started on a career of crime with the robbery of the Ash Grove Bank in January, 1933, for which he is under indictment in Greene County, Missouri.

Shot Sheriff and Deputy.
After a series of holdups in Madison County, he was located living at Summerfield, near Belleville.
Twenty St. Clair and Madison County officers surrounded his home.
As they approached, he fired his fire with a sawed-off shotgun loaded with birdshot, wounding Fitzgerald and his deputy, Joseph F.
Kellerman, who sheltered themselves in a ditch until dark and then were taken to a hospital.
Both recovered.

Gann exchanged a steady fire with the officers, who, after getting the two wounded men out of range, hurled tear gas and smoke bombs into the house. Suddenly Gann leaped from a window. He dashed through the cordon of deputies into a wood with the officers in pursuit, but escaped.

The fugitive recently had made overtures to Sheriff Scott Curtis of Springfield, Mo., through a Pana (Ill.) attorney, stating by letter he was remorseful and would surrender if he could make a "deal" to serve one short term and "then start life with a clean sheet." He offered to plead guilty to any one crime agreed on by Missouri and Illinois authorities.

The attorney, who said he was did not know Gann, but was approached by friends of the fugitive, characterized Gann as "an embryonic Dillinger, who if allowed to run loose might do considerable damage."

LONGSHOREMEN CRASH DOCK BARRICADE WITH RAILWAY CAR

500 Remove 40 Non-Union Work-

Ship at Vancouver.

By the Associated Press.
VANCOUVER, B. C., June 28.—
Forty non-union workers employed in unloading United States cargo from the steamer Kingsley were removed from the ship here today by 500 longshoremen who used a railway tank car to crash through a heavy barricade erected at the entrance of the dock. The longshoremen's action followed a special meeting of the Vancouver and District Waterfront Workers' Association at which it was decided to ask the non-union men to leave the ship.

It was the first active move on the part of Vancouver longshoremen to prevent discharging of cargo loaded by non-union help at United States Pacific Coast ports where longshoremen are on strike.
The workers were promised no harm if they left peacefully. Two police officers were on duty at the time and reinforcements arrived within a few minutes but found the men orderly.

SENATOR NORRIS' AUTOMOBILE KILLS BOY IN PENNSYLVANIA

By the Associated Press.
WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., June 28.—
United States Senator Norris of Nebraska has interrupted his motor trip home to await the outcome of a Coroner's inquest into the death of a boy killed by Norris' automobile.

The Senator was not held after his car struck Russell MacMichael, 9 years old, yesterday, but he spent the night at a tourist home near Muncy. Witnesses said Norris was driving leisurely through Muncy when the boy ran into the path of his machine. The lad evaded his mother's grasp, and ran across the highway to take a proffered ride home in the automobile of his mother's employer, E. L. Anthony.
Mrs. Norris was in the machine.

sull said. "It is a problem of growing old, of meeting new difficulties.
One must face them with a sense too seriously. I am reminded of a prayer by Robert Louis Stevenson:

TOLD COUNSEL JURY HAD BEEN 'FIXED'

Story of Payments of Money by J. Porter
Henry Related—Questions About Attitude of Keeton Toward Defendant.

Irving L. Spencer, lawyer, was on the witness stand for the defense when the trial of Verne R.
C. Lacy, lawyer charged with corrupting a juror in a kidnapping case, entered its eighth day in Judge Hoffmeister's court today. In his testimony, Spencer, counsel for the Civil Liberties Union, is the lawyer who was consulted by Herbert L. Keeton, a former investigator in Lacy's office, as to what Keeton should do about the alleged jury-fixing at the trials of Paul Richards, whom Lacy had defended on the charge of kidnapping for ransom in the Alexander Berg case.

Keeton testified for the State last week that he acted on Spencer's advice in going to J. Porter Henry, attorney for the Post-Dispatch with his information. Henry was then defending the Post-Dispatch in the $500,000 damage suit filed by Richards, because the paper had characterized him as kidnappers' agent. Keeton has testified that he and Spencer deemed his information of value in defending the damage suit. Keeton's visit to Henry led to the grand jury inquiry which resulted in the indictment of Lacy and a law associate, Joseph W. Hartman, on the jurorcorrupting charge. Hartman has taken a severance.

Tells of Meeting Keeton
Spencer was questioned yesterday by Sigmund M. Bass, defense counsel. He said he was admitted to the practice of law here in 1923.
About the first case he handled was 1932, he met Keeton, making his acquaintance through Paul Byron.
Spencer then had an office in the Paul Brown building.

"Keeton was staying around my office in December," Spencer related. "He had left Mr. Lacy, and didn't seem to be doing anything in particular, and he came up to my office and stayed around, and said he thought he could get me some business, though he never got me any."

"Did he make any suggestion to you," Bass asked, "relating to the prospect of some money in reference to Mr. Lacy and the Post-Dispatch?"

"Yes," said Spencer. "He mentioned that he knew something that would help the Post-Dispatch in its Richards libel suit."

"What, if anything, did you suggest to him in that regard?"

"He said if he could talk to the attorneys for the Post-Dispatch he could give them some information about Mr. Lacy and the jury in the Richards case."

THOUSANDS RIOT IN TROLLEY STRIKE AT MILWAUKEE

Crowds at Four Points Fight Policemen, Damage Cars and Cripple Transportation Service.

MOTORMEN DRAGGED FROM CABS, BEATEN

One Patrolman Stabbed in Back, Others Kicked and Stoned and Their Uniforms Torn.

By the Associated Press.
MILWAUKEE, June 28.—Street fighting occurred today at the Oakland avenue barns of the Milwaukee Electric Railway & Light Co. as strike pickets battled Motorman John Nixon from his car and beat him and his guard, John Zak.

Detachments of pickets kicked in the car doors, swarmed into the car, shattering windows, and mauled Nixon. One assailant struck him on the head with a control handle and he rolled out the door to the ground. Others in the crowd meanwhile felled Zak and kicked him in the stomach.

Police of suburban Shorewood, where the barns are situated, were unable to rescue them. Witnesses said Nixon fled from his assailants.

Second Night of Rioting
Irregular trolley car and motor bus service had been resumed today after having been suspended for eight and one-half hours last night, the second successive night of rioting.

Police Chief Jacob G. Laubenhauer prepared to ask maximum penalties today for 58 persons arrested in the four rioting zones last night, in one of which police used tear gas for the first time since the strike began. More than 20 policemen, pickets, utility employees and bystanders were injured, some requiring hospital treatment, by bricks, flying glass, night sticks and fists.

A survey this morning showed trolley service badly crippled and several bus lines virtually at a standstill. Only 220 of the normal complement of 267 cars were operating and a company officer said he expected little improvement in the service later in the day. Motormen, intimidated by the riots of the last two nights, hesitated to take the cars out, he said. So seriously was the service crippled on one cross-town line that only one of the normal 100 cars appeared on the streets.

Motormen, Officers Attacked.
The scene of the first riots Tuesday night, the Kinnickinnic avenue car barns and yards, again was the center of last night's trouble. More than 10,000 persons, police estimated, milled, about midnight.

Trouble started when the rioters began battering two street cars. Motormen were dragged from the cars and beaten before police could interfere. Uniforms of the officers were ripped and their owners kicked and stoned. One officer was stabbed in the back with an ice pick.

In West Allis, a suburb, 8000 persons descended on the car barns, stopped 12 street cars being brought in, smashed windows, ripped doors from their hinges and then bombarded the station windows with rocks.

Almost simultaneously a throng of 3000 attacked a trolley on the lower south side, cut trolley ropes and dragged operators from the car. When a single police squad car responded to the call, the rioters tipped the auto over, injuring one detective.

Waiting Room Windows Broken.
As the trouble died down on the south side, it broke out violently on the west side at the Found Du Lac avenue yards where 10,000 persons returned a peaceful residential section into an uproar. Unable to scale the concrete walls to enter the yards, the rioters threw bricks through plate glass windows of the waiting rooms.

Irrked at the utility's reluctance to grant concessions in the strike, Maj. John D. Moore, Federal mediator, announced he was writing the National Labor Board to order a vote of employees to determine the type of bargaining representatives they wish. He asked that powers of the new labor disputes act be used.

The strike centers about the unions' demands for a vote to determine whether A. F. of L. unions should replace the utility company union in collective bargaining.

Lawyer Who Advised Keeton Testifies for Lacy

that Mr. Keeton had some information that might be of interest to him.

"Did you say whether or not Mr. Keeton wanted to sell the information?"

"I told him that Mr. Keeton expected to be paid for the information."

"And did you name any figure?"

"No definite sum was discussed, but he said he wouldn't promise to pay Mr. Keeton any particular sum."

"Did you have any further conversation with Mr. Keeton?"

"I did. I talked to him about the matter before we went over to Mr. Henry's office."

Talked About $5000.
"Did Keeton then suggest about how much money he ought to get for this business?"

"He said the information ought to be worth anywhere up to $5000."

"Did he say how you were going to figure in on it?"

"There was no specific discussion about that. I presumed that I was."

"Did Mr. Keeton, before you took him, or before that time, or any time, tell you anything about his attitude towards Mr. Lacy?"

"Yes, he said he didn't like Mr. Lacy, he was going to get even with him, that Mr. Lacy hadn't done him right."

"Did he say anything else about Mr. Lacy's conduct towards him about hitting him, or anything?"

"Yes, he mentioned that before and also afterwards, he said that he had a controversy with Mr. Lacy over a case of a man by the name of Martin, that was pending in Springfield. He told me in this Martin case that Mr. Lacy was out of town and he had collected $250 as a fee, that Mr. Martin thought he was a lawyer, and he had gone down with Martin and got him out on bond, and when they got down for the preliminary hearing they were a little late and he said he got a little excited and he told Martin to leave, and Martin jumped on him, and he was later caught and sentenced to five years in the penitentiary. He said that Mr. Lacy was very much put out."

Collected From Martin.
"Did Keeton say he collected this off of Martin?"

"Yes, he said that Mr. Lacy was a lawyer."

"He told me that he had represented himself to be a lawyer and lots of people thought he was a lawyer."

"Did he say what he got from Martin?"

"He said between $200 and $250."

"Did he say whether or not he gave that to Lacy?"

"From his statement I judged that he didn't give it to Lacy. (Objection sustained.)"

"What did he say in that regard?"

"He said Mr. Lacy didn't know anything about the case until he got back and found out about it."

"Did he say anything about the money after making the statement about collecting it?"

"He said that Mr. Lacy was very much put out that Keeton had taken money that way, and represented himself and used Lacy's office in obtaining a bondsman."

Asked About Alleged Blow.
"Did he ever, at that time or any other time, tell you about Mr. Lacy striking him when he was rifling Mr. Lacy's office?" (Objection sustained.)

"Did he ever tell you anything further about his personal feelings towards Mr. Lacy?"

"Yes, he told me that Mr. Lacy had accused him of taking money out of his safe and had knocked him down; he also told me that Mr. Lacy was very lax about the cash that was in the office, and often he took from $10 to $15 out of the safe a week, and Mr. Lacy had not known about it."

"Did you finally take this man over to Mr. Porter Henry's office?"

"I did."

"Was this presentation of Mr. Keeton to Mr. Henry before or after you learned of these matters of his conduct that you have just been testifying to?"

"It was before."

"When you first met Mr. Keeton and he was first around your office, did you know anything about that matter that you have just been discussing?"

"I did not."

"When you took him to see Mr. Porter Henry of the Post-Dispatch, on the first occasion, do you recollect about when that was?"

"It was in the latter part of December, 1932, just before Christmas or just after Christmas."

"About what time in the day?"

"I believe it was in the afternoon; I wouldn't say for certain, but I think it was about 2 o'clock."

"Did you two go alone, or did you have someone with you?"

"We were alone."

"Did you introduce Keeton to Porter Henry, the Post-Dispatch lawyer?"

"I did."

"Tell us then what was said and done in your presence?"

"Well, Mr. Keeton told Mr. Henry that he knew about the jury in the Richards case being fixed, and he told him that he could get him the information, he told him that he could give him the name of one of the jurors and various other information—I don't remember all of it."

"Did he say whether or not he would require a little persuasion in the form of money or would he do it just as gratuity? (Objection sustained.)"

"What proposition did he make in that regard?"

"He said he ought to be paid for it, and Mr. Henry said he wouldn't promise any specific sum, he would have to take it up with his client and he didn't know whether any specific sum would be authorized."

"So you know thereafter of any further meeting between Mr. Henry and this man Keeton?"

"I believe there was another meeting that I know about, and I also saw Mr. Henry two or three times after that."

"Did any money pass between Mr. Keeton and Mr. Henry that you know of?"

"Mr. Henry gave me a check payable to me for $100 on account in the matter, in the latter part of December."

"When was that trip taken?"

"On account of the information given by Mr. Keeton."

"What did you do with the money?"

"Mr. Keeton got a suit of clothes out of part of it and he got $25 or $30 cash, and the rest was spent on a trip we took together, along with about $250 of my own money."

"The first part of January, 1933."

"Where to?"

"To end at Broken Bow, Neb. However, I got 50 miles from Broken Bow."

"Did Mr. Keeton leave you there?"

"He left me there and came back about 12 hours later."

"What was the purpose of that trip?"

"He said Mr. Lacy told me—(Objection sustained.)"

"If Mr. Keeton hadn't been cross-examined on that matter," Bass said to the Court, "it probably wouldn't be material, but he was cross-examined on this trip, and he denied that he went up there to get a certain sum of money."

The Court again sustained the State's objection.

State whether or not you visited Porter Henry, attorney for the Post-Dispatch, at any other time on behalf of Mr. Keeton, relating to money?"

"I went up there March or April, 1933, to see Mr. Henry about obtaining some money."

"Tell whether or not, after Mr. Keeton had agreed, if he did agree, to take $100 for the Post-Dispatch for money, he had not then involved himself which would ruin him as a witness for the Post-Dispatch, if it did become necessary for the Post-Dispatch to bail him out or pay him out of his then present difficulty?"

Objection sustained.

Asked About Occupation.
"Did Keeton engage in any other work or occupation at this time, other than serving the Post-Dispatch?"

"In December or January he was supposed to take care of, or he was taking care of, some matters." (Objection to this testimony sustained.)

"Did Porter Henry, representing the Post-Dispatch, give you any other money than that that you have already testified to, for the use of Keeton?"

"Yes, in March or April, 1933, $100."

At the start to today's session Spencer was withheld from the witness stand until Mrs. Lacy's deposition was read and Dr. Alfred Goldman had testified in support of Lacy's alibi. Their detailed testimony is published elsewhere in this edition.

Spencer Returns to Stand.
Returning to the stand today for direct examination by the defense, Spencer was asked by Bass:

"Taking up your line of testimony did you receive any money in addition to the $100 you said Mr. Henry gave you in March or April, 1933?"

"No, that was my last contact," Spencer replied.

A State objection was sustained to Bass' next question, which was, "Did Keeton take a year about the murder of Fred Unger?"

After presenting an offer of proof, Bass continued with the witness.

"Did you and Keeton discuss the truth of Keeton's statement at any time after these charges were brought against Mr. Lacy?"

"He did not directly say the statement was untrue."

"What did he say?"

"In January or February of this year I was crossing Seventh street and Keeton came to in an automobile. He stopped and asked where my office was. Later in the day he came in. After looking me over, he remarked that I did not look very prosperous, and said, 'If I had stuck with me you would be better off, you won't get anywhere representing Communists. I got the Post-Dispatch to take care of me. I asked him if that was for giving information. He replied, 'What do you care, I got the money.'"

Bass turned the witness over to Prosecutor Hennings for cross-examination.

Questioning by Hennings.
"Where were you last Saturday?"

Hennings inquired, "I was drinking beer at Eighth and Market streets."

"You were not in Mr. Bass' office?"

"I believe I was there Friday evening."

"Now, weren't you there Saturday?"

"I don't keep a chart of my daily life. I possibly was in Mr. Bass' office."

Pressed for a more definite answer, the witness stated, "I will say I was there."

"Why did you tell us you were not there?"

Hennings then asked, "When did you first go to Bass' office?"

"Last Friday, after Mr. Bass telephoned me."

"Did you communicate with anyone else about going there?"

"No, Mr. Bass telephoned that he wanted to see me, and I stayed about 20 minutes."

"How long did you stay on Saturday?"

"Only a few minutes, we went to Mr. Lacy's office in the same building, but he was not there."

Taking up the witness' dealings with Porter Henry, the Assistant Circuit Attorney's first question was:

"I believe you received $50 in December, 1932, I received $100."

"On Feb. 21, 1933, you received $25." "I don't recall."

"Well, on Feb. 15 you were paid $50." "I do not recall that."

"March 21 there was a $25 payment, wasn't there?" "That's not right. There was one payment of $100 in March."

"How much did you get in all?"

"Just $100."

"For legal services?" "I was paid it and told to do with it what I wanted."

Hennings pressed the witness to answer "yes" or "no," but Spencer countered with the reply, "I asked for it for one purpose and received it for another."

"Not for Legal Services."
After Hennings repeated the question several times the witness replied, "I would say the money was not for legal services."

You expected to be paid by the Post-Dispatch as an intermediary?"

"I did."

"You did not ask a fee for legal services?" "I didn't ask for a fee for any particular kind of service. The last thing I wanted was to be involved in this case."

"You became involved voluntarily in this matter in December, 1932, did you not?" "I didn't know Keeton as well then as later."

"When you concluded that the man you represented was not all that you thought him to be," Hennings asked, "did you communicate with the Post-Dispatch?"

"I did."

The latter part of this answer was stricken out.

Says He Lost Faith in Keeton.
"Did you reach the opinion that he was not worthy of belief?"

"I had no opinion on that. I knew Keeton had done certain things that made me lose confidence with him."

"You had a falling out?" "I passed out of the picture."

The witness then volunteered a long, rapid and somewhat disconnected explanation of why he passed out of the picture. It had to do with the trip to Broken Bow, Neb., with Keeton, which, Spencer said, was made as a result of a suggestion by Keeton that he could get a legal case there.

"If you had rented a car and made a trip at an expense of several hundred dollars to go for a lawsuit and found that you'd taken a man to see a girl, you'd be put out, too," Spencer concluded.

Asked About "Bad Check."
In connection with the expense of the trip, Hennings inquired whether Spencer had not given a "bad check" to the company from which he rented the car. Spencer said he wrote the check the day his bank closed, and admitted that he had not yet made it good.

Questioning the witness about his activities during the "prohibition era," Hennings got from him a denial that he served as a Government informer. Spencer said he was an "associate attorney" with the prohibition bureau for 20 months, and that he had been discharged.

"Charges were brought against me," he explained, "and I was asked to resign. I told them I always was fired, I never resigned."

He added to this explanation, again speaking rapidly and in rambling fashion, and much of this statement was stricken out.

Spencer said the charges somewhat concerned an association with a Government informer in Kansas City. He furnished information against this man, he said, but the informer, he added, had some influence with Tom Pendergast, Kansas City political boss. "They sought to get me to say something that wasn't true," Spencer said, "and I was dropped Dec. 15, 1930. I demanded a grand jury investigation, and that ended it."

"In other words," Hennings suggested, "you were not indicted?"

"In other words," the witness repeated, "I was completely exonerated."

Letter to Porter Henry.
Hennings got Spencer to identify a letter he had as one Spencer had written to Porter Henry, May 26, 1933.

"Well, the letter prepared by Mr. Henry that I signed in his office in the Boatmen's Bank Building," Spencer said.

"Do you mean to say," Hennings inquired, "that you, a lawyer, signed a letter prepared by someone else?"

The witness said he often signed documents prepared by others.

"Hennings asked, 'Is the content of the letter what you signed?'"

Bass objected, and Hennings then offered the letter in evidence. On Bass' objection, it was ruled out, but the Court said Hennings might at the age of nine when he was in the Boatmen's Bank Building, Spencer said.

ALBERTA PREMIER BEGINS DEFENSE ON GIRL'S CHARGE

Father and Mother of Plaintiff Vivian MacMillan Among Final Witnesses for Prosecution.

LATTER TELLS OF BROWNLEE'S CALL
"If It's Money You Want I Haven't Any," She Quotes Defendant as Saying After Filing of Action.

By the Associated Press.
EDMONTON, Alta., June 28.—The defense today presented testimony in the seduction suit against Premier John E. Brownlee of Alberta, brought by Miss Vivian MacMillan, stenographer. She testified that Brownlee induced her to come to Edmonton by giving her a Government job, seduced her and wrecked her health.
Brownlee in a counter-suit asks for $10,000 damages, charging he is the object of a political conspiracy. In this suit he names Miss MacMillan and John Caldwell, young medical student to whom she was engaged, as defendants.
The amount of damages sought by Miss MacMillan has not been disclosed.
Testimony for the prosecution was closed after Mrs. Maude MacMillan, 67-year-old mother of the plaintiff, said Brownlee and his wife visited the MacMillan home when notified of the court action. Mrs. MacMillan was alone at the time, she testified.
"Brownlee wanted to find out the charges Vivian had made against him," he told me," the mother said. "I told him I had nothing to say—I couldn't talk because the case was in the lawyer's hands."
Mrs. MacMillan quoted the Premier as saying: "If it's money you want, I haven't got any."
Brownlee asked her, she said, if she realized Vivian's name would be by the action. Mrs. MacMillan said she told Brownlee his own name would suffer also.
Girl's Father on Stand.
The father, Allan MacMillan, co-plaintiff in the suit, testified that his daughter was "just a wreck." Each time his daughter returned home for a visit, he said, he noticed that her health was failing. He said that neither his daughter nor Caldwell had anything to do with starting the suit.
Jessie Elgert, formerly employed as a maid in the Brownlee home, told of seeing Miss MacMillan enter the Brownlee car one evening in October, 1930.
"How did you recognize the car?" asked Neil MacLean, counsel for Miss MacMillan. "I was in it myself that night."
"Were you ever with Mr. Brownlee before? Where had you gone?" Justice Ives, presiding, stopped the questioning along this line, and also would not allow her to tell whether Brownlee had ever asked her to come back to his employment after she left.

Newspaper Men Fined.
Justice Ives fined Charles E. Campbell, publisher, and J. S. Cowper, staff writer of the Edmonton Bulletin, on charges of contempt of court in connection with the reporting of the trial. Campbell was fined $300, or in default sentenced to 10 days at hard labor, and Cowper $100 with the alternative of three days at hard labor. The fines were paid under protest.
Justice Ives directed that all representatives of the Edmonton Bulletin, except photographers, be excluded from the press tables until the contempt had been purged. The sentence followed a complaint made by A. L. Smith, K. C., of Brownlee counsel, regarding articles in the hearing published by the Bulletin under the name of Cowper.
H. H. Parlee, Edmonton solicitor, appearing for the newspaper men, said he had just been called in and asked an opportunity to consider the matter, or to study the law in the case. Campbell, he said, had instructed his managing editor to cover the case fully, fairly and impartially and it was only fair he be given an opportunity to prepare his case.

Justice Ives replied three instances of contempt had been brought to his attention and the matter was serious in this case because, unlike a criminal action, the jury was not locked up in civil cases.

Carmi, shot in the abdomen, arm, cheek, told officers he had a dispute with the man over a trivial matter earlier in the day. The assailant fled following the shooting.

Curious Aspects of Scrivner Case on Which Suit to Bar "Eddie" Foristel From Federal Court Will Be Based

Defending Lawyers, in Argument to Supreme Court, Termed It "the Most Extraordinary Case We Have Ever Encountered."

Plaintiff's Change of Residence, "Quite a Coincidence," His Lawyer Testified, But Judge Faris Called It "Constructive Fraud on Court."

Curious aspects of the Scrivner case, brought to light five and one-half years after it was tried, through charges initiated by the Bar Association against attorneys Edward W. Foristel and Harvey B. Cox in Federal Court, are disclosed in the 13,000-word opinion of the State Supreme Court, the bulky transcript of testimony in Circuit Court and the opposing lawyers' argument to the Supreme Court, in which they said it was "the most extraordinary case we have ever encountered."

Basis of Complaint.
Briefly, the charge is that their client, John C. Scrivner, removed from Missouri to New Jersey in order to be able to bring his $200,000 damage suit against the American Car and Foundry Co. in the Circuit Court of St. Louis, where he expected to have a much better chance of winning than in Federal Court, to which jurisdiction the defendant corporation would be able to have it transferred if he remained a resident of Missouri, and that he did this on advice of Foristel and Cox.

This action of Scrivner was characterized by Judge Faris himself, in one of the numerous proceedings coming before him, as a "constructive fraud on this court."
The suit, filed in 1926, was for alleged breach of contract for use of Scrivner's patented furnace.

Scrivner, dissatisfied with his share of the settlement of the suit, complained to the Grievance Committee of the Bar Association last winter. The committee presented the complaint to Federal Judge Faris in chambers several months ago and he, after calling in attorneys representing Foristel and Cox and considering briefs by both sides, referred the file to Blanton, Missouri Supreme Court. "Even though it be obvious that plaintiff moved to New Jersey to force a trial of his case in the courts of Missouri," the Federal Court ultimately found he was in fact a resident of New Jersey, and that question is not before us."

Alleged Contract.
Another singular phase of the case was the exceptional character of the alleged contract with the American Car and Foundry Co. and the assertion that it was stolen 10 years after it was executed in 1911, but, fortunately, only a few months after a copy was made.

Admission into evidence by Circuit Judge Hamilton of this alleged copy of an alleged contract was responsible mainly for the Supreme Court's reversal of the judgment.
The alleged copy, exhibited in Circuit Court, provided for a period of 13 years, a period characterized by William R. Gentry, attorney for the company, as "very remarkable." The entire sum of $200,000 was to be paid in a lump at the end of 13 years, regardless of the extent of the use of the patent. The patent had been granted only nine days before the date of the alleged original contract. Signature on behalf of the company purportedly was by Robert L. Fogelman, not an officer of the defendant but merely superintendent of the Madison, Ill., plant, one of 17 operated by the company. Fogelman's testimony was unavailable, as he had died before the suit was instituted.

"Most unusual—unheard of—perfectly preposterous," argued Gentry and his associates. "The alleged contract is such as no corporation on earth would ever have entered into; nor would plaintiff or any other sane man have signed it."

Copy of Contract.
At the trial Miss Clara E. Kaiser, a stenographer, and Hayden Scrivner, brother of the plaintiff, testified they were in the office of Morgan Lemaster, Granite City attorney, when the original contract was signed. They said the copy was the same contract. Hayden Scrivner, admitting under cross-examination that he had not seen the original for 17 years, said the copy was identical. Lemaster, too, had died before the suit was filed.
Roser Scrivner, nephew of the plaintiff, testified he had made the copy at Gerald, Mo., in 1921 at the request of his uncle and that it was "word for word" the same as the original.
The Supreme Court decided that the copy's only authenticity as evidence was derived from the testimony of Miss Kaiser and Hayden Scrivner, who said they had seen the original, and that they should have been permitted to identify the copy only on the basis of Roser Scrivner's testimony. But, the could defeat Federal jurisdiction, just two days before his first suit was filed in State court here, where the company had offices.

Comment in the Record.
The record chronicles varying comment on these circumstances as follows:
Federal Judge Faris: "His removal was a flitting from one State to another with the sole purpose of preventing jurisdiction in this court."
Attorneys for the company: "The extraordinary conduct of the plaintiff in running away from jurisdiction of the United States Court is most remarkable."
Attorney Cox: "I do not know how the coincidence of his removal to New Jersey two days before the filing of the suit occurred. I would say, however, that it is quite a coincidence."

Missouri Supreme Court: "Even though it be obvious that plaintiff moved to New Jersey to force a trial of his case in the courts of Missouri, the Federal Court ultimately found he was in fact a resident of New Jersey, and that question is not before us."

STATE PRISON DEFICIT OF $250,000 LIKELY

Penal Board Plans to Ask for Rest of Emergency Appropriation.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, June 28.—The appropriation for salaries of employees of the Missouri Penitentiary during the biennial period of 1933 and 1934 is exhausted, other operating appropriations are running low, and the prison is confronted with a probable deficit of $250,000 to $300,000 by the end of the year.

Earnings of the prison industries, which are used to pay part of the penitentiary operating expenses, are sharply reduced due to a decline in sales which has resulted in the closing of several factories. The Penal Board plans to ask Gov. Park to release the remainder of an emergency appropriation of $205,000 made by the 1933 Legislature, which was to be used only if needed. The prison already has obtained $25,000 of this appropriation. If the remaining $180,000 is released, it will increase by the same amount the deficit confronting the State government.

State to Resume Borrowing.
Due to the depleted condition of the State Treasury, the State will have to resume borrowing money next month to meet general revenue payrolls and bills. State Auditor Smith said today. Present revenues are not adequate to meet the general operating expenses. During the latter part of 1933 and early this year the State borrowed nearly $3,000,000 from a Jefferson City bank to meet general revenue payrolls and bills. These loans have been repaid.

The Legislature made appropriations totaling $1,224,750 for salaries, operation and other expenses of the penitentiary for the biennial period. This does not include the $205,000 emergency fund. The prison has expended all of the appropriations except a balance of $164,762, most of which is in the operation appropriation for subsistence, clothing and miscellaneous operating expenses.
All of the $500,000 appropriated for payment of salaries has been expended and under the law balances in the other appropriations cannot be diverted from the purposes for which they were set aside.

Prison Industry Earnings.
The board is using the prison industry earnings, which have averaged about $20,000 a month, toward meeting the prison payroll, which averages about $37,000 a month. Stephen B. Hunter, chairman of the board, today said the board had not determined how salaries could be met for the remaining seven months as the earnings, which are declining, would not be adequate. The emergency fund, release of which will be asked, was appropriated for operation and cannot be used for salaries, Hunter said.

Operating costs of the prison average about $89,000 a month. Hunter said the appropriation balances remaining, together with estimated industrial earnings for the rest of the year, would meet the requirements for about four months, including June.

Overheard Conversation.
Another odd angle to the case, in the opinion of attorneys for the company, was testimony of Wilford Scrivner, cousin of the plaintiff, that he had by chance overheard the general manager of the company discussing the patented furnace with Fogelman. This testimony was designed to prove ratification of the alleged contract.
Skeptically, the company attorneys said the testimony was to the effect that the general manager came from Chicago to the Madison plant "by a remarkable coincidence" and appeared with Fogelman at the psychological moment within two feet of Wilford Scrivner. Fogelman chose that particular moment, the lawyers continued in their interpretation of the testimony, to tell the general manager: "Those are the Scrivner furnaces we have under lease."
The company attorneys doubted that "in the midst of a line of business," Wilford Scrivner could have overheard the general manager ask Fogelman if the furnaces were satisfactory.

WIFE CONVICTED AS AID OF HOLDUP MURDERER

Mrs. Norman Millen Found Guilty of Complicity in Needham (Mass.) Robbery.

By the Associated Press.
DEDHAM, Mass., June 28.—Norma Millen, daughter of a former minister, was convicted today of being an accessory after the fact of robbery and murder in the Needham Trust Co. holdup last February, during which two policemen were killed.

Her trial, which lasted six days, ended shortly after midnight when the jury returned verdicts of guilty on three indictments.
Her husband, Murton Millen; his brother, Irving, and Abraham Faber, all were convicted recently of murder in the same robbery.

The Norfolk County jury deliberated more than seven hours. Then Judge Nelson P. Brown was summoned. Mrs. Millen was brought from the gray stone jail to the crowded courtroom. More than 200 persons were standing outside as she entered on the arm of a deputy.

The jury filed in; then the Judge. The clerk arose. "What do you say, Mr. Foreman, is the defendant guilty or not guilty?"
"Guilty."
Groans were heard in the Court-house, also words of approval.
Mrs. Millen, standing, stared straight ahead. A brother, who sat with her father just back of her, sobbed. Her mother, who is divorced from her father, sat in the back enclosure. She said: "I am heart-broken. I still love her in spite of all she has done to hurt me."

No sentence was pronounced and court was adjourned swiftly. She will come again before the bar next fall to hear the sentence.
The Boston Traveler says that Mrs. Brighton, Mrs. Millen's mother, today remarked: "Norma lied. She shouldn't have lied. The truth will always out. She is guilty."

Murton Millen was refused permission to communicate with his wife who occupies a cell in the same jail. Millen asked a guard if he would carry a note to Norma. The guard refused to violate jail regulations by doing so.
The police-dress Mrs. Millen were during her trial was put aside for a regulation prison uniform of cotton today.

Forty-four cases were discharged as cured in Los Angeles, leaving 330 under treatment in the General Hospital.
There are five cases in Arizona.

44 NEW INFANTILE PARALYSIS CASES REPORTED IN CALIFORNIA

40 of Them in Los Angeles Area; $13,750 From Relief Funds to Fight Disease.

By the Associated Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, June 28.—With 40 new cases of infantile paralysis reported in the Los Angeles area and four in the San Francisco Bay region, the State Emergency Relief Administration here yesterday authorized a grant of $13,750 to combat spread of the disease.

The number of cases in the State since May 1 was well over 1300. In Los Angeles County alone, center of the epidemic, 1067 cases have been reported. In Alameda County, east of San Francisco Bay, appearance of only one new case encouraged health officers to announce the disease well under control. There are 113 cases there, and 71 in San Francisco.

Forty-four cases were discharged as cured in Los Angeles, leaving 330 under treatment in the General Hospital.
There are five cases in Arizona.

13,000 CITY LICENSE RETURNS PAST DUE

Only 4000 Firms in St. Louis Have Reports on Sales.

Only 4000 of the 17,000 merchants and manufacturers in the city have filed the license returns which were due by June 19, License Collector Chapman said today. He warned that it was within his power to make an arbitrary return for those who have not filed, and then to double it.

These returns are to set out the total sales in the year ended May 31, on which a tax of $1 a $1000 is assessed, and the largest inventory carried on any one day in the year, on which the tax is $12.50 on each $1000.

The Equalization Board for the merchants and manufacturers' license tax has been in session for a week, reviewing returns, and will be in session until July 31. Chapman is anxious to get returns in while the board is in session. Its members, George Otto, Harold Wrape and Prof. Raymond G. Tucker of Washington University, are appointed by the Mayor and receive $10 a day while in session.

REPORTS GERMAN SPREAD BACTERIA IN LONDON SUBWAY

Wickham Steed's Magazine Says Similar Tests for Military Purposes Were Made in Paris.
By the Associated Press.
LONDON, June 28.—The magazine, "Nineteenth Century Review" today printed alleged secret documents describing the spreading of harmless bacteria through underground ventilating systems by German secret agents, to determine the percentage of germs which could be introduced among the thousands of underground travelers.
"If the facts are not true," said Wickham Steed, editor of the magazine, "they are very well invented."
The magazine said the documents came from responsible persons in Germany, and that one of the reported "very good results" from a dozen tests in Paris. Billions of germs, the document said, had been sprayed into the air near the Place de la Concorde and drawn by air currents to other stations.

Another document was said to stress the importance of detailed information on London's underground systems, because they would be important safety points in the event of bombing attacks.

DEATH SENTENCES OF TWO UPHELD IN SCOTTSBORO CASE

Alabama Supreme Court Sustains Penalty Imposed on Clarence Norris and Heyward Patterson.

By the Associated Press.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., June 28.—The State Supreme Court today upheld the death sentences of Clarence Norris and Heyward Patterson, Negro defendants in the Scottsboro case, and set Friday, Aug. 31, as the date of their execution.

In the case of Patterson, the Supreme Court granted the motion of Attorney-General Thomas E. Knight Jr. and struck from the record, the bill of exceptions in the case, which contained all testimony presented in the lower court.

The Attorney-General had asked that the bill of exceptions be struck out on the ground that it was not properly filed within 90 days after final judgment in the lower courts.

With the bill of exceptions struck out, the Supreme Court was restricted solely to the court records and was unable to consider the merits of the case.

In the Norris case, Associate Justice Lucien D. Gardner overruled the contention of defense counsel that Negroes had been systematically excluded from the jury. "We are of the opinion the proof clearly shows," Justice Gardner said, "that the jury commissioners did fairly, and honestly endeavored to discharge their duty, and did not in fact discriminate against the Negro race in the selection of the jury list, and that no provision of the Federal Constitution has been infringed."

The Negroes, two of the original nine defendants in the Scottsboro case, were convicted of attacking Victoria Price, a white woman, on a freight train near Paint Rock, Ala., in 1931.

CURIOUS ASPECTS OF SCRIVNER CASE AGAINST FORISTEL

Infactory and Fogelman reply that they were.

Not until the last part of the trial did John Scrivner, the plaintiff, take the stand. The company attorneys said this was after witnesses called to impeach his character had left the city. Foristel, Gentry said, had agreed not to use Scrivner as a witness because the other party to the contract, Fogelman, was dead.

Foristel said in the courtroom that he was "driven" to call Scrivner by defense testimony attempting to show that Scrivner had offered $15,000 to Henry Haun, an employee of the car company, to testify for him.

Scrivner was permitted to testify that he went to work in New Jersey, but lost his job after he was followed by a mysterious man in a light suit. He was permitted to testify also, in rebuttal, that Haun had told him the furnaces were considered satisfactory by the company.

Two Refused to Sign Verdict.
The verdict, awarding $290,000 to Scrivner, was signed by 10 of the 12 jurors. Their names, occupations and the addresses at which they lived at that time: F. William Schrader, salesman, 3014 Neosho street; Charles W. Scheffler, maintenance man, 2916 Minnesota avenue; Frederick Gantz, clerk, 4527 Geraldine avenue; Lawrence W. Onions, cutter, 4230 Blair avenue; Emil G. Schiefelbein, printer, 6402 Idaho avenue; George Dickson, clerk, 4170A Castleman avenue; Elmer W. Freund, clerk, 3014A Chipewa street; Henry Blitzer, decorator, 4115 Itaska street; Carl Hoenig, machinist, 3635 Missouri avenue; Christian Wasserman, clerk, 3217A Arsenal street.

The two who refused to sign the verdict were Harry E. Moran, bookkeeper, 4275 Red Bud avenue, and Charles J. Niederer, printer, 2354 Klemm street.

In overruling the company's motion for a new trial, Judge Hamilton said: "The Court still has some doubt as to the sufficiency of the evidence to establish a ratification of the contract forming the basis of the action, as expressed to counsel when overruling the demurrer to the evidence at the close of plaintiff's case; but since the question must be determined eventually by the Supreme Court, I believe justice will be served best by overruling the motion for a new trial." Charles J. Hardy of New York, president of the American Car & Foundry Co., in response to an inquiry from the Post-Dispatch, telegraphed that the $50,000 settlement was "purely a business proposition." "We never recognized any justification for the claim, either in law or morals," he said. "Our settlement was based purely on consideration of the expense of further trials and appeals and interruption of our ordinary affairs by the necessity of having numerous members of our organization withdraw from their ordinary occupations for attendance at long-drawn-out trials."

Additional Job for R. S. Damon.
Ralph S. Damon, president of the Curtiss-Wright Airplane Co., Lambert-St. Louis Field, has been appointed to the additional position of vice-president and general manager of Curtiss Aeroplane & Motor Co., Buffalo, N. Y., which manufactures military aircraft. Damon will divide his time between the two plants.

U. S. CATTLE-BUYING PROGRAM EXPANDED

10,000,000 Head Will Be Bought as Drouth Relief Measure.

(Copyright, 1934, by the Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, June 28.—The Farm Administration has decided to increase the purchase of live-stock in the drouth areas to 10,000,000 head.

Expansion of the buying program, designed to aid farmers hit by this spring's long dry spell and to rid the country of undesirable stock, will be announced within a few days. Purchase of only 2,000,000 head was contemplated originally.

Personal inspection of the parched grazing land west of the Mississippi led officials to increase the number. The 10,000,000 will include about 5,000,000 sheep. The price has not been set, officials said, but probably will be about $2 a head for animals a year or more old.

Directors hope the bulk of the 10,000,000 can be bought before winter, pointing out that forage and feed are inadequate to last through the cold months.

Grass and legumes are considered so badly damaged that they cannot recover over a vast section of the drouth area. Officials predicted that effects of the drouth on hay and forage crops would be felt for two years.

A plan also has been suggested that 10,000,000 acres of submarginal land in an area stretching from the Dakotas southwestward be purchased for an emergency grazing reserve.

The purchase program contemplates the removal of about 33 1-3 per cent of all cattle in the area from Utah to Idaho south to the Mexican border and about 45 per cent of the livestock population of North Dakota and South Dakota.

Breeding stock is in such bad condition from poor feed and water scarcity that next year's calf crop is expected to be reduced by as many as 2,000,000 head.

RULES GIVEN FOR U. S. LOANS TO INDUSTRY

Federal Reserve Also Announces No Competition With Loan Banks.

(Copyright, 1934, by the Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, June 28.—The Federal Reserve Board yesterday coupled publication of regulations governing $280,000,000 of prospective five-year loans to industry with a statement that the Reserve Banks had no intention of competing with local institutions.

"The need for this character of loans has become increasingly apparent in recent months," the board said, adding that a survey had shown many small industrial enterprises had suffered severe capital losses during the depression and were now short of working capital. "Small industries," the board continued, "find it difficult at present to obtain the requirements of working capital through the capital market, while commercial banks and other financial institutions, in many cases, are hesitant about undertaking on their single responsibility the risks involved in making relatively long-time loans for working capital purposes."

Exercise of lending powers granted by the last Congress to the Reserve Banks, the board said, should "aid in the recovery of business, the increase of employment and the general betterment of conditions throughout the country."

The board expressed confidence that the banks of the country would "join with the system in this endeavor to hasten economic recovery."

Under the terms of the recently enacted law, the banks may lend an amount equal to their combined surplus, which is about $280,000,000. As such loans are repaid, the returning funds may be employed again for the same purpose.

Reserve Banks are authorized to make two classes of loans, one being through the medium of banks and other credit institutions and the other direct to industries that cannot obtain proper financing at a "reasonable" figure through ordinary channels.

Must Be Going Businesses.
All loans must be to provide working capital to established and going businesses, and are limited to a five-year maturity.

An application for a loan must be made to the Reserve Bank in the reserve district where the would-be borrower is situated, and on a special form provided by the bank. Required information must accompany it.

An industrial Advisory Committee of five members, all active in business within the district, is to be named by each Reserve Bank, subject to approval of the Reserve Board. This committee will recommend action on applications, but will have no actual lending authority.

Financial and credit standing of obligors and indorsers must justify the granting of accommodation. When a loan is made through the medium of a financial institution, the intermediary must obligate itself for repayment of 20 per cent of any possible loss, or must take 20 per cent of the loan.

The Reserve banks will fix rates of interest.

J. A. REED DENOUNCES
'COWERING CONGRESS'

"Never a More Pitiable Spectacle Than Surrender of Powers," He Declares.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, June 28.—Former Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, in Chicago yesterday, declared "there has never been a more pitiable spectacle presented to this country than the last Congress cowering at the feet of the President, and surrendering to him the powers vested in it."

He labeled the "brain trusters" as "a horde of petty tyrants placed over the people as their masters and dictators." Unless the program of the recent Congress is overturned, and that speedily, he predicted the end of a representative democracy in the United States. Reed said he had just started on his public opposition to the present Washington government, and that he would have more to say shortly. Later, he is expected to join a movement of prominent men whose ideas coincide with his for the purpose of opposing the New Deal throughout the country.

After reviewing the constitutional provision for the three separate divisions of the Government, Reed said: "Never in the history of the world has there been presented such a spectacle of wanton waste and extravagance as that which now overwhelms the country and threatens the credit of the Government."

He asserted that Congress, in its "abdication," had forsaken the founders and the country. Brothers Get Life for Murder. By the Associated Press. GREENVILLE, O., June 28.—Life sentences without hope of parole were given Erwin Chandler, 20 years old, and his brother, Cassius, of Glen Falls, N. Y., yesterday, for the murder of Mrs. Belle Hester, 70, in a robbery. Erwin pleaded guilty. Cassius was convicted.

ROOSEVELT PLANS CUT IN LIQUOR IMPORT TAX

Domestic Price Reduction of 60 to 75 Cents a Bottle Anticipated.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—On advice of trade and fiscal experts, President Roosevelt plans to reduce the 35-a-gallon liquor import tariff probably by the full 50 per cent permitted under law, with the idea of reducing prices and combating smuggling. Advisers are urging him to act before he sails on his vacation cruise Saturday.

Experts figure that cutting the tariff to $2.50 a gallon, will save consumers from 60 to 75 cents a bottle, or 5 to 10 cents on a high-ball or cocktail. This, they think, ought to put a crimp in bootleggers' profits. Federal officials are considerably disturbed by the bootleg operations. According to reliable estimates, from one-half to two-thirds of the liquor now being consumed comes from "wildcat" distilleries, chiefly in the New York metropolitan area, Philadelphia and Chicago. The South also is dotted with smaller moonshine stills.

NEW MOBERLY BANK PLANNED TO FREE RESTRICTED DEPOSITS

Would Release 40 Per Cent From Depository Now Under 5 Per Cent Restriction.

MOBERLY, Mo., June 27.—Organization of a new bank, the City Bank and Trust Co., was proposed here yesterday. Success in the proposed plan would release at least 40 per cent of the deposits held in the Bank of Moberly under 5 per cent restrictions since March, 1933. Depositors in the Bank of Moberly are asked to waive 60 per cent of their restricted deposits. That 60 per cent is to be liquidated by the State Finance Department. The other 40 per cent, and any additional amount that readily may be converted into cash, will be made immediately available on organization of the new bank.

In addition to obtaining waivers from depositors of the Bank of Moberly, it is proposed to sell 600 shares of stock in the new bank locally at $140 a share. The bank would have a capital stock of $100,000 and a surplus of $20,000. The RFC would hold $50,000 preferred stock. The plan already has been given approval of the Commissioner of Finance of Missouri and the RFC, it was announced here. Moberly now has only one other bank, the Mechanics' Trust and Savings Bank. A third bank, the Moberly Trust Co., is being liquidated by the State Finance Department.

WIFE'S DEPOSITION ADDED TO ALIBI OF LACY IN TRIAL ON CHARGE OF 'FIXING' JURY

Hospital Records and Evidence of Doctor Introduced in Case of Accused Attorney.

Mrs. Francis Lacy, wife of Verne R. C. Lacy, testified in a deposition filed with Judge Hoffmeister today, that Lacy was sick in bed at home all day Monday, Feb. 20, 1932. That was the day on which Edward L. Anna, chief state's witness in Lacy's trial on the charge of corrupting a juror, has testified that Lacy met him at Lacy's downtown office, and paid him the first $30 installment of an $80 bribe for helping to cause a jury disagreement in the first Richards-Berg kidnapping trial.

Mrs. Lacy's deposition was taken at the Lacy home on Manchester road yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Lacy, who is ill, sat in a chair on a shaded part of the lawn, and was questioned by her husband's lawyer, Sigmund Bass, and cross-questioned briefly by James E. McLaughlin, Assistant Circuit Attorney. Roy Hall presided as special commissioner.

Part of Alibi Defense.

The wife's deposition was part of the alibi testimony by which Lacy will seek to show that he was sick and unable to go to his office during the period covered by Anna's testimony.

Anna testified last Thursday to the interview of Feb. 20; then said that he next saw Lacy at his office "in the latter part of the third week after the first time," and received $30 from him; was told to come back the following week, did so and got $20; was again told to call the following week, did so and received $10, the last payment.

This, translated into terms of the calendar, would mean that Anna's later calls were in the week of March 13-19; again in the week of March 20-26; and again in the week of March 27 to April 2.

Alibi witnesses heard by the jury yesterday and today were Drs. J. J. Singer and Alfred Goldman, and Mrs. Cornelia Knowles, the last named testifying to Barnes Hospital records. The substance of their testimony was that Lacy was in the hospital from March 1 to March 23, 1932, with pneumonia, and that he was in a weakened condition after his return home.

The physicians could not state, however, that Lacy was sick all of the day before he went to the hospital, or that he remained strictly in the house after returning from the hospital. The wife testified not only that he was in the house all day Feb. 20, but that he stayed in the house after his return, from March 23 to April 8.

Says She Kept Record.

For her remembrance of dates, Mrs. Lacy referred to a memorandum which she said she kept at the time, because of her anxiety over her husband's health.

Mrs. Lacy told Dr. Singer's call, to see her, Feb. 27, 1932, and said that at the time Lacy was sick in bed, but would not be examined. On Feb. 29, she said, Dr. Singer called again, and Lacy submitted to an examination and was told to go to the hospital, which he did next day, March 1.

"After he came home from the hospital March 23," Mrs. Lacy was asked, "did he remain at home?"

"He was home for quite awhile," she replied.

"Have you means of knowing how long he stayed?"

"I know he was here a couple of weeks."

"Did you keep any record?"

"Yes, in this book. The record is for several days before he went to the hospital, all the time he was at the hospital, and after he came home."

"Do you know how long Mr. Lacy stayed home after coming from the hospital, without refreshing your recollection from the book?"

"No, not without counting up the dates."

"Can you tell us from the book how long he remained at home constantly and without leaving the house after March 23?"

"Home 15 days," until after the 8th of April.

"Was he up and about or confined to his bed?"

"When he first came home, he was in bed, I should say, for a week at least before he got up, and then he just had to take it very slowly to get his strength back. He had a pretty tough sickness."

"Did you keep personal watch over him after he came back, to the extent of taking his temperature?"

"Yes, I kept his temperature; I did have the records on pieces of paper, but don't know where they are now."

Mrs. Lacy said, answering further questions, that she kept Lacy's temperature records until the temperature became normal, which was on a Monday; he returned to work, she first said, on the following day, Tuesday, but she corrected this to say that he went back on Thursday. She did not have days of the month in this connection.

She was then asked on what dates her record showed that her husband was confined to the house, before going to the hospital.

"On Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday before the first of March," she replied. This would be Feb. 25-29 inclusive. The Richards trial ended Wednesday the 24th.

"Monday the 29th was the day before the first of March," the lawyer asked, "and was he at home and in bed all the day?"

"Why, yes, the wife said."

Why She Kept Record.

McLaughlin, cross-examining Mrs. Lacy, asked how she came to keep the record, and she replied: "All the time he was trying the Richards case, he was working all night, and I tried to get him to come home and get some rest. He wouldn't believe he was staying so late, and I started keeping the time he got home, so he could see how he was working night after night, till he got sick. I wanted it in black and white."

Answering further questions, Mrs. Lacy said she was keeping her own temperatures and case records, and kept her husband's temperature when he was ill, marking her notations "Verne" to distinguish them. He had an illness subsequent to the one of February-March, 1932, but at that time, she said, she was in Tucson, Ariz., hence did not keep a record for him.

Dr. Singer, testifying yesterday afternoon, was questioned by Lacy personally. Queried as to his experience and qualifications were stopped by the State's admission of Dr. Singer's professional standing.

Entered Hospital March 1.

Dr. Singer then testified to a record showing that Lacy was admitted to Barnes Hospital March 1, 1932, suffering from a condition which he diagnosed as pneumonia. He testified, also from the records, that Lacy remained in the hospital until March 23, but at another point in his testimony he gave March 23 as the date when Lacy left the hospital.

"What was the first time you saw me in connection with my illness?" Lacy asked Dr. Singer.

"Feb. 27," the physician replied.

"And do you recollect whether you saw me at my home on another occasion?"

"I think on Feb. 29."

"About what time in the day?"

"I don't recollect, I didn't put down the time."

"The best of your recollection?"

"I think it was in the evening."

"You mean the afternoon or night?"

"I am not quite certain, I know it was rather late, and the question came up about going to the hospital."

"Did you make an examination of me on the 29th at my home?"

"I did; you had pneumonia, and I suggested that you go to the hospital. I saw you at the hospital the next morning," (March 1.)

After a clinical description of Lacy's condition, the physician said that the attack of pneumonia began "following a strenuous legal battle." This was a reference to the first Richards trial, which ended Feb. 24.

"You don't know he was in any legal battle, except what he told you?" Judge Hoffmeister suggested.

"I knew it," Dr. Singer replied; "I read it in the papers and he told me."

X-Ray Pictures Shown.

There was another lengthy recounting of records of examinations made by Dr. Singer of Lacy's condition at the hospital March 7, 11, 12, 14, 17, 18, 21 and 22. The treatment, which the physician testified he gave to Lacy was explained at length. The substance of this testimony was that oil was induced into the lungs, to outline the character of the tubes in the lung, for making X-ray pictures. Some of the pictures were shown to the jury.

"After I went home from the hospital," Lacy asked, "did you see me, and what was my condition?"

"I did not see you at your home," Dr. Singer said. "You were discharged March 25, and I left for California. You were seen on the twenty-fifth by Dr. Goldman, my associate."

There was a discussion of counsel over the records made by Dr. Goldman, to which Dr. Singer undertook to testify. The Court, interrupting, said, "The purpose is to show you were in the hospital."

"No," Lacy said, "it was to show my condition when I was confined there and couldn't get out."

There was controversy when Lacy asked the physician whether he was in a condition to leave the hospital, but the question finally asked was:

"Do the records show I was in the hospital all the time, night and day?"

"The records show that," was the reply.

Doctor Cross Examined.

Assistant Circuit Attorney Hennings, cross-examining Dr. Singer, asked about his visit to Lacy at his home Feb. 29, 1932.

"You say you think it was in the evening?" he asked.

"I think it was, I am not certain about the particular time," Dr. Singer said.

"Have you any recollection of the time you went out there?"

"I don't know what time, I recollect I think I said he had better go to the hospital, and they asked if he should go that night or the next morning, and I said the next morning would be all right."

"Have you any recollection what time in the evening it was?"

"No, we don't put down the time of day."

"Had he called you at any time before the 29th?"

"On Feb. 27 I went to his house to see his wife. I had been calling on her for a year or two at various times. He was in bed and his wife asked me to examine him, and he said nothing doing, that he would be all right, and that is all I know."

"How long was he at Barnes Hospital?"

"From March 1 to 23." (In direct testimony the witness said until March 25.)

"That is a period of three weeks and two days?"

"And you later did not go to his home, in connection with this illness?"

"No,"

Dr. Alfred Goldman Called.

Dr. Alfred Goldman was called at the beginning of today's court session. He testified that, during the absence of Dr. Singer, he made a professional call on Lacy at the attorney's home March 25, 1932. He had received a history stating that the patient had suffered from pneumonia. Dr. Goldman testified, and found Lacy on the road to recovery. On April 11 Dr. Goldman again examined Lacy, this time at the physician's office, and in the interim he wrote a letter concerning the state of the attorney's health. In reply to a question, Dr. Goldman said he had advised the patient to rest.

On cross-examination Dr. Goldman said he had no record that Lacy was running a temperature when he saw him at home March 25. Asked if Mrs. Lacy had shown him a temperature chart covering her husband's illness, the physician said she had not. He found Lacy lounging around the house, and advised him to return to bed, the witness stated. Referring to a notation covering Lacy's visit to his office April 11, Dr. Goldman said the attorney's temperature was normal at that time.

Easter Visitor Testifies.

G. S. Suppiger, who is in the canning business at Belleville, testified he knew Lacy for 25 years.

On Easter, 1932, Suppiger said he visited Lacy at his St. Louis County home. (Easter Sunday was March 27.)

"I knew he had been in the hospital and had visited him there," the witness replied. "At the time of my Easter visit, his color was not good, he was pale and listless. He was wearing pajamas and bathrobe and moped around the house as if still sick. I would say that he was weak at that time."

PWA ALLOTMENT OF $2,157,900 FOR ST. LOUIS

These Will Match Funds in City's $16,000,000 Issue of Bonds Voted But Not Yet Sold.

ST. LOUIS ASKED
FOR $4,754,500

Amounts Allotted Are For Streets, Sewers, Parks, Hospital and Police Buildings.

A total of $2,157,900 in Federal funds for public improvements has been allotted to St. Louis in grants made yesterday and today by the Public Works Administration in Washington.

The grants made today, most of them to supplement funds voted in the recent bond issue, are as follows: Army, $347,500; viaduct, $105,000; grade crossing elimination,
$134,900; sewers, $72,000; underpass, $332,300; viaducts, $155,000; and street repairs, $24,000.

The grant for the army will supplement an appropriation voted for this purpose in the May 15 bond issue. In its application for the PWA grant, the city said it proposed to build a new armory on the site of the present one at Grand boulevard and Market street. City officials, however, have considered buying the Arena on Oakland avenue for this purpose at foreclosure.
The $720,000 grant for sewer construction, although not specifically marked by the PWA, will undoubtedly be used in the building of the Southern Arsenal Relief Sewer, for which $1,500,000 was voted in the bond issue.

Yesterday's Grants.
The grants made yesterday are as follows: For street repairs, $145,000; for sewers, $31,200; for five municipal parks, $157,000; for a ward building at the Negro City Hospital, $463,000, and for five police buildings, $191,000.

Following the passage of the bond issue the city made application to the PWA for grants totaling $4,- 754,500. Repeated requests for the money were made and Mayor Dick-mann and other city officials made a trip to Washington for a conference with Secretary of Interior
Ickes, the PWA Administrator.

The $463,000 grant for the ward building at the new Negro Hospital will augment the $1,500,000 recently voted for that purpose in a special election in which this amount was transferred from the 1923 bond issue item for the construction of a northeast approach to the Municipal Bridge.

The grant for the police buildings is for the construction of five new district stations to replace seven antiquated stations and reduce operating costs. The bond issue appropriated $700,000 for this purpose.
The grant for sewer construction will be used for repair of the Mill Creek Valley Sewer, the total cost of which is estimated at $104,160.
The $157,000 granted for parks will be used for the construction of new parks and playgrounds, the total cost of which is estimated at $545,- 900.

No Bonds Yet Sold.
None of the bonds voted in the city election have been issued as yet and no work on any of the projects has begun, pending the formulation of revenue measures by the Board of Aldermen to meet the cost of issuing the bonds and the interest. Mayor Dickmann has said he will call a special session of the Aldermen to consider these measures.

Other grants made by the PWA include one of $39,000 for a school in St. Louis County, one of $2,860,- 000 for a storm water system in East St. Louis, and one of $425,000 for a bridge at Washington, Mo.
The grant to East St. Louis will be used for the diversion of Cahokia Creek, which flows through the city between the residential and business districts and the railroad yards and into Mississippi River just north of Municipal Bridge.

The plan is to construct a closed sewer project in St. Louis. The creek will be diverted from its natural course and made to enter the river two miles farther north, at the stockyards in National City.

MAYOR WILL CALL SPECIAL SESSION TO ACT ON DEFICIT

Board Adjourned Yesterday For Summer; Shortage of $2,465,000 Expected in Sinking Fund.

Although the Board of Aldermen formally adjourned yesterday to reconvene Sept. 28, the members expect to return long before that time to consider legislation to raise revenue to help meet the anticipated deficit of $2,465,000 in the city sinking fund for bond retirement.

Alderman Collins, Nineteenth Ward, Democrat, vice-president of the Board, announced at the adjournment session yesterday that Mayor Dickmann would issue the call for the special session next week. The date of the session, however, has not been determined.

The special session is occasioned by the failure of the Aldermen to enact the necessary legislation before adjournment yesterday. Four revenue measures were offered by Mayor Dickmann but the Board, by narrow margins, defeated them June 15.

Some of the Republican members expressed displeasure to reporters yesterday at having to forego vacations because of the impending special session, but it was largely due to the Republicans that the revenue measures were defeated as every one of the 13 Republican members except Alderman Schwartz of the Twentieth Ward voted against all the bills and Schwartz voted against two of the four.

It is uncertain what legislation the Mayor will recommend to the special session. He may recommend the reintroduction of the four measures that were defeated. On the other hand, he may recommend a general sales tax, although this last course is thought unlikely by City Hall observers, because of the November election and the fact that a sales tax, some administration leaders think, would be an unpopular measure for the Democrats to propose.

At yesterday's session, the Board passed the new city milk ordinance requiring a more rigid inspection of milk. Prior to the board meeting, however, the Public Welfare Committee eliminated the most important section of the bill, which provided a fee of two cents a gallon for inspection, one cent to be paid by the producer and one cent by the distributor. At public hearings on the measure, which was advocated by Director of Public Welfare Darst, the distributors objected to the fees but the producers did not. Darst said the fees were necessary to provide funds to increase the inspection force from 14 to 31 and provide a more rigid inspection. Passing the bill without the fee provision leaves the health department in the position of having more work to do with less money to do it, as only $35,000 was appropriated in the last budget for milk inspection and Darst hoped to realize about $80,000 with the new fees.

The board also passed bills creating a new Municipal Art Commission, which, as a division of the City Department of Public Safety, will have authority to put on all buildings constructed within 300 feet of public parks, plazas and playgrounds. A new dance hall ordinance was also passed requiring applicants for licenses to operate
